

an organist in Edinburgh who died about thirty years ago. These boys were born in Edinburgh, their English mother dying soon after their father they were brought up in London, England by their mother's sister. At the outbreak of war the elder - Karl Waller, a journalist attached to the Kansas City Star left his wife and child to go to London, England to enlist in the army, leaving his wife to provide the bread and butter by her own journalistic efforts. Arrived in London he was declared physically unfit for the army but was eventually sent to the U.S.A. as a member of a secret mission giving information with regard to the ^{prosperity of the} Allies cause to the American Government, and also supplying that Government with information as to the attitude of the Middle West. In short one of the missions that helped the American Government to understand the situation and finally line up with the allies.
