

Co-operation to Check Smuggling

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 30.—Co-operation with the United States authorities in ending the menace of border smuggling is being sought by the British Columbia provincial police, and it is expected here that before long the system of border patrol now in operation will be rendered very much more effective.

The American authorities are even more anxious than the British Columbia government to improve the system, for the United States is hit hardest by the lawless element which operates along the land and sea boundary in the West. The smuggling is invariably from Canada to the United States. Most of the contraband is liquor, although large quantities of narcotics are said to have been surreptitiously shipped across the border as well as aliens from the Far East.

Liquor smuggling from British Columbia ports to Washington state is well organized, and the smugglers are well financed and equipped. Their launches in which they transport liquor and other contraband are usually speedier than the vessels whose business it has been to pursue them, with the result that the dry agents and police have been severely handicapped. The United States prohibition enforcement forces recently placed several armed speed craft into commission and these have been effective, but the area that must be patrolled is so great that vast stretches of coast line have to be neglected.

The use of airplanes has now been resorted to by the smugglers and in an effort to strike back it is being recommended that government planes be put in service. Canadian aircraft is at present being used in northern waters to prevent fish poaching, and the provincial police is now negotiating with the federal authorities for the use of an airplane at present stationed at the University of British Columbia, in emergency cases where quick pursuit is necessary.

British Columbia authorities are more interested in running down bandits and other fugitives from justice than in chasing dope and rum runners, although the latter is of primary concern to the United States forces. Within recent months several big robberies have been staged on Vancouver Island, and it is known that in at least one case the bandits made a successful getaway by using a high-powered launch. An airplane, available at short notice, could have overtaken the launch before it had reached safety at a point along the Washington coast and forced the desperadoes into submission by machine gun fire.

Just Folks.

ARTISTS OF SORROW.

There is a skill of brush and pen
Which artists seek to praise.
A touch required by earnest men
Through tedious nights and days.

It takes long years to understand
A beautiful and true,
Who would the master's skill command
Through tedious nights and days.

And the noblest art of man
Is the humblest practice needs,
For even the humblest people can Perform the kindest deeds.

The skill of sympathy is seen
By every sorrowing eye,
It moves with faith and trust serene
The falling tears to dry.

Not every friend can comfort give
In anguish and despair,
Yet some there are who seem to live
Another's grief to share.

Their hands are gentle and their speech
Is comforting to hear,
We feel that help's within our reach Whenever they are near.

Though humble people they may be
And outwardly but plain,
They have that skill of sympathy
Which soothes and softens pain.

Remarkable Speed in Seaplane

BRITISH FLIERS ARRIVED AT NEW YORK WITH THE "MY-STERY SHIP."

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 6.—Before long for the Schneider Cup races at Baltimore, Captain Henry Baird, one of the British entrants, in a secret trial with the supermarine Napier S-4 attained a speed of 226,752 miles an hour. It is announced.

The International Federation of Aeronautics verified the speed, which was said to constitute a world's seaplane record, although reports from the United States claim one of their ships has gone even faster.

The British fliers who will participate in the Schneider Cup seaplane race on October 23 and 24, arrived in New York yesterday bringing two seaplanes with them the S-4, a monoplane which has been termed the "Mystery Ship" of the Royal Air Forces.
