Underwood

The Underwood Unit, Bill or Order Typewriter is used to facilitate the handling of bills or orders.

The order is made out upon a set of unit forms, as many as may be required for different departments. The original is the invoice; the second, an office copy or price sheet: the remaining copies may consist of acknowledgments, requisitions, shipping memoranda, etc., which are distributed to the various departments after the order is entered.

The forms may be so designed that each will contain only the information required by its special department. Let us send you a book about it.
