

BOG-TIME HERE ON HALLOWEEN

Children and Grown-Ups Participate In Fun

MANY PARTIES ARE HELD

Night of Revelry For Residents of London

The night of All Hallow's came to London on Saturday night and found Londoners waiting for it with arms. Thousands of the conventional dress of the city cast off the traditional dress of everyday life and donned the garb of the "spook" world to the dismay and fright of those of the city who were unsuspecting. It was a big night for the youngsters and it was also a big night for the grown-ups who turned back the hands of time to the age of youth and pranced and capered around the city's street as Indians, eskimos, pirates and what-have-you. It was a night of revelry for young and old alike, and, according to the polls, it was a night of clean fun with very little disorder.

In all sections of the city the "spooks" appeared in doorsteps as bells were mysteriously rung and the occupants of the homes faced the necessity of giving those of the "spooky" world cakes, apples and candies to keep that particular house free from the wrath of the supernatural for another year. Although hundreds of the city youngsters must have benefited by the fact that these hundreds were seen eating apples, candies and what-have-you, it was a night of clean fun with very little disorder.

GATES REMOVED

While the youngsters in the city were in the unfortunate position of not having any great supply in respect to gates, they certainly made the most of what they had and, strange as it may seem, a number of gates in the city were removed. In fact, the greatest percentage of things movable moved on Saturday night. It is definite that these things could not move by themselves, so a dark and deep blue mystery is thus aroused as to just how these things really did find means of locomotion to transfer themselves from one place to another. The answer, of course, can be found in the spirit world.

Parties, marking the glorious Halloween season, were especially plentiful throughout the city on this particular night. The various dance halls and similar places of amusement provided special Halloween programs and with the pierrots and pierettes, the mountebanks and the hundred and one other be-costumed beings, they took in the festive appearance of the Mardi Gras. The shows, too, received a goodly portion of the merrymakers of the evening and more than one strange costume appeared among the regular "civies" of the regular movie audience.

Private parties were innumerable, with all the customary Halloween tricks playing a great part on the evening's program. Halloween in London has come and gone, but Londoners had a heap of fun while it was here.

ANNUAL SERVICE AT THE CEMETERY

Impressive Observance At St. Peter's Attended By 3,000

BISHOP FALLON OFFICIATES

Urges Prayer For Canonization of Edward Henry Dornier

Fully 3,000 people, many from out of town, journeyed to St. Peter's Cemetery yesterday afternoon to participate in religious services in memory of those buried within. The large assemblage of lay folk recited with deep reverence prayers and stood with bowed heads at each station of the cross.

Impressive in the extreme were the services, led by Bishop Fallon and diocesan clergy. Yesterday's pilgrimage to the cemetery is one held annually by Catholics out of respect for departed friends. A procession was formed at the entrance to the cemetery, then proceeding through the grounds to the Stations of the cross. At each station brief prayers were said, in which the entire gathering joined.

The winding avenues of the cemetery were lined with cars, while the throng in deep respect to the dead assisted with marked silence at the devotions. At St. Peter's, the procession halted where Bishop Fallon urged all to cherish with love the memory of those now gone.

He appealed to the gathering to offer their prayers to God to inspire and direct the church in the move now being made to canonize Edward Henry Dornier, a devoted and pious Christian, who died at the age of 70 years ago. "You all have heard something of this man, whose body now lies buried in this cemetery," Bishop Fallon said. "He was a distinguished gentleman and beloved by all who knew him. There are obstacles in the way at the present time which we hope to overcome, and I ask all to pray that God may enlighten us in the right direction. It is a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead, for we loved them in life, let us not forget them in death."

"If we pray fervently we will come to know that it is the will of God in our move to make Edward Henry Dornier a saint."

ROYAL WELCOME FOR ARMENIANS

Boys From Georgetown Farm To Visit London To Morrow

A royal welcome awaits the 20 or so young Armenians from the Georgetown Armenian farm when they pay their first visit to London to-morrow.

Arriving shortly after 2 o'clock the boys, who will be accompanied by Rev. Dr. Pearce and Mr. Alexander, will be entertained at the Y. M. C. A. until 4 o'clock, when they will join the Boy Scouts and cadets of the city in a parade.

At 5:30 the Kiwanians will drive the young guests to the McCormick dining hall, where they will be entertained at the civic dinner given in honor of the Women's Institute convention, and will proceed on a fine little play to entertain the ladies.

From McCormick they will go to the Central Collegiate, where at an open meeting to which all the citizens of London are invited, they will put on a program. Moving pictures will also be shown of the work on the Georgetown farm, where a number of these young boys from Armenia are finding a happy haven and opportunity for employment and education.

ANNIVERSARY OF GUNPOWDER PLOT

Local Orangemen Commemorate Frustration of Conspiracy

ATTEND BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. R. J. Murphy Draws Lessons From Historic Incident of 1605

At a service yesterday afternoon in the Wortley Road Baptist Church, city Orangemen commemorated the discovery of the gunpowder plot to blow up the English Parliament in 1605, for which Guy Fawkes and his fellow conspirators later paid with their lives.

Rev. R. J. Murphy, pastor of the church, likened the discovery of the plot to the delivery of the Israelites from bondage in that it showed the divine hand of Providence. The annual commemorative services, he believed, served the same purpose as the monument of stone erected as a reminder of the Israelites' delivery as recorded in Joshua 4, verses 21 and 22, from which he took his text.

There were approximately 200 Orangemen at the service, representing every lodge in the city. Members of the ladies' organizations were also present in goodly number and were given seats at the front of the church. The Orangemen and women paraded to and from the church, the procession being headed by the London Orange brass band.

In charge of the march was Deputy District Master R. B. Fox. The marshals were Ernest Langford and John Morrison. Among those present were: E. T. Essery, K. C., past grand master of Ontario West; Dr. S. G. T. Bean, county master; Joseph Murray and A. Nevin, past county master.

ENDURING LESSON.

In the erection of the monument to the delivery of the children of Israel, Mr. Murphy saw two objects, namely:

PROF. MAVOR DEAD

Former Professor at Toronto University Succumbs in Glasgow

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—Word was received to-day of the death while on a visit to Glasgow, Prof. James Mavor, formerly occupying the chair of political economy at the University of Toronto. Professor Mavor, who was born in Scotland in 1871, was a well-known and an author and lecturer on economic subjects.

Prof. Mavor had suffered a severe heart attack in the early summer and it is thought that his death was due to a renewal of the same trouble. He had contemplated spending the winter at Montpelier with his old friend, Prof. Patrick Geddes.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Prof. James Mavor, of Harvard, and Wilfred Mavor, a distinguished war veteran, now living in Cleveland, Ohio, and a daughter, Mrs. F. J. Moore, of Toronto. Three sisters and a brother reside in Scotland.

MOTOR CAR BACKS INTO WATER HYDRANT

An auto, bearing license No. 90-405 and driven by Russell Sage, 578 Kintz street, crashed into a hydrant at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets at 8:25 o'clock last night. The accident occurred when Mr. Sage was in the act of backing his car out of a parking space on the west side of Richmond street, just south of Dundas, and, misjudging the distance, crashed into the hydrant.

FRIENDS CROSS STYX TOGETHER

Comrades of Years Die Within Few Minutes of Each Other

CHATHAM, Nov. 1.—Bernard Fullerton and Peter Gaudin, well-known residents of this city, and for many years very intimate friends, died this morning within a few minutes of one another.

Mr. Fullerton, although suffering from heart trouble, was around as usual last night, when he received word that Gaudin, who had been ill several months, had only a few hours to live. It is thought that the shock proved too much and he passed away this morning. He was 67 years of age and is survived by two brothers, Richard, of Cedar Springs, and William, of Belle River.

Peter Gaudin was born 62 years ago and resided in Chatham practically all his life. One sister and two brothers survive.

HEENAN'S MAJORITY 272

KENORA, Ont., Nov. 1.—Peter Heenan, Liberal, was elected in Kenora-Rainy River by a majority of 272 over Machin, Conservative. One poll to hear from will not change the standing.

POLICE CHIEF NOT RESIGNING

Chatham Official Awaits Decision of Commission

CHATHAM, Nov. 1.—Rumors to the effect that he had been asked to resign were denied on Saturday by Daniel MacLachlin, chief of police. Some weeks ago the police commission held an inquiry into alleged irregularities of the part of the police chief, at which the official denied the charges. Since that time there has been no meeting to decide on what action should be taken. Mr. MacLachlin stated he had thought of handing in his resignation to the commission at the last of the week, but, on the advice of his counsel, decided not to take any action until the commission reaches a decision on inquiry.

ANNIVERSARY OF GUNPOWDER PLOT

Local Orangemen Commemorate Frustration of Conspiracy

ATTEND BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. R. J. Murphy Draws Lessons From Historic Incident of 1605

At a service yesterday afternoon in the Wortley Road Baptist Church, city Orangemen commemorated the discovery of the gunpowder plot to blow up the English Parliament in 1605, for which Guy Fawkes and his fellow conspirators later paid with their lives.
