The Peace River Country. One of the surprises of the last few years is the large section of the country known as the Peace River district, extending north from Alberta and reaching to ward the rivers which flow into the Arctic Ocean, which was regarded as given up to perpetual winter, is now found to be quite capable of producing good crops of all the common vege tables and grasses. . Tomatoes grov and ripen in the open air. Already a large number of settlers have made their homes in this section, and there is little doubt that in the coming year: it will contain a large and prosperous

The Flora and Fauna. The pages re lating to this subject are very interest The barren coast of Labrado at the mouth of the Gulf of St. Lawrence is in almost the same lat1tude as the southern coast of British Columbia, and is a little south of the most southerly portion of the Britisl. Isles. Though so nearly alike in latitude, what a great difference in temperature, in native animal life, and ir the products of the soil, between Lab rador and the other parts mentioned, the former bound for most of the year in snow and ice, the latter feeling little of the cold and discomforts o winter. This difference is chiefly oc casioned by great ocean currents. eastern coast of America is chilled by the cold Arctic currents coming down through Davis Straight from the polar by the Japan current which sweeps toward these shores. The Gulf stream coming up from the Gulf of Mexico whence it derives its name, warmed the east coast of the U. S., until it meets what is called he "cold wall." It is then deflected easterly, joins another current coming from outside the West Indies, and together they flow or to the British Isles, producing a semi-opic vegetation.

Immigrants. During the years 1910 the United Kingdom was in 1913, when numbered 150.542, the smallest in 1916, when it numbered only 8,664. The same year, 1913, also witnessed the largest immigration from other countries, the number being 251,890, of which a little more than half was from the United States. The others were from pretty much all over the globe

A lady employed as a nurse in a hospital at Lamont, in the Province of Alberta, and well acquainted with the Ruthinians, describes their homes as very primitive. Some have reached the dignity of a two-roomed house, with an upstairs, made of boards and plast ered, and with sufficient windows,but most of the houses are sod roofed. single-roomed, with one bed, and clay floored. oman and her children. These people have for many centur-es been fatalists. They have believed that all sickness, and suffering are sen' by God to purify the soul, and, there-fore their duty is simply to bear their sorrows, without any effort to avoid or relieve them. They are beginning however, to appreciate the value of the hospital, which has been established for their benefit. It contains accommo dation for almost twenty patients, but by the borrowing of cots and the com mandeering of baby carriages and clothes baskets, for juvenile patients, room has been made for about thirty. On one occasion a place was found fo one small boy on a table, until he was one small boy on a table, until he was sent away recovered. On another occasion a little half-breed girl was brought one hundred and fifty miles in a "Prairie Schooner," drawn by horses This occurred during the bitterly cold days of last January. Lying on a stretcher she was kept from freezing by a fire kept up by wood gathered as by a fire kept up by wood gathered o

The first patient received in the hospital was a Canadian boy stricken with fever. He is now somewhere in France serving his King.

Vhat a variety of ideas, predilecwhat a variety of neas, predifications, prejudices and ambitions are represented in this motley multitude, cast' into the Canadian mill to be ground up and manufactured into patriotic, law-abiding citizens!

refinal Witness of the 3rd inst. cor tains a very interesting and encouraging account of the progress, financial, edutional and moral, made by the Ruthinians in the Province of Saskatchewan. It is accompanied by photos of groups of intelligent looking young men who appreciate their Canadian opportunities and are devoting their time and ability to the welfare of their fare for the round trip. Valid for return until Tuesday, July 3rd, 1917. Ask agent for particulars.

Whether the fatality was he result of an accident or other vise has not as yet been learned. Lawrence was norn in Bridgetown and spent his boyhood days here. He was a bright, happy boy, of generous disposition, and made many friends. Mr. and Mrs Crowe have the profound sympathy of a host of friends in Bridgetown, in which the MONITOR joins.

Married in Wolfville

PICK'ILSLEY On the 20th of June, 1917, at 2:30 p.m., a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Pick, Wolfville, N. S., when their eldest daughter, Vesta May, graduate and recent librarian of Acadia College, was united in marriage to Mr.

She was the picture of girlish beauty, in her handsome dress of silk crepe-de-chene and lace wearing a veil caught in and lace, wearing a veil caught up with lillies of the valley and carrying a boquet of lillies of the valley and orchids.

Rev. N. A. Harkness, pastor of Wolf-ville Baptist church, officiated, using the double ring ceremony, in the presence of the immediate relatives and girl friends; followed by a solo "Because," sung by Mr. Lewis Pick, brother of the bride, and accompanied by Miss Frances Stackhouse.
