freedom's cause. Moczulski's visit provides us with the opportunity to hear firsthand of the repressive conditions in Poland and of the important work carried out by Solidarity in its fight for basic human rights.

Moczulski's courage and dedication in the face of stern opposition are inspirational, and his words give us pause to reflect on the good fortune we enjoy in this free and democratic nation.

I hope my colleagues will join with me in welcoming Mr. Moczulski to Canada and in expressing our gratitude for his tremendous contribution to the cause of freedom and human rights.

REVENUE CANADA*COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX FROM FISHERMEN—EFFECT OF RULING ON INDEPENDENT FISH BUYERS

Mr. George Henderson (Egmont): Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of the House a problem confronting our independent fish buyers. According to the garnishment provision in Section 224 of the Income Tax Act, fish buyers can be directed by Revenue Canada to collect income tax from certain fishermen.

The fish buyers point out that this process creates costly and time-consuming bookkeeping which hinders a normally quick business transaction. It is a financial burden as well because the buyers must make a percentage payment to the Government even before they are able to deduct payments for any accounts owed to them by fishermen.

● (1410)

There is an additional risk because the buyers alone are responsible if mistakes are made in the collection process. Finally, the process has created unfair competition between buyers. When a fisherman is faced with tax collection from one buyer, he often chooses another buyer instead, to avoid the tax deductions.

It is for these reasons that these fish buyers urge the Minister of National Revenue (Mr. MacKay) to develop an alternative system of tax collection for fishermen. If this cannot be done, at least the Government should provide adequate financial compensation to these fish buyers for their services.

I urge the Minister to resolve the matter in consultation with independent fish buyers. I look forward to his decision.

POLICE WEEK*COMMUNITY-BASED POLICING INITIATIVES

Mr. Ken James (Sarnia—Lambton): Mr. Speaker, I should like to recognize Police Week. I am pleased to have this opportunity to recognize the efforts of the Canadian police community and, in particular, to focus attention on the development of community-based policing in Canada.

Community-based policing is not a new idea. In one form or another it has been a key element of the police philosophy for a long time. I am pleased to note that the Solicitor General (Mr. Kelleher) is also a strong supporter of community-based policing initiatives.

We must not rest on our laurels, however. There is much more to be done. In coming years we must renew our efforts to ensure that all Canadian communities benefit from what we have learned.

We must look closely at the needs of young people who are at risk of conflict with the law. We must give more attention to crimes of violence, abuse, and exploitation. We must give particular attention to the protection of women, the elderly, ethnic minorities, and our children.

We must work together with our colleagues in municipal and provincial Governments, in police forces, in other federal Departments, and in the non-governmental sector, to develop police and community prevention programs and to assist the business community and private citizens to implement crime prevention strategies.

NATIONAL PARKS*SOUTH MORESBY—DELAY IN ESTABLISHING NATIONAL PARK

Mr. Jim Fulton (Skeena): Mr. Speaker, the Prime Minister (Mr. Mulroney) met with Premier Vander Zalm two months ago to seek his support in setting aside South Moresby as a national park reserve. The Prime Minister and the Minister of the Environment (Mr. McMillan) have chosen this area as the highest priority in Canada for designation as a national park reserve. Premier Vander Zalm recognized this and, in the March 9, 1987 Speech from the Throne, promised to expedite negotiations and to seek a bilateral agreement to develop the enormous tourism potential of the area.

Since that time Conservative Members of Parliament from British Columbia have worked hard to discredit the proposal and to undermine the work of the Prime Minister and the Minister of the Environment. This activity has fostered bad faith negotiations to the point where B.C. now proposes 10 more years of logging throughout South Moresby and a price tag of over $100 million for what would be left.

Canadians and the Haida nation have a right to know just how duplicitous some B.C. Tory MPs and Social Credit
