Parliamentary Association.

A meeting took place of members of the Legislature last night in the Legislative Council Chamber. Mr. Warren, the Secretary of the Newfoundland branch of the Association was present and explained the objects of the Association and the reason for calling the meeting. He explained that at the time of the Coronation the Association had been formed, and branches had subsequently been formed in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Newfoundland. Little interest had been shown by the Newfoundland branch and what interest had developed had been mainly among the members of the House of Assembly. The branch formed in 1912 had elected as officers: Sir Edward Morris, as President; Mr. J. A. Clift, Vice-President; Mr. W. R. Warren, Secretary. No meetings had been held since the General elections in 1913, but he, Mr. Warren, had been in correspondence with the Home Parliament Association. The membership has meant to include sitting members of both branches of the Legislature and also ex-members. The object was to promote closer association between the members of the home and overseas parliament, the opening of a bureau of information in London, the offering of facilities for visiting parties of interest at home and in the dominions. The immediate object of reviving the branch here was to deal with an invitation which had been sent to the Newfoundland branch, and among the overseas branches, to select delegates to visit the old country and see what was being done in regard to the War. It was explained that parliamentary delegates from our Allies had already visited Britain with this object, and the idea had been taken up of extending similar facilities to a delegation from the overseas dominions. The Chairman, Sir Edward Morris, read cable messages and letters he had received in connection with the matter. The invitation to the delegates was to be present in Great Britain during July, and a strictly business programme had been arranged. It was to be in no sense a picnic, nor was there to be anything in the way of junketing, as being out of place during the great struggle, although there might be one or two public functions with speech-making. An itinerary was being arranged which would include visits to centres of training for soldiers, munition factories, aeroplane factories, naval ports, visit to the Great Fleet, and to the Front in France. The visit would be a strictly business one, and no facilities could be afforded for including in the itinerary the wives of delegates. The Canadian and White Star line were offering free transportation on their ships to and from New York, and the Home Association would defray hotel and railway travelling in the British Isles. Other expenses would be borne by the delegates themselves. After some discussion, it was resolved to re-organize the Newfoundland branch and it was decided that a committee of twelve should be appointed to nominate officers executive and delegates, the Legislative Council selecting six members and the House of Assembly six, three by Government members and three by Opposition members. Monday night was set for the meeting of the Committee.

McMurdo's Store News
THURSDAY, May 18, 1916.
Now that hayseed time has come along we announce that we have a full stock of Pine Tree Brand Strictly Prime Hayseed for sale, as is usual. We believe that we are the only importers of this particular brand and quality of Timothy, which is reckoned to be the very pick of the seed and of special value and fertility. We have been selling this grade now for many years to the great satisfaction of our customers. Hayseed (like most other things) is rather high-priced this year, but we are able to offer it by the sack of about 120 lbs. at 13 1/2c. a lb., smaller quantities at 14 to 15c. a lb. If you want the very finest quality of Hayseed, buy your quantity from us.

The Union Jack.

"The task of inculcating patriotism would be made vastly easier if every school were provided with the Union Jack."
—Rev. Dr. Curtis.

No other flag our fathers knew,
As that to-day which wave,
Above the valiant and the true,
The loyal, and the brave,
That flag for which our sons have shed
Their hearts red blood so free,
That flag to which our souls are wed
Upon the land and sea.

Long may it spread its pinions nigh,
May Heaven on it smile,
Its folds, they float neath every sky,
To guard the sons of toil.
There's not a clime around the world
Where dwell white men and black,
There holdly it is found unfurled
Old England's Union Jack.

Beneath its folds fair Freedom thrives
And tyranny is tamed,
It flies, to bravely guard the lives
Of those in every land.
Who seek protection 'neath its sway,
It frowns on no man's creed,
It is the flag we prize to-day,
'Tis Freedom's flag, indeed.

Brave men beneath its folds, they fought,
In ancient days gone by,
On Blenheim's field the foe they sought,
On Flander's plains did die,
They won renown in every clime
Where'er that banner flew,
And spread its fame with father time
In the old world and the new.

So fling its pinions to the breeze,
As welcome as May flowers,
'Tis that old flag that rules the seas,
And guards this land of ours.
Long may it o'er the ocean wave,
The hope of white and black,
The flag that floats above the brave
Old England's Union Jack.

Picket Attacked by Other Volunteers.

Another disgraceful scene occurred last night at 7.45 on Job's Street, opposite the Nfld. Boot & Shoe Factory, when one of the pickets of 10 volunteers was brutally assaulted by two other members of the regiment, who apparently were out looking for trouble. A large crowd, including a number of Naval Reservists and other volunteers quickly gathered. For a time it looked as if matters would be serious, and fearing further trouble, the picket removed the injured soldier to the West End Fire Hall, where it was discovered no bones were broken, but some nasty cuts were seen on his face.

Dies at Insane Asylum

Yesterday at the Insane Asylum there passed to the Great Beyond an old and worn-out fisherman and small merchant of Portugal Cove in the person of Mr. John Churchill, who had reached the ripe old age of 83 years. The old gentleman was only about six weeks confined to the institution when death claimed his victim. For some time previous to this the old man lost his reason and with the hopes of something being done for him he was placed in the Asylum where everything possible was done to restore him to health, but of no avail. He leaves to mourn their sad loss two daughters, Mrs. Alex. Cook and Mrs. Joseph Churchill, at the old man's home, John, in the United States and a large circle of friends, to whom the Telegram extends sympathy.
