GERMANY'S LOST COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, To-day.
What a different world of trade this will be after the war was pictured at the Southern Commercial Congress here to-night by Secretary Redfield in an address telling of the cutting of the threads of Germany's foreign commerce by her own acts, and of the awakening of America and the Allies to the danger of having their industries dependent upon foreign and possibly upon unfriendly sources of supply. "When peace shall come and her merchants take up the task of restoring Germany's ruined commerce, they will find that it is a strange world which they seek to re-enter," said the Secretary. "There will be difficulties in the path of future peaceful penetration of which they seem not to dream. Commercial frightfulness, like its military namesake, will have passed away. It will hardly be said again to any Secretary of Commerce of the United States that the German dye stuff Verein will not permit the establishment of American dye stuff industries. The monopolies on which German foreign commerce in large part seemed to rest secure have passed away. Our friends beyond the sea and we ourselves have learned the danger of having our industries wholly dependent on foreign sources of supply which may become unfriendly. It is pitiful to read extracts from the German press which seem to show that they expect to take up the task of rebuilding their commerce where they laid it down. They reckon the world's demand for potash as a purely German asset. It was so but is no longer. They were the world's source for dyestuffs. That opportunity has gone. It was they to whom the world looked for optical glass; we don't look there now. They were the source of supply of chemical porcelain which we make to-day as well as they. When our sons have fought and died together with those of Britain, France, Italy, Russia, our other honored friends, things cannot be as they were before that happened; each knows the other better than he did. Old lines of separation have gone. Our vision is enlarged. Applied to commerce this means that we understand other people and their needs better and know better what we may be able to supply to them. Our men with vision are reaching out into all lands. We are in the family whether we will or not, and in my earnest belief we shall draw richly from the family intercourse. We were those who looked upon the peaceful contests of commerce as an economic war. We should hardly feel we could speak with freedom in this presence of the coming days, when normal commercial intercourse throughout the world shall replace the present restricted conditions for we recognize as a matter of course an opportunity and duty they are not slow to see, and upon which they rightly act—that the nations associated with us in this war are preparing for their proper share of the world's business when the war shall close. Believing as we do, however, that Commerce is not war but mutual intercourse to mutual gain, we look without fear and with strong approval upon every effort of our friends to renew their commercial and industrial activities in the happier days that are coming."

RUSSIAN AND GERMAN MOSQUITO FLEETS ENGAGE.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
To-day's statement follows:—On the northwestern and Rumanian fronts there have been fusillades and scouting operations. Caucasus fronts—There is nothing to report. Baltic—On Sunday at four o'clock p.m. our patrol squadron off Soela Sound, consisting of four torpedo boats and two gun boats, were shelled by German dreadnoughts. The torpedo boat Brom was severely damaged. Following this, 12, and afterwards more, German torpedo boats of the newest type forced a way into Soela Sound under cover of a German battleship. Our patrol squadron accepted battle. The submarine Khrabry was struck twice. The torpedo boat Brom was under violent fire. Other torpedo boats, covered them, energetically engaging the enemy. The enemy's fire was principally directed on the Khrabry and Brom. All the guns of the latter vessel were put out of action; she was also set fire and a big wave cut the hausers with which the Khrabry was towing her. The Khrabry approached the Brom and once more tried to take her in tow, but without success, and the Brom sank. The majority of the crew were saved by the Khrabry. Simultaneously one of the enemy torpedo boats was sunk by the fire of the Khrabry and others. Our warships then appearing on the scene the enemy turned back. The rest of our warships were only slightly damaged.

CABINET CONGRATULATES HAIG.

LONDON, To-day.
Premier Lloyd George sent the following message yesterday to Haig: "The War Cabinet desires to congratulate you and the troops under your command upon the achievement of the British armies in Flanders in the great battle which has been raging since July 31st. You and your men have continued to drive the enemy back with such skill, courage and pertinacity as have commanded the great admiration of the peoples of the British Empire and filled the enemy with alarm. I am personally glad to be the means of transmitting this message to you and your gallant troops, and I desire to take this opportunity of renewing my assurance of confidence in your leadership and in the devotion of those whom you command."

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.
The Zutphen Courant says that Germany has informed Holland that she will cease the transportation of sand and gravel by way of Holland, if Great Britain forces Holland to make such a demand of Germany.

SOMETHING DOING IN THE EAST.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.
The Westerschied suggests that the visit to Sofia of the German Emperor has as its object to encourage a Bulgarian attack on General Sarraff's forces with Salonika as the reward in the event of success. The paper adds that a declaration of war by Greece against Bulgaria is to be expected at an early date.

GRAIN ELEVATOR DESTROYED.

NEW YORK, To-day.
The grain elevator of J. W. Esterger and Son, Brooklyn, containing a large store of grain was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is $200,000.

GERMANY MAY BE ABANDONING BELGIUM.

LONDON, To-day.
Hindenburg's new Russian drive has given rise to a suggestion that his idea may be to create a proper atmosphere in Germany for the abandonment of the present lines before Ypres to straighten the lines based on Ostend or Zeebrugge. Of such a contingency the Manchester Guardian says: Supposing Germany decided to create a new Belgium on the shores of the Gulf of Finland, threatening Petrograd, and is prepared to that end to sacrifice the other Belgium or a great deal of it, which is getting rather too hot to hold, what effect would this change have on the strategy and politics of the war? We do not say it is certain that this is Germany's plan, but it is one of those possibilities which ought not to take us by surprise should it come.

FAMINE AND DESPAIR PAINTED BY GERMAN REFUGEE.

CHICAGO, To-day.
That the German navy is full of spirit of revolt is a statement contained in a cable despatch to Chicago Daily News from Edward Price Bells, its London correspondent. The assertion is made by Peder Pedersen Dahlgaard, who was sailor on the German battleship Kaiser, at Kiel, until last June, but who escaped and has just arrived in England. There is serious unrest in the German navy, said Dahlgaard to the correspondent. It arises from the belief of the sailors that Germany has lost the war and that further fighting is a crime against the German people. I do not think this feeling prevails to the same extent this army but it is by no means unknown there. Riots in the German navy began months ago. In April I heard of an outbreak on the Konig A. Albert. The sailors on the ship are said to have seized a watchman and tied him to an anchor and sunk him. Two hundred and fifty of the men were sent to prison in Cologne. Similar actions were planned on other ships. No civilized Government besides that of Germany ever imposed such discipline upon men as German Naval Commanders impose. Officers beat the sailors sometimes out of pure savagery and think it perfectly right to call them dogs and spit in their faces. I have heard officers say that the Allies need not fight another battle in order to beat Germany. All they had to do, these officers said, was to hold fast and wait another six months when famine would force Germany to surrender.

RECORD WHEAT CROP OF INDIA.
WASHINGTON, To-day.
A record crop of wheat in India was reported yesterday in a despatch to the department of agriculture.

RELATED COMFUSION.
ZURICH, To-day.
That Great Britain's decision to bombard German cities and towns in reprisal for the air raids on London and other cities and towns is having an effect in southern Germany is indicated by the Muenchener Post, which says that air attacks on open towns have proved, quite apart from moral estimates, that this mode of warfare will be the means of stiffening rather than of breaking the determination of the people. The newspaper says: "This applies to all belligerents and it would be a matter for rejoicing if all of them would agree no longer to make this fearful mode of warfare a catastrophe still more horrible through the slaughter of defenceless persons."

SO MUCH THE BETTER.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.
Several Vienna papers express the opinion that the recent statements of Lloyd George, Asquith and Ribot will cause the cessation of any peace action on the part of the Central Powers. It declares that by refusing the peace proposals of the Central Powers, those circumstances have arisen which Count Czernin, Austro-Hungary's Foreign Minister, has mentioned as justifying a revision of the Central Powers' war aims.

BOMB SHELTERS FOR LONDON.

LONDON, To-day.
London bomb proof shelters are being card indexed in preparation for further German raids. Sufficient tunnels, arches, crypts, basements and substantial buildings have been indexed to accommodate one million persons. If making this announcement to-day Sir George Cave, Home Secretary, declared that an advisory board of prominent surveyors will be appointed soon to make a canvass of bomb proof shelters in London. He said the Government had decided to make it a regulation under the Defence of the Realm Act to require everyone possessing a bomb proof shelter to place it at the disposal of the public. The decision of the educational authorities to close all schools in London during the last week in October is perhaps the most interesting of many steps being taken in anticipation of a recurrence of the German raids as soon as the moon is up again. Air raid shelter plans are being distributed throughout the city. Many substantial forms of relief for air raid victims and their relatives are announced as a result of the conference of the Mayors of the various London boroughs.

FRENCH SENATE RESUMES PUBLIC BUSINESS.

PARIS, To-day.
The Deputies after a secret session last night resumed its public sessions, closing the secret debate on a statement concerning Alsace Lorraine made in the Chamber last Friday by Foreign Minister Ribot by voting to pass to the next business. The motion was carried by 313 to 0, the Socialists refusing to vote.

All Children Love "Syrup of Figs" for Liver and Bowels

Give it when feverish, cross, bilious, for bad breath or sour stomach.

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of colds, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

The simplest meals are the best for health.

ATHENS EXPECTS PEACE SOON.

ATHENS, To-day.
In well informed diplomatic circles here it is considered that peace is imminent. Despite the secrecy observed in Germany regarding the subjects discussed at the Council held in Berlin immediately before the German Emperor's departure for Bulgaria and those discussed in Sofia and Constantinople between the Allied monarchs, authentic information has been received here to the effect that new and less irreconcilable peace proposals are to be expected from Germany in this coming week.

NOTHING TO REPORT.

LONDON, To-day.
Field Marshal Haig in his report to the War Office to-day says: "There is nothing of special interest to report."

AERIAL ACTIVITY.

LONDON, To-day.
The British Admiralty says: "Naval aircraft dropped many tons of bombs on the Bruges docks on Monday night. On Tuesday one of our fighting pilots brought down a double seater enemy machine in the vicinity of Sevan; the observer fell out and the machine turned over and fell in flames. All our machines returned."

The Present British Offensive.

(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

To drive the Germans out of Belgium is not the declared aim of the present British offensive. It is not probable that the heavy blows being delivered east of Ypres will even cause the invaders to relinquish their coast defences to the north or the city of Lille to the south. Both these results are sought by the British, but probably the winter is too near at hand to permit attainment this year. What Haig is now doing is a labor of preparation. He is preparing a favorable position from which the Allied armies, largely augmented by the American forces, can begin the task of Belgium reconquest next spring. If any considerable part of the reconquest is accomplished this fall it will be a gain beyond present expectation. If Haig had two or three months of fighting weather ahead of him it would be reasonable to expect a considerable German retreat similar to the Somme retreat of last spring. Inasmuch as the British believe they are only paving the way for next year's serious work the earnestness of their present effort is highly praiseworthy. They are fighting gallantly, and could scarcely work more effectively were they bent on the immediate recovery of Belgium. It is clearly recognized that the British now are accepting the larger burden of offensive work on the western front. France's armies are firmly holding their share of the line, but the British, who were later on the field and have suffered less severely, are generously seeking to give their old ally an opportunity for recuperation while at the same time making ready for the coming of their new ally. Next year it will be the American privilege to show practical application of this spirit of co-operation. What the British are now doing for the French the Americans will then do in some measure for the British.

For Stricter Censorship

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—The censorship of movie picture shows in this city is not strict enough, and if the governing bodies of the Island do not take the interest in the welfare and morals of this generation, then the future men and women will be a lot of criminals of the worst description. I do not have religious services on children on Sunday, one day of the week and have their minds corrupted six afternoons and nights of the week. As a previous writer in the News has stated, a child's impressions are like wax. I can remember things said to me as a child which I will retain until I go to the grave and probably thereafter, who knows. The founder of Christianity has stated in a clarion voice, "It would be better that a millstone had been hanged about his neck and he had gone into the sea than that he should offend one of these little ones."

It is impossible but that offence will come, but woe unto him through whom they come.

You, Mr. Editor, are correct re Prohibition Act. As constituted now it is a farce; it's a get-rich-quick method for some. I am in a position to see who frequents the place and to observe the tactics displayed by certain bums to get their bottles filled. I have a camera and I have got you Steve. Would you like to see your phiz; if so let it be on the roll of honor as your country needs you now.

Yours,
WATCHMAN.

McMurdo's Store News

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 17th, 1917.

Sunset Soap Dyes have come to stay evidently. There are reasons for this. In the first place, the goods are washed and dyed by one operation; secondly, these dyes will color cotton, wool, and silk goods, or a mixture of any or all of these, equally well; thirdly, they give fast and brilliant colors that do not wash out, fade or crack. Price 15 cents a pkg.

Try Babykin Talcum Powder next time. You will find that it is very grateful and pleasant to the person most concerned—the baby; and you will be delighted with its results on the child's skin. Price 25c. a tin.

TO LECTURE ON EGYPT.—Rev. Dr. Bond, Pastor of Cochrane Street Centennial Church, will deliver an illustrated lecture on Egypt this evening at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the church. The entrance will be from Bannerman Street and a collection will be taken up to defray expenses.
