C. G. Railways

Up to March 1st 757,400 Troops have travelled over Government Railways.

Thousands arrive each week at Halifax and are sent forward to Dispersal Areas.

Since the war began in 1914 up to March 1st, when S.S. Belgie disembarked her returned soldier passengers at Halifax 757,400 troops have been carried on special trains over the Canadian Government Railways.

The first train which carried troops over the Government Railways the year the war was declared was numbered one and all special troop trains to and from Halifax since that time have been numbered consecutively.

The last train from the Belgie was on Saturday N 1279. Each train averages about twelve cars with an average of 50 men to a car, which figures up a total of 767,400 men carried. Of course in addition to this thousands of soldiers have journeyed by regular trains during the past four years.

The movement of troops back to Canada is now approaching its greatest activity. Last Sunday 5000 arrived at Halifax by the transports Lapland and Belgie and fifteen special trains were dispatched westward inside of fourteen hours.

S. S. Megantic with soldiers and dependants arrived Wednesday and S. S. Adriatic due Sunday. The movement of returning men is to be kept up actively.

MacLELLAN BROS.

Murillo, Painter of Immaculate Conception.

Bartolome Esteban Murillo is known as the painter of the Immaculate Conception. Born at Seville in Spain on December 31, 1617, only a few months after the doctrine of the Immaculate Conception was solemnly promulgated for that country, his pre-eminence seems to have been foreshadowed by the fiestas which took place in his native town before his birth. His art was certainly influenced by the time and environment in which he lived.

Murillo's life, the purity and happiness of which is reflected in the general character of his paintings, was spent chiefly within the confines of his native and beloved Madrid. When in his twenties he set off on a journey to study the great masters, but he got no farther than Seville, where his compatriot, Velasquez, secured him the privileges of the royal galleries, in which he had an opportunity to study the works of Titian, Veronese, Tintoretto and Rubens, as well as those of Velasquez himself. He returned to Seville in 1644 and left again but once, in 1681, when he journeyed to Cadiz to paint an altar for the Capuchins, which he never finished. A fall from his scaffolding, or a serious illness—authorities differ in their accounts—caused him to return hurriedly to Seville, where he died after a brief period of suffering in 1682.

Murillo was the national painter of a country where all sentiments was still merged in that of religion. He was wholly a religious painter, for with the exception of a few portraits and some genre pieces, not one profane picture of his is known to exist. His instinct and gift of story-telling led him to treat many of the gospel narratives, and these he does in a manner which shows that he understood that the true language of the people. Notable among these works is the "Prodigal Son" of the Hermitage.

Murillo has treated the theme of the Immaculate Conception more than twenty times without ever repeating himself or without ever wearying. Six versions are at Madrid, six at Seville; probably the best known is in the Louvre, and others are scattered in various parts of Europe. As the mere theological doctrine of the Immaculate Conception naturally excludes material representation, the equivalent chosen was the theme of the Assumption. The pictorial treatment is said to have been determined, in its main outlines, by a vision vouchsafed a Franciscan monk in the sixteenth century, and many examples of it are found among earlier paintings.

Father Conrady's Leprosy Island

(By N. C. W. C. News Service.)
 Sheklung is the name of a railway station on the line from Hongkong to Canton, and a mile away is an island which harbors some 1,400 lepers, the largest colony of its kind in China, if not in the world.

Father Conrady, whom many will recall, had lived with Father Damien at Molokai, and had become engrossed, like him, with one idea, the spiritual and material welfare of lepers. He came to the United States, studied medicine, gathered alms, and went to China, where his work for the outcasts of society soon won for polled against renewal of relations. These 200 negative votes will be over-ruled by those 400 Deputies who are known to favor the proposition. Among these 400 are 200 Catholic Deputies and 200 Deputies belonging to the "moderate" groups, who have always supported Catholic claims.

A Valuable Painting

(By N. C. W. C. News Service.)

Belgium is rejoicing at the restoration to the Cathedral of St. Bavons, in Ghent, of the wings of the great altar-piece. "The Adoration of the Lamb," the crowning work of Hubert and Jan Van Eyck, which Germany has been compelled to yield as part of the stipulation of the Treaty of Versailles. As a result the artistic world will again see the scattered panels of the Adoration, a unique monument in the history of art, united once more, for, to the twelve wings ceded by the Kaiser Frederick Museum will be added those which have been preserved in the Brussels Gallery, giving the world once more a reconstruction of the masterpieces which inaugurated a new era in painting, and which has been one of the enigmas of art.

France and Vatican

(By N. C. W. C. News Service.)

Resumption of formal discussions of the renewal of relations between France and the Vatican, on the re-opening of Parliament, gives strong basis for the prediction that the establishment of a French Embassy at the Holy See will be the outcome.

PIMPLES and BLOTCHES

ALL OVER HER FACE.
 Pimples, blotches and all other unightly skin troubles are caused by the food being in an impure condition. These little festering sores, appear on the forehead, on the nose, on the chin, and other parts of the body, and although they are not a dangerous trouble they are very unsightly.

There is only one way to get rid of them, and that is by purifying the blood of all its impurities.

Burdock Blood Bitters is without a doubt the best remedy for this purpose. This valuable medicine has been on the market for the past 42 years and its reputation is such that you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy.

Miss Marguerite Brady, 61 Maine Ave., Halifax, N.S., writes:—"I have suffered very much, during the last two years, from pimples and blotches, having them all over my face. I tried different remedies without any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, which I did, and after taking just two bottles I have been, as I believe, permanently relieved, as I haven't had a pimple or blotch since. I can highly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters."
