THE LORDS AND COMMONS.

New York, Nov. 11.—In a special cable from London today the New York Herald has the following: British politics of late years have been very humdrum in their character, but there is at the present time a quarrel between the House of Peers and Commons which promises to be very lively and fierce. The House of Lords is just now mauling about the education bill in such a way that the ministers are being left with two alternatives. They must either drop the bill or resign. They do not want to drop the bill, but they do not want to resign. They are therefore in a very awkward position. The House of Commons is determined to pass the bill, and the House of Lords is determined to block it. The result will be a general election.

There are enemies of the prime minister, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who state in private that it is distinctly understood as an essential part of the radical programme that the rejection of the home rule bill following the tinkering with the education bill by the peers will be followed, neither by the resignation of the House of Lords, nor by the superannuation of the House of Commons. A strong step of this kind would involve grave constitutional changes, but the House of Lords will not crumble up like matchwood as some radicals presume on their great authority in the House of Commons are fond of boasting. The fact is that the social rights of the hereditary orders in England are very sacred and the British people prefer to respect the social and local influence of ancestral wealth and public activity in the House of Lords, believing that the education and home rule questions are not likely to arouse the anger of the nation. Still the fact remains that the prime minister is deeply pledged to introduce a home rule bill, and everybody is wondering

MORE HINDOOS.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 12.—The steamer "Tartar" which arrived here this morning brought a further contingent of Hindoos. There were about 400 of these people and of that number 200 landed here. Their cotton raiment well adapted for their tropical climate. The turbaned through in spite of the mildness of the weather here looked anything but adapted to the conditions now prevailing.

AT THE ISTHMUS

Colo., Nov. 15.—President Roosevelt left the flagship Louisiana at 7:30 this morning and landed shortly afterward. He was met by Canal Commission, Hon. Chief Engineer Stevens, General Manager of the Panama railroad and other officials. MANITOBA and Ontario after more land doughe col.

ST. LAWRENCE GULF

Quebec, Nov. 12.—A severe storm is prevailing in the gulf and all along the river St. Lawrence, which has caused shipping to run for shelter. Nothing further is learned about the condition of the big Dominion liner Kensington, except that she is still hard and fast on the rocks, and the heavy seas raging all around her. All the steamer's passengers were taken off yesterday by the coasting steamer "Huron" and the Government steamer "Huron", but up to the latest accounts nothing could be learned of the whereabouts of these steamers. The passengers have not been landed nor heard from, which is causing considerable anxiety, but it is thought by experienced river men that these vessels have sought shelter until the storm abates.

TWO MEN KILLED

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 12.—Two men were killed and another fatally injured and many passengers more or less shaken up and cut by broken glass in an accident last night by the southern Pacific Sunset Express train bound from San Francisco to New Orleans, opposite the depot at Sargent's station, 87 miles south of San Francisco. The dead are Engineer Gillespie and Signal Construction Foreman Goodfellow and Fireman Garvey was badly scalded and both legs were broken. He will die. It is also believed that four or five tramps riding on the platform underneath the first car were killed. The accident was caused by an explosion of the engine boiler the force of which blew the depot to pieces, tore up the track for a hundred feet on both sides of the place and turned over the first four cars of the train. The sleeping cars remained on the track and none of the passengers in the cars were hurt.

PLACER DIGGINGS

Maldstone, Sask., Nov. 12.—A man named Joyce, an experienced miner, who has been prospecting in the Maldstone and Birling, arrived here today and reports having discovered rich placer diggings just east of this town. Samples brought by him and analyzed at Birling and it is possible that the gold belt will cover a much larger area than was at first reported. Great excitement prevails and people are rushing here in great numbers, many claims have already been staked and it is thought before the winter sets in many large companies will be formed to extensively operate the properties. Experienced miners who have visited the property state that the findings and formation are as rich as that recently discovered in Northern Ontario and will undoubtedly create a large influx of miners to the district. Maldives is the most accessible railway point to the diggings.

STRATHCONA

Strathcona, Nov. 16.—Who will be the new mayor of Strathcona? is the question that most frequently meets one on the streets during the past few days. And as the time of nomination, on Monday, December 3rd, only a little over two weeks away, draws near, the interest is daily growing and many names are mentioned as prospective candidates for the position of chief magistrate of the town.

Among those who have been spoken of most prominently are the present mayor, Mr. W. H. Sheppard, Councillor James M. Douglas, N. D. Mills, Councillor A. H. Richards, Mr. O. Bush, president of the board of trade, and Mr. J. Duggan. To the Bulletin this morning Mr. Bush stated that he had been urged for some time past to offer himself as a candidate but had definitely decided not to enter the contest. In his opinion, with the large public works that are now in progress it would be a mistake not to elect the old mayor or one of the present council members as municipal experience is required for the large undertakings now in hand.

Mr. Douglas was emphatic in his statement. "No, sir," he said, "I will neither be a candidate again for mayor or for councillor." Mr. Douglas has given much valuable time to municipal affairs and feels that he cannot afford further at present. Mr. Mills has been urged for the past month to enter the field by a large number who have promised him their support. "If I felt that I could bring to the municipal affairs the ability in administration that they deserve I would consent to the solicitation of my friends," he said, "and become a candidate." Mr. Mills realizes that the office would greatly tax his time and also feels that the mayor should be in thorough sympathy with the councillors. He will be guided to a great extent, therefore, by those who will offer as candidates for councillors.

Mr. Duggan was not to be found at his office this forenoon, but it is understood that he is giving consideration to the solicitation of his friends.

Mayor Sheppard, when spoken to, preferred not to speak definitely as yet. He was being urged to run by numerous electors but had not yet reached a decision. Mr. Richards has as yet made no definite statement but many friends are pressing him to offer himself as a candidate. The retiring councillors are Messrs. Douglas, Cowles and Richards. A large number of names have been mentioned as prospective aldermen and the next few days will in all probability bring out quite a number of candidates.

MUNDARE

Mundare presents a scene of activity equalled by no other new town on the Canadian Northern railway. Two grain buyers are on the ground and the farmers are taking advantage of the opportunity to dispose of their crops which were unusually heavy this year in this district. Over two hundred loads of grain were sold here yesterday and the main street of Mundare presented a very animated scene as the farmers, after unloading at the track, returned up town to do their shopping, etc. We think that according to population the amount of building in Mundare this year exceeds that of any other town or even city in Canada. This may appear a very exaggerated statement, but when one stops to consider that about three months ago Mundare consisted of one building and two people, and now has fifteen or more good substantial buildings on the town site and a population in the neighborhood of one hundred, we feel satisfied that anyone attempting to prove Mundare at any place but at the head of the list will have to sharpen his pencil and do some close figuring.

The Hotel Mundare is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for the reception of guests in a few days. The owners, Messrs. R. Tegler & Co., announce a dinner on the occasion of the opening of the house. The Hotel Mundare is one of the most substantially built and best equipped houses on the C. N. R. and will make Mundare one of the most popular stopping places along the road.

Among the new arrivals in Mundare are the wives and families of Mr. J. H. and A. Milne, our hardware dealers. Both Mrs. J. H. and Mrs. A. Milne came direct from Syracuse, N.Y. and although living in a brand new western town, they have a unique experience for them, they express themselves as being very highly pleased with their new surroundings.

The newest acquisition to Mundare and one of the most valuable in the town and surrounding country is the station agent. The station has been made ready for occupancy and we are informed from the most reliable source that the agent will be along in a few days.

With the completion of Murray Ross' and J. H. McCallister's stores, Mundare now has five first class general stores, all apparently doing a rushing business.

Mundare real estate is moving very rapidly and prices are constantly advancing. The agent for town lots reports several large sales this week. Mr. W. A. S. Colter, western townsie manager for the C. N. R., spent a few hours in town this week and advises that an addition of eleven new blocks will be put on the market very shortly at prices which will be low enough to warrant a very strong advance in the near future.

E. N. Walker, of Fort Saskatchewan, has established a hay balling plant here. We have two passenger trains each way every day.

HORSE HILLS

The winter has arrived in this district with some severity, snow commencing to fall on November 1. The ground is covered to the depth of several inches, and sleighing has become general.

Threshing is now over for this season, a remarkable feature being that a large number of threshing outfits competing in the neighborhood. The winter weather has been responsible for many delays and breakdowns have been of frequent occurrence among the machines.

Messrs. Meeney have purchased the entire threshing outfit lately owned by Messrs. Roberts of Vegreville, and intend to run a grain chipping mill during the coming winter. The scarcity of water this year has caused the threshing outfit to be equipped with a portable engine. Mr. F. Fetherstonhaugh shipped a bunch of 85 steers to Vermilion. He intends putting them on his ranch down there. It is time something was done in the way of getting a stockyard built here. At present when a man wants to ship some cattle he has got to build some temporary stockyard for himself, a fact which keeps many from shipping from the Fort. The board of trade might take the matter up with the C.N.R. and get them to build one as soon as possible.

We direct the attention of the road commissioners to the road running south from the town site to the Fort Saskatchewan trail which has been closed during the summer, causing considerable inconvenience to the users along the road. We understand that a petition, asking for its removal of the obstruction, is in circulation.

The proprietors of the half way house hotel, have recently disposed of the same to the late proprietor, Mr. J. V. Zizka. Mr. Zizka has completed his brick veneered residence, which is undoubtedly the most elegant and commodious dwelling in the neighborhood. Mr. Zizka has the best equipped stables and barn buildings to be seen in this district.

Miss Yizna, who has been attending school at St. Albert, has contracted typhoid fever. The new residence of Mr. Frank McCallister is now completed. It is at present having the outside of the structure painted.

Mr. Robert Hopkinson, is putting a brick cellar under his house. The foundation, standing with a winnill and anchor buildings on the summit of the Horse Hills, and backed by thick clumps of trees, forms one of the most picturesque dwellings to be seen in the settlement.

Messrs. Belgrave and Pullerton are erecting a structure for raising poultry. Since the Government has taken up the poultry raising question, the farmers in this district have been stimulated to greater efforts than ever in this direction. Mr. C. Corbett, who has recently acquired a chopping mill. These machines appear to be getting fairly numerous in the district and farmers will welcome the convenience in this matter. Mr. Stahon has finished threshing and has removed to his home at St. Paul. Mr. Archie, who has been conducting Sunday services in the schoolroom, preached his last sermon on Sunday, 11th inst. The vacancy caused by day, 11th inst. The vacancy caused by the Rev. Mr. Gourlay. Mr. C. Corbett, who has been convalescing with typhoid fever, is now convalescing.

Red Deer News.

Red Deer, Alta., November 18.—A meeting of the Red Deer curling club was held last night in the Albert Hotel and the following officers were elected for the coming year: A. T. Stephenson, president; W. L. Ouenett, vice-president; and R. B. Welver, secretary-treasurer. It was decided not to elect any honorary members this year. It is expected that this season will be one of the most successful in the club's history as numerous residents express their intention to become members. There is promise too, of having better ice this year on account of the improvements made to the rink. A crack currier is coming to Alberta in the person of Wm. Hope, Carberry, Man., who will reside in Red Deer. His won't the Grand Challenge cup in this Manitoba bonspiel three years ago. A. Scott, manager of the Northern Bank, has been offered the position of manager of the Edmonton branch of that institution. We understand that he has accepted, but that change will not take place immediately. His many friends will be sorry to see him leave Red Deer, but join in congratulating him on getting one of the most important branches of the Northern Bank.

The intermediate hockey teams decided to hold a meeting this week to re-organize. The feeling appears to be general that it would be a good idea to enter the proposed intermediate league.

E. A. Gordon is making an inspection of the Red Deer branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. J. W. Robinson, of the Great West Lumber Company, returned from Calgary this week. There was a busy time in town for a while on Monday night. Just about six o'clock a high wind arose from the northwest and there were things doing.

Those who were unfortunate enough to be in the time that a fine, thin, light chapped cloud passed very low over the town and that the wind came from the north in the space of half a minute boots, blankets, etc., displayed in front of the various stores were flying in all directions. The upper window in the Imperial Bank were also blown in. A few minutes later the alarm of fire was turned in and the brigade made a run to the scene of the fire, which proved luckily to be only a chimney on fire near the Baptist church. On account of the extra power required on the waterworks pump, because of the installing of new machinery the lights were out for the space of 45 minutes. The wind went down almost as quickly as it came up.

Arthur Handford returned from Edmonton yesterday. He is the first player of the intermediate hockey team that will be able to hold their own with anything in the proposed league.

Geo. Lindsay has resumed his position as C. P. R. agent here. Mr. Lindsay will provide plenty of work throughout the winter for those who are unable to work at their usual occupation during that time of the year. Quite a few men of the town have found their way there already and more are on the eve of going.

On Wednesday morning Mr. F. Fetherstonhaugh shipped a bunch of 85 steers to Vermilion. He intends putting them on his ranch down there. It is time something was done in the way of getting a stockyard built here. At present when a man wants to ship some cattle he has got to build some temporary stockyard for himself, a fact which keeps many from shipping from the Fort. A Duel

(Edmonton Free Press)

Louis De Clermont, of d'Amboise, returned in the Louvre. As accredited from the king's brother d'Anjou, he brought with him a hard-won submission which had, to the utmost Catherine de Medici and diplomacy to win.

Bussy presented himself unaccompanied by any of his young noblemen, Livarot and Antraquet, who were his friends and adherents.

Henry III received him in the great throne room which was surrounded by his courtiers, them his four favorites—Giron, Schomberg and the others. Between these latter three friends there existed of long standing and who, brief and frigid audience, dismissed the court, Bussy self surrounded by the king's men, who had gathered to the death which had long king's dearest wish, and hoped to rid France of the supporters of his brother.

Bussy, secure in the reno his many hard fought and his hands had won him, feigned of the threatening attitude of spirators.

At last d'Epernon exclaimed: "See, gentlemen, how our elegant Bussy has become his sojourn in the province Monsieur d'Anjou."

"This reflection occurred to well, gentlemen," retorted Bussy, an engaging smile. "It is curious that a few days' absence place Louis de Bussy, Lord Clermont, at disadvantage petty Gascon noble."

And, with a courteous bow, them, to join Saint Luc, who entered.

But the four favorites had seen to ponder over Bussy's pected mildness.

Saint Luc joined them speed with the customary formal sent Bussy's challenge to fight either singly or collectively with ever weapons and wherever possible.

The challenge was accepted condition that the four should fight Bussy and his friends.

It was agreed that they would with rapiers and daggers, to the in a retired square near the It was also agreed to avoid disadvantage of the sun shining the faces of either group of ants, that they should fight semi-circle, in such a manner that rays of the sun should shine each group from the side.

The duel was to take place at the morrow after the Feast of St. Andrew, and the contestants plus Christ, and the contestant ing drawn their opponents to were to be free after annulling their adversaries, to attack the others.

The lots were drawn, Schomberg paired off with Ribereac; Quelt Antraquet; Livarot with Max and Bussy with d'Epernon.

D'Epernon alone lost counted. In his soul he vowed he would meet Bussy, no matter to what conspiracy, betrayal or hired sins he must needs resort.

Thus matters stood. Both were well content. D'Epernon worked mole-like, to forestall death at Bussy's hands. He himself treacherously with the d'Anjou, encouraging the latter's foulest betrayal of which he was convicted—although his name a cord bear the blot of La Mole Coconnans' bloody murder of scaffold—for here he sacrificed adherent who had spent blood faith in his service, who design the morrow to risk his life for honor of his perjured prince sacrificed him basely to a petty jealousy.

Upon the evening of this grimlogue to the morrow's duel—which been engineered by d'Epernon—d'Amboise repaired to the host his lady love, Madame de Mons. The hours sped swiftly. Then she knelt to pray for his safe the duel, and Bussy bent over three men entered the window, were followed by a fourth, who masked and armed with a pistol and drawn sword.

This sudden apparition alarmed Bussy for an instant. Then, as he thrust Madame de Monsoreau behind him and drawing his sword faced the men, one of whom came a musket. The masked man spoke sombre tones: "What an excellent friend I in Monsieur de Bussy!" And by the voice Bussy recognized de Monsoreau, Diana's husband. "Come, sir; on guard!" she said, lowering his sword, "or I'll pass."

And Women

Bileans

Housewifery

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep care the good points which nature has endowed her with. Sallow skin, dull eyes, a blotchy complexion—these no woman need have who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangement, blood impurities, and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes, and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, labored heavy movements, a constant tired feeling—all these mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Bileans give this necessary help. They are purely vegetable and they work in Nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels and clear out the liver cells. They tone up liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. Not only so, but while more effective than the medicines hitherto obtainable, they are, at the same time, more mild in their operation, and are suitable for the most delicate constitution.

A WOMAN WHO WAS AS YELLOW AS A GUINEA.

Mrs. A. Travis, of Gringley, says:—"I got completely run down" in health, my strength went. I was constipated, had frequent headaches, and my skin became as yellow as a guinea. Food gave me pain, and hours upon hours have I laid awake at night quite unable to get any sleep, because of indigestion. I lost flesh and became quite wasted. My face did not seem any more to me any good at all. One day bileans were recommended to me, and I decided to give them a trial. They did what other medicine had failed to do, and soon after I began to take them I felt an improvement. I persevered with them until they cured me, they cleared my skin, rid me of constipation, banished my headache, ended the indigestion, and made me well and hearty again."

BILEANS ARE A CURE FOR: headache, constipation, piles, liver trouble, indigestion, sallow skin, nervousness, general debility, skin eruptions, biliousness, sick headache, bad taste in the mouth, loss of flesh, dizziness, wind, flatulence, and other ailments. Obtainable from all druggists at 50 cents per box, or from the Bileans Co., Toronto, post free, 6 boxes for $2.50.
