The Evening Star.

J. E. COLLINS, Editor.
 FREDERICTON, APRIL 1, 1880.

Suppose some of those people who have been reading the STAR for nearly two years without paying for it were to bring us a load of wood!

There is nothing so important in a public man, especially if he be the leader of a party, as backbone.

PLEASEING ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS.

No two people in the world have ever seen things alike, no two have ever thought alike, and no two have ever written alike. Since the agitation for removing the Seat of Government from its legitimate locality first drew its breath, we have opposed it with all the vigor at our command. Our object was to defeat that movement, and nothing else. We did not care in doing this whose large feet we stood upon, or whose coarse feelings we pained. It is not unnatural therefore that we have brought down upon us the vengeance of a large number of the worthless fraternity of St. John.

But it is pleasing to us to know that the city in whose behalf we have exercised our humble talents to the utmost, are not unmindful of the same. Two or three traitors to the city, 'tis true, have denounced our earnestness and our zeal. Mr. J. L. Inches wrote to his paper the Agriculturist that the city was not responsible for our exertions, and took occasion at the same time to give the Surveyor-General a slap in the face; and the hermaphrodite Fishers reproached us in their 35 year old weekly the Fredericton Reporter. Our object was the salvation of the city, and we did not care whom we wounded or whom we killed in attaining that object. It was only so much the worse for those who stood in the way. The other two concerns which people through limited knowledge of language call newspapers, made it their first object to give no offense to St. John, their second object to serve the city. Need we say they failed in both? Like cowards and traitors that they are, they tried to bring down the censure of the St. John press upon the STAR, but the St. John press only despised them. Nor do their own city think of them when she reflects on those who have been her saviour.
 We have brought down the vengeance of St. John upon us, but what of that? Who does not earn the vengeance of the pirate crew if he set himself against their atrocities? But we counted on the cost before we began the struggle.

When the French and English armies met at Fontenoy the French commander rode to the front, and politely doffing his helmet said, "Gentlemen of the English guards please fire first." The two worthless weekly newspapers up-town adopted the same tactics.
 But there is none of us that has not some tender place, vulnerable to the shafts of human sympathy. It pleases us more than we shall here try to tell, to know that our exertions in behalf of Fredericton are carefully noted down in the memory of our most worthy citizens. From day to day we have received ample testimonials of this fact. To-day a gentleman who is himself always to the front of any movement for the popular good, sent us with the following words a substantial evidence of his appreciation of our efforts, and success:
 "I want to show my appreciation of your invaluable services by something more than mere words and beg you will accept the enclosed as a trifling offering to your abilities displayed in our behalf."
 Our readers will pardon us for publishing the extract, but we don't think they will charge us with doing so out of vanity. Our object is to show the generous and worthy donor how we appreciate his gratitude, and to show our enemies that the city is not unmindful of what we have done in her interests.

MAN'S HUMANITY TO MAN.

The Rev. Mr. McDevitt acknowledges the receipt of the following sums subscribed and paid, in the different localities, for the benefit of the suffering poor of "Holy Ireland":
 Cork.....$75 50
 Marysville..... 57 50
 Acton..... 39 00
 Smithfield..... 20 00
 Hanwell..... 11 60

There are several other districts, whose returns are not yet received, which will, however, be acknowledged in due time.

We are requested to say, that these charities have been promiscuously in several districts without regard to creed or class, country or color. Where all have been so generous, it would be insidious to make distinctions.

We have read much and perhaps learned little. One thing we have learned and it is this, that charity covereth a multitude of sins. If this be so, we ought, if we know ourselves, be very generous; that the world may not know our imperfections, at the last day. When all the offerings are in, they will, we are informed, be sent to their destination according to the desire and intention of the donors.

By the way:—We have been anxiously waiting for the result of the Celestial City in this regard. We were led to believe that our Mayor had called a meeting, and gone through other ceremonies for the purpose. We don't know but it was the mountain and the mouse. We would like to be informed regarding this matter. We know that Gibson, that whole souled man, gave more than all the Sovereigns of Europe. We have not heard of any other offering outside the Catholic Church here. The Catholics of Fredericton sent, we are told, three hundred dollars, to relieve the starving of a different hemisphere, but of the same blood and humanity as themselves. Let us have a report from the Mayor—should it be. Vox et preterea nihil.

IMPORTANT COMMITTEES.

IMPERIA IN IMPERIO.

In the N. B. Railway investigation—we refer our readers to another column for details of the diabolical plots to wreck trains by the barbarians along the upper country. We know of Cities where Mr. Brown, who represents the fiends up the line, would be taken into custody for assumed complicity with them. There is not a tittle of evidence proved to show that Mr. Brown is in collusion with the wreckers, but it strikes us forcibly that he is. It is quite outrageous that the old tormentor should be allowed to drag Mr. Gibson away from his business, and to take up the time of the Legislature. It is unfortunate there is no law under which such individuals can be impounded.

The Grand Southern committee after being bored for a fortnight by the conceit and impertinence of the English Company's employe, Kay by name, has reported against said Company and recommended the House to extend the Grand Southern Charter. We may say here if the English Company consulted their own interests they would take Mr. Kay home; and report has it this will take place pretty soon. We shall not blame Hon W. E. Perley for getting all he can of the Company's money out of Mr. Kay before the latter takes his departure.

Mr P. G. Ryan, Surveyor General in futuro, called his committee this morning at 9.30 to arraign the present Surveyor General. We are quite sure Mr. Ryan will go home to his room after each day's transactions in this shameful affair, kneel down—on his knees—and make a solemn act of contrition for violating the commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." We believe Mr. Ryan is sorry; but if his sorrow is hearty, why does he not stop just where he is, and stand up like a man before the House and make his apology? We would all be able to forgive him for
 "To err is human."

We believe, however, the investigation is to go on. It is as well; for he who has right and truth at his side need not fear all the powers of darkness. Mr Adams, like gold submitted to the flames, will come out of the investigation brighter than ever.

ST. JOHN'S PRESUMPTION.

[SECOND EDITION.]

St. John thinks she has not been rendered ridiculous enough by her recent defeat, but she must now court another. On the principle that the most worthless creature in the army is selected as bugler to sound the onsets and the manoeuvres, Mr R. J. Ritchie, Mr Elders henchman, has been put to the front to announce a resolution as king for the transfer of the Supreme Courts of Law and Equity from this city to St. John. They might as they were at it, have also put into the resolution the clear weather we enjoy about Fredericton—it is so much preferable to fog. And besides, this would have been capping the climax of the absurdity, and established the St. John members as full fledged idiots instead of mere half fools.

It is as well it should go on, that St. John may see just where she stands and how much influence her swarm of consuming lawyers exercise over this Province. That resolution will be so badly defeated, else so badly mutilated before the House will listen to it at all, that the St. John members will be a but for all the wits and wags of this Province for the next quarter of a century. The very furthest concession the House will make, and we should advise it to make no concession at all, will be to give St. John a divided Equity sitting optional with the Judge. We may say, the vote against Ritchie's resolution, will be far larger than that against Black's amendment.

ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL.

With all this we were somewhat disappointed with the vote on that "amendment," though we have never had any doubts but many of those who so voted had their hearts in the right place. It was only rational that they should have reasoned the case thus: "Since it is our conviction that Fredericton is so situated as to afford the greatest good of the greatest number," and since a removal would entail monstrous expense and give to a certain section of the Province an over-balancing power, we vote now for that amendment purely through a spirit of economy, [however false] looking forward to the day when the Province will be able to put up a building that will be a credit to herself and the generations." In other words those who voted for this amendment could have honestly and consistently voted for the resolution.

The eighth wonder of the world will, we doubt not, be found to be the creature who originated the idea of the transfer. He must have been a cephalopod—an animal with everything else but brains. The equally absurd creature of his creation has died prematurely, because it was born out of time. But the man who originated the idea would have made a fortune, had he brains enough to carry the delusion through.

THE BUDGET.

The budget comes down Monday, and those who charge the Government with "no measures" will have their mouths closed. The measure on education will take the country by the ears, and will be the most popular thing that has been done for this many a day. And there is a serious reckoning for some of those honorable balloons who have prated so much about "deficits," financial ruin and other balderdash; unless the Secretary has lost his old fire and murderous sarcasm. We are not a bit ashamed of having followed the Government thus far, and we shall be delighted to hear the Secretary make a defence, in his own inimitable way, of that Government.
