

tions, whose admirable reports, appreciated first in Britain and the United States have now at last convinced Canadians of the value of their archaeologist, Mr. Boyle in a paper read on 17th Sept. at the anniversary of the Society used these words, "For local history purposes there is nothing superior to the local museum. Wherever there is a good library there should be a good museum ; one without the other is incomplete, it should supplement the library and be supported by the country as well as the library. Object teaching is the oldest kind of teaching, and every object should illustrate a point, enforce some statement, or elucidate something otherwise obscure."
