Canada and the United States We do not at all agree with the Globe taking the position that the American railroads and American territory ought to be used and ought to be crossed over in sending our troops to the Northwest. In the first place we do not know that the Americans would grant us the privilege. before, even for the use of their Sault Ste. Marie canal, they snubbed us; and now even if we did ask them for permission it would take at least three days, valuable days they are, to get their consent. Nor can we agree with Mr. Blake in taking a similar position in the house of ommoria as he did on Wednesday night. The patriotic course is to go through our own territory to employ our own resources vulgar expression nothing would be such a "give away" on Canada as for us to go to Washington and ask the privilege which the Globe ad-

What we have to reserve all our influence with the American government for is this: not to ask the use of their railroads but to insist in the observance of that recognized international law which does not allow the into another for the purpose of invasion as or Battleford, or is put in the mouth of the femians did in 1866. If we are again threatened with a fenian invasion we can confidently go to Washington and ask the authorities to repress the fenian element. If, however, we go there and ask for permission to go through their country we ask of them a favor. On the other hand if we ask them to restrain the fenians we only demand a right. We are glad to know that Grover Cleveland is well disposed toward Canada and the mother country, and that he is specially well acquainted with the fenian element of Buffalo and New York, and that should it attempt any hostile demonstration towards Canada he will suppress it in the most summary fashion.

Now that we are in the midst of tro the political sore-heads all over the country have their opportunity. They are asking:

Lord Rosebery, on Wednesday night, said that it was not the object of the government to patch up a truce with Russia, "but to arrange a permanent modus vivendi regulating their rights in Central Asia.

It is very likely that this is true, after Beyond doubt Lord Rosebery speaks for Mr. Gladstone in this matter. England or Russia has drawn back; but it does appear as if Russia was the drawing-back party in this instance.

The main facts that we are sure of are these. That England all at once made a remendous rush of war preparations, and that directly afterwards we hear talk of peace. Has the Russian then been "cowed"? We shall soon hear.

Mail of March 18 The report that Riel is neiting to rebellion among the half-breeds in he Saskatchewan district is started from line to time, emphatic denials from Ott, wa producing no effect upon the energetic liar at the other end of the wire. As a matter of fact, Riel could not create trouble there if he were ever so much inclined, the half-breeds being in a hopoless minority, and having too much good sense to attempt violent measures. Mail of March 30. The people of Canal my rest assured that we will publish a tere semaional rumors, or catch-pen aports, but bona-fide news of a trustworth naracter. A grave crisis has arisen in the story of the country.

The World wishes to say, first, that there is great difference between Philip drunk and Philip sober, between the Mail of March 16 and the Mail of March 30, between "stuff and nonsense" and a "grave

Next, that the "energetic liar" is in the Mail office. For, notwithstanding the Mail's bluster of Monday that it would publish no mere sensational rumors or catch-penny reports, a large portion of the stuff published in its columns as special news is made up in its own building, it having in its service the most energetic liar' that ever put pencil to paper. His "romancing" ability is known in every newspaper office in Canada, and in many of the papers of the United states, and anyone knowing his hand can letect it at a glance, even though it is disguised under the date line of Qa'Appelle,

We ought not to forget to draw a distinction between Riel and the half-breeds who have joined him. Riel himself is a would be about $2,000 A. W. G. revolutionist. It may be true that he was invited by the half-breeds to come into the country, but be that as it may he was only too glad of an opportunity to stir up strife He is a rebel by profession. On the other hand the halt-breeds have turned rebels because they have grievances and have got it into their heads that the only way to right them is to rise in rebellion. If the grievances were righted they would become loyal again. Riel, on the other hand, is an inveterate enemy of the counry and ought to be dealt with in the most

La Partie of Monitor and the confederation is going to pieces, that the prince of treat has an article the gist of which is that confederation is going to pieces, that the case at big body without nerves, and that Canada is at bests lot of incongruous parts locely joined tegether. Rab because we are in the midst of troublons times that is no resson why we should depend to the contrary, to all patriotic men, is a reason why we should depend to the contrary, to all patriotic men, is a reason why we should depend the contrary to all patriotic men, is a reason why we should depend to the contrary, to all patriotic men, is a reason why we should stok together. Canada is not the only country that has had dis trials. Our neighbors to should not suppose the contrary to all patriotic men, is a reason why we should all solid to provide the contrary to their federation in rebellion against the general government. On the whole we in Canada have had very little to appeal to the south of us know what is is to have part of their federation in rebellion against the general government. these war days. The Mail printed yesterday afternoon a despatch that the settlers at Qu'Appelle fort were in dread of their lives because eighty Crees were there. Farrer forgot that Major Middleton is at Qu'Appelle, close at hand, with 650 men. That was a sad slip. It is hard to see the use of such "specials" and still harder to see why Farrer should go to the trouble of rehashing two columns of stuff about Indians which appeared in a city contemporary last Menday and telegraphing it from St. Boniface, Go light, Mr. Ned.

How is it that an ice boat, driven by the wind, sometimes actually goes faster than the wind that drives it? And how account for the fact that a turbine wheel goes faster than the water passing through it, which is the source of its power? These questions are dealt with and the explanation given by T. W. Graham, in an article which recently appeared in the Scientific American. A further elucidation of the subject is promised soon by the same

The Cedar Block Pavement. Editor World: The condition of the block pavement on Queen street west is agitating the minds of many of our citizens, agitating the minds of many of our citizens, and is being used by those opposed to the principal of ceder pavements, prejudicial to a continuance of that material or character of road. I therefore beg of you to inform the public from me that the cost of making good the damage done to that portion of Queen from Gladstone avenue to Yongs street will not exceed $250 or $300, and I will undertake to do the work for that money as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and that there is no road as cheaply constructed, easier or more

Canadians the geology of Canada should be more important than that of Europe, the struggle of 1812 than that of Europe, the struggle of 1812 than that of 1066, the study of Canadians than that of Greeks and Romans. The lake-dwellers of Switzerland, the pyramid-builders of Egypt and the temple-founders of Mexico, are worthy of study, but by Canadians the study of Canadian races—Indians, Eskimos, French, English—deserves more fitting recognition.

The Globe says people are asking who W. P. R. Street is, whom Sir John has appointed a commissioner to arrange for the settlement of the claims of the Northwest halfbreeds.
