They Are the Hobby of Great Bridge Works. Steel Millionaire.

Man Who Gave Money to Boers Abhores Tobacco.

Pittsburg, Sept. 28 .- Henry Phipps, Jun., is probably the least known of all the prominent multi-millionaires of the steel industry. His donation of $100,-000 to the Boer relief fund this week brought his name prominently before in America. Then he scoured the the general public. Of course, in Pitsburg, where he has lavished his money on public institutions, everybody knows who Henry Phipps, jun., is, but | ing these twenty years he has had the few could point him out on the street.

A BIG, LITTLE MAN. Mr. Phipps is one of those big little men who shrink from the public gaze. He is sensitive to a degree, and while to which the great Central Carnegie those who really know him find him Library building is located, Mr. Phipps

Mr. Phipps was born in Allegheny, the son of a shoemaker. Henry Phipps, sen., and he never forgot his parentage. The young man did not travel to his present high position on a railway train at righ speed. It was a climb for him from the very start. His education the first ironmaster of Allegheny that the pupils could study from na-County.

Mr. Phipps early became interested in the manufacture of iron and steel, and learned the business in the mills. In 1861, with Andrew Kloman, he built the Union Mills of Pittsburg, and in 1864 the Union Mills were swallowed gave $20,000 to the Carnegie Library on FOND OF FLOWERS. Mr. Phipps has one great hobby, and that is flowers. Twenty years ago he showed his love for flowers, and at the same time his great regard for his native city, by presenting the city whole world to fill the conservatory with the rarest plants. His one stipulation was that the conservatory should be open on Sundays, and durpleasure of giving a pleasant hour to thousands every Sunday. When, a few years ago, the city of Pittsburg began to develop the beauties of Schenley Park, at the entrance to which the great Central Carnegie one of the most genial of men, he has presented the city with a conservatory that is the finest of the kind ever built by private donation. The annual flower show is one of the features of Pittsburg.

Mr. Phipps has carried his love for flowers into the public schools of the city. At his instance, classes in botany were organized throughout the city, was gained from books borrowed from and he furn/shed the money to place the library of Col. Anderson, who was potted plants in every schoolroom, so Further, the pupils are taken on frequent visits to the conservatory in the park, and specimens are furnished from the public conservatory. Mr. Phipps does not confine his gifts to conservatories, however. In 1890 ne condition that it should be open on Sundays, and that opened it.

DON'T LIKE TOBACCO. Mr. Phipps cannot stand the odor of tobacco smoke and dislikes the use of the weed in every form. He also dislikes profanity and he quickly forgets the man who persistently uses coarse language in his presence. Mr. Phipps' great fortune was not all made in steel. To be sure, the foundation was laid in the great Pittsburg mills, but he has been a careful and conservative investor in real estate. He is a heavy property owner in Pittsburg, Allegheny, Chicago and New York. He is many times a millionaire, but probably does not know his own wealth himself.

Price of the Weed Advances.

Toronto, Ont. Oct. 1 .- Owing to a shortage in the tobacco crop of the Virginias and Carolinas, the price of plug tobacco has been advanced seven cents to ten cents a pound. This advance affects only recent orders for new stock, but before the gathering of another crop, the price may go still higher. The plug tobacco from Southern States is considered of a higher grade than that grown in Canada, but the advance in this highgrade tobacco will affect the price of the domestic plug. The tobacco of Kent and Essex is now quite a factor in the Canadian market. Last year 3,700 pounds of it went out for con-

THE DIRECTORS GIVEN POWER

Annual Meeting of Shareholders Reveals Era of Unprecedented Progress.

Montreal, Oct. 1 .- The annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway was held at noon today, Sir William Van Horne in the chair. There was a large attendance of directors and shareholders, including Thomas Skinner, of London, Eng.; Sir Sandford Fleming and G. R. Harris, of Boston. The annual report was taken as read. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in moving the adoption of the report, congratulated the shareholders upon the successful issue of the year's operaannum. They had put in their tender, but had had nothing but a simple approval of resolutions empowering the company to provide a trans-Atlantic service under any circumstance. Later in the meeting such a resolu-tion was moved and carried without discussion save for a reminder from Mr. John Morrison, that it would be

A DRASTIC REFORM.

A number of resolutions providing for extensions of the company's lines in the Northwest were approved, and then a drastic reform was made in the mode of electing the board of directors. Until this year the board of directors has been elected for one year only, but today a resolution was passed empowering the board to provide a bylaw by which one-fourth of the directors only should retire each year. All the old board will consequently decide among themselves who shall serve for one, two, three and four years. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, when asked for the reason for the change, said that the company's enterprises were now getting so important that it would be a calamity if by any chance foreigners should get control of the stock and seek to elect their own directors.

The new policy will secure continuportunity to express the appreciation of the work of the board felt by the in store for it. English shareholders, and was that if the meeting had been in London, the board would have been the recipiof many congratulations upon their success in binding the Empire together as they had done in such a patriotic manner, as well as in such a satisfactory financial manner. PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY.

In the course of his speech the president said that the statement submitted for approval furnished most satisfactory and striking evidence of build of Mr. Carnegie, that is, he is the company's position and of the short but robust. pany. Keen and growing interest in the fertility and productiveness of Northwestern Canada is indicated by the increase in land sales during the past year. Settlers attracted by cheap lands and agricultural conditions that assure to them and their children was one of the few things that has of Allegneny with what were then the farms and homes on amounts finest greenhouses in any public park ment not now possible in the strictly farms and homes on amount of investpopulated districts south of the international boundary are coming into Manitoba and the Territories in great numbers, nearly all of them will make excellent farmers and more desirable citizens. Under the clause of the statute and the mortgages by which these bonds are

"He had such terrible coughing spells we not only grew much alarmed but looked for the bursting of a bloodwessel or a hemorrhage at most any time. After three days' coughing he was too weak to cross the room. The doctor did him no good. I stated the case to a druggist, who handed me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My husbands recovery was remarkable. In three days after he began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was up and around, and in two more days he went to work. Two bottles cured him."

PLANS FOR ATLANTIC SERVICE. While the subject of an improved Atlantic service between Great Britain and Canada was receiving considera-tion in London, continued the president, your directors thought it wise to submit to the Canadian Government, on behalf of the company, a proposition to provide what they believed the best and most practicable service under existing condition. The company offered, subject to certain traffic arrangements, to establish a weekly service of 20-knot steamships between Liverpool and a St. Lawrence port during the summer months, Halifax to be the Canadian port during the winter months, for a subsidy of £265,600 sterling per annum during the first ten years, with a graduated reduction in the amount of subsidy during each of the two following periods of five years, the ships to be most modern in every respect and to be built especially for the route. In addition to this, the company signified its willingness to furnish a fleet of modern freight steamers of 10,000 tons capacity each, sailing at a speed of about twelve or vice. He confirmed the rumors previously current that the amount asked for by the company was 2005 000 that whatever may be the outcome of the negotiations for the fast mail service acknowledgment of the tender, and the rapid growth of your export tonwere completely in the dark as to the nage and the necessity for being in intentions of the Governments con- a position to meet the rates of any of be largely due to the confession of cerned. He informed the meeting that your competitors, make it imperative the business of the company was increasing so largely that in order to the Atlantic that it can quote through safeguard the interests of shareholders rates of freight and give through bills it would be necessary to secure the of lading without being compelled to negotiate for space and rates with independent steamship lines. To that end there will be submitted for your approval a resolution authorizing the afternoon she was closely guarded from directors to make arrangements the charter or control of vessels, if and when in their opinion they are required for the protection of the company's freight interests on the Atlantic Ocean. It is not expected, well to go slowly in the matter of speed, especially so far as freight steamers were concerned. He de-clared himself in favor of Sydney as of course, that these freight vessels, when provided, will receive any Govthe summer terminal port, and as-serted that Quebec was out of the ernment subsidy and therefore will be no restrictions to prevent your company from running them between such ports as may best suit the purpose of the company.

A ROSY FUTURE. The rapid and pronounced increase in the volume of traffle, leaving little opportunity to provide the additional facilities required for handling it economically, caused a perceptible in-crease in the ratio of working expenses for the year. Expenditures are being made as rapidly as possible to meet present and future requirements. While, of course, there will be years when from uncontrollable causes your revenue will suffer some diminution, it may be safely assumed that the settlement and development of territory now in progress give promise of a general improvement in your earnings during the next few years, even more satisfactory and gratifying than the advances made during the past seven years. Indeed, I cannot ity of management, and is merely help personally expressing my convictorlowing the example of big American' tion that the company has barely enrailways. A lease of the Ottawa and Northern and Western amalgamated lines and an issue of consolidated debenture stock on account of the Pheasant Hills branch referred to in the annual report were authorized.

A resolution was adopted, authorizing the directors to hold charter, work and run such steamships as they may find necessary to provide for and protect the trans-Atlantic traffic of the company.

The directors and officers were all re-elected.

THE CUNARD LINE'S PROPOSAL

London, Oct. 1 .- The British Government's agreement with the Cunard Line is expected to have an important influence on the Canadian fast mail negotiations. If, for instance, British Government is willing to lend money to maintain a mercantile marine, why not for building Canadian as well as New York steamers? Owners would then get money at 2% instead of 31% or 4 per cent. The fact that the Cunard Line undertakes to build two 24-knot boats is accepted had forgotten my jacket. He opened most regretably, as almost disposing of the door. this idea of Canadian steamers outrivaling New York, for estimates prove that a 24-knot boat costs at least $1,500,000 more than the 20-knot steamers upon which the Canadian Pacific

CRAFT TRAGEDY A MURDER PLOT

Four Men Planned to Get the Victim's Money.

CLUES FOLLOWED BY POLICE

A Woman's Confession Clears Up the Mysteries in the Atrocious Empire Killing.

New York, Oct. 1 .- Four men are now implicated in the murder of Capt. James B. Craft early Saturday morning in the Empire Garden Hotel at No. 38 West Twenty-ninth street.

Three of the men. Thomas and Robert Kelly and Alexander McEneaney, are now in the Tombs, and the police of the West Thirtieth street station are closely trailing "Jack" Kelly.

If the crime is fastened upon these four men, or any one of them, it will great friend of "Jack" Kelly. This girl, who was in the Empire about the time of the murder, has told all she knows of the tragedy. When arrested by Capt. Sheehan on Saturday for interviewers, and Coroner Jackson would not disclose a word of the confession she gave when arraigned before him at the criminal court building yesterday. The coroner sent her to the House of Detention on Mulberry street, and there no one is allowed to talk with her.

"Her evidence," said Coroner Jackson, "is the most important we have

Mamie Moore's confession has however, been learned by the American from a girl associate who lives with her at No. 116 West Twenty-ninth street, and by this girl the Moore woman's story is said to be as fol-

MAMIE MOORE'S CONFESSION. "Friday night about 1 o'clock I left the house and went up to Sixth ave-There I met a friend and we nue. walked to Thirtleth street, down Broadway to Twenty-ninth street, talking as we went along. My friend

Twenty-ninth street, and I went into the Empire. "I was sitting at one of the tables alone, when a man who was afterwards introduced to me as 'Capt. Jim' came and sat down alongside me. We commenced talking, and had a real jolly time, in which Thomas Kelly (Tobin), the waiter and his brother, Robert, participated. Jack Kelly, another brother, was in the place, and he frequently joined the party. "We sat there drinking some time, having, in all, I think, about four rounds of drink. Capt. Jim took bottled beer, and we all took cocktails. All of the beer was opened in the presence of Capt. Jim while I was with the party. "About 4 o'clock I noticed that the Kelly brothers and McEneaney, the bartender, were making signs signifying that it would be a good thing to get the man upstairs. Capt. Jim all the time showed a large roll of bills which he carried. Then 'Jack' Kelly drew me aside and said: 'Say, May, someone wants you downstairs.' this time McEneaney was bringing beer for Capt. Jim. and I noticed then that the beer had not been opened at

"When I got downstairs the place was deserted, so I went back upstairs. "Reaching the door to the drinking room, I found it locked. Knocking upon the door, I cried to Jack that I

"Capt. Jim was lying on the floor, and the four men, the Kellys and Mc-Eneaney, were pulling him upstairs. "I asked .Jack to return home with me, and together we left the place and entered the drugstore on Twentyninth street, where I purchased some medicine. When Jack left me half an hour later I think he went back to the Empire."

This confession, the police believe clears up the case. The theory entertained by the police as a result of this confession is that the four men, seeing the money in the possession "Capt. Jim," decided to get it by "knockout drops" and subsequent robbery.

Following out this theory, the police suggest that when the men found that the "knockout drops" had killed instead of stupefying "Capt. Jim," it was decided to get rid of the body by burning is up in the furnace. When the business of chopping up the body in the basement began McEneaney could not stand the horror of the act and summoned the police. "Jack" Kelly, the missing man, is described as short, stout and swarthy, with black hair, black eyes and a jet black mustache. Against Mamie Moore's confession stands the fact that the autopsy held at the morgue by Dr. O'Hanlon, assistant to Coroner Jackson, did not show that "Capt. Jim" had been poisoned. However, a further investi-

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY. New York, Oct. 1 .- The coroner's jury in the case of the murder of Capt. James Craft returned a verdict today that Craft came to his death by violence at the hands of Thomas Tobin. Alexander McEneaney and Robert S. Kelly. The three accused men were committed to the Tombs without bail to await the action of the grand jury. The headless body and the partly burned head of the captain were found last Saturday in this city in the basement of a building occupied by a re-sort known as the Empire Garden.
