Not a Religious But a National Movement, Says T.P. O'Connor, Who Brings a Message of Good Cheer to Toronto Irishmen.

"At this moment, in a room in Dublin Castle, an Irishman and a home ruler is drafting the scheme which will be proposed to parliament next February," were the comforting words which T. P. O'Connor, M.P. for the Scotland division of Liverpool, addressed to an audience of 2500 in Massey Hall last Saturday night. In Dublin Castle, he proceeded, were being laid the foundations of a Irish parliament. "I am not ashamed to beg for Ire land. I hope when my history is written that it may be said I was the best beggarman for Ireland since Dan

In this respect also the meeting was very successful, a collection of $1600 being taken up, which the committee undertook to make up to $2000 for the funds of the Irish parijamentary party.

The chair was taken by M. J. Haney, who contributed $500 to the fund. When Mr.O'Connor and Maj. Joe Downey, M.L.A., appeared there was great appeause for the two Irish statesmen are journalists. Among others on the platform wree Hon G. W. Ross, Robert Jaffray, James Conmee, M.P., L. V. McBrady, K.C., Eugene O'Keefe, E. J. Hearn, F. P. Lee, Frank Pelec, H. H. Dewart, K.C., J. T. Loftus, Dr. McMahon, L. J. Cosgrave. Frank J. Walsh, Joseph Gibson.

The motto "Cead (spelled Caed, however) mille failthe" hung over the orchestra, and "God Save Ireland" over the galleries. Palms and ferns were banked in front, and red, white and green drappenes were mingled with Union Jack trophies and tri-colors and green flags with the harp of Erin. An orchestra played a "Salute to Erin," and other selections, and Ruthven Macdonald and Agnes Curran were encored in several vocal selections.

HORRIBLE HOLOCAUST AT HONGKONG

Many of the 2000 Chinese Passengers Huddled Together and Only Singed, While Others Were Incinerated Beyond Recognition-Fire Probably of Incendiary Origin, the Outgrowth of Boycott Against British Beats.

Hongkong, Oct. 14.—Hundreds of passengers of the steamer Hankow of the China Navigation Company's fleet of London were burned to death to-day in a fire which completely destroyed the vessel while she was moored at her wharf. Many others jumped into the harbor and were

The Hankow carried 2000 Chinese passengers, men women and children, and seven Europeans and a cargo including 300 bales of matting, 560 bales of raw silk and 400 bales of waste tilk. The vessel arrived from Canton at 3 o'clock this morning and was shortly afterwards moored

The chief officer reported to Captain Branch that the ship was after.

The captain then directed the chief engineer to turn on the water thru the fire hose. This was impossible, for the reason that within 5 minutes after the alarm was given the Hankow was ablaze fore and aft.

Captain Branch then awakened the European passengers, who were rushed down the gangway, the ladies in their night-clothes.

A VERITABLE FURNACE.

A VERITABLE FURNACE.

The crew was compelled to leave the ship, which, by this time, was a veritable furnace. The Chinese steerage passengers were thrown into a frightful panic. Horrifying shrieks and cries to save their lives were heard, but it was impossible, owing to the inflammable nature of the cargo. Responding to signals from the British cruiser Flora, the naval dockward despatched contingents of engines and assistance. The land and floating brigades of firemen made herculean efforts to extinguish the flames, which leaped to a height of over 60 feet.

The British steamer Pow An, which was berthed at the same wharf, was towed out to save her from destruction. A neighboring pier 100 yards distant was burned to the water's edge. Governor Nathan, accompanied by his aide de camp, arrived at the scene at 4.15 a.m. Governor Nathan suggested scuttling the ship, but the suggestion was found to be impracticable.

The fire was brought under control at 6 a.m., at which time only the

The fire was brought under control at 6 a.m., at which time only the shell and hull of the Hankow remained. The gruesome work of recovering the dead was then begun.

SEVENTY-FIVE CORPSES.

The fire-fighters have already recovered seventy-five corpses.

Many of them were huddled together and only singed, while others were incinerated beyond recognition. Of the cargo 200 bales of raw silk were saved, but badly damaged by water. The remainder was totally destroyed.

There are many theories as to the cause of the fire. The first is that the fire was caused by the overturning of the lantern of a Chinese boarding-house runner, who came aboard seeking customers. The second was that an opium smoker accidentally set fire to the matting; the third is that it was caused by the crossing of electric wires. A fourth theory, and one that is considered the most probable, is that the fire was incendiary, and was an outgrowth of a boycott against British river boats

Montreal, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—It is said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is anxious to have Hamar Greenwood, M.P. for York, England, enter Canadian public life, altho, with the exception of two ministers being present at the banquet given to the member for York last evening by the Reform Club, there were no other signs to indicate such a transition.

Mr. Greenwood said he would have been a traitor to that birthright which his British citizenship gave him if he had done otherwise rnan join the Liberal party of England.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and Hon. L. P. Brodeur both spoke, and the minister of marine was most outspoken in his imperial utterances. THE SITUATION TO-DAY.

Total losses of the bank are placed at $1,294,000.

President Cockburn says: "I honestly believe that McGill's speculations began in an effort on his part to enlarge the bank. One step led to another, and towards the last he became reckless."

Ex-Manager McGill says: "The losses were made in pursuance of the bank's business." Losses were made on securities. I deny that I have been engaged in speculation with the bank funds on my own account."

own account."
Some investments, made in McGill's own name, have been turned over to the bank.

The speculations were mainly in American stocks. Some of the last ventures were very wild.

The Ontario Bank directors are not superseded by the transfer. The question of criminal action has not yet been discussed. Pecuniary, not moral, dividends are sought at present.

President Cockburn intimates that the shareholders, when settlement is made, may not lose much. A meeting will be called in a few days, when the accountant has finished investigating.

To-day, at 3 o'clock, the formal transfer will take place.

Ottawa Conference Adopts Quebec Resolutions Asking for Increased Subsidy and Adjourns With

Ottawa, Oct. 14.-The interprovin cial conference is over. It ended at Premier McBride of British Columbia withdrew from the conference because the other premiers wouldn't agree to an extra subsidy for the Paific Province. In addition to the regular grant he wanted a sliding scale, owing to the peculiar situation of the province. He wanted this to start at $1 a head and decrease as the population increased. Mathematically this means $1.06 for British Columbia as against 80 cents for the other provinces.

Mr. Whitney moved that British Columbia be given an extra $600,003 for ten years, but Mr. McBride would not consent.

for ten years, but Mr. McBride would not consent.

By withdrawing Mr. McBride leaves himself and the province free to make renewed demands, not being bound to the terms of the conference.

The proceedings of the conference were handed out by Mr. Lanctot in the form of a series of resolutions, the subsidy demand being based on the Quebec resolutions with provision made for Alberta and Saskatchewan.

It was agreed to meet annually to
