Crown Actorney Drayton said Judge Winchester had declared that he had promised no immunity, and he himself could not recall it.

Mr. Dewart further complained of the position in which he found the conspiracy cases. There was one on which the information was laid some time ago and resterday when Bickinell & Bain, on behalf of the Ontario Bank, and "all other creditors" of the defendant entered an action at Osgoode Hall against G. R. R. R. Cockburn to set aside a transfer of property nade to his wife on Oct. 25. The property concerned is on the west side of Bay-street, adjoining the W. R. Brock building. The property has 48 feet frontage, and is assessed at $550 a foot or a total of $26,400. The market value is pirced at between $45,000 and $50,000.

The writ asks that the transfer be declared fraudulent, and to have it directed that the lands and premises be sold "for the defendants to defend on such that the lands and premises be sold "for that the lands and premises be sold "for that the lands and premises be sold "for the defendants to defend on such that the lands and premises be sold "for the defendants to defend on such that the lands and premises be sold "for the defendants to defend on such that the lands and premises be sold "for the property which has been investigated, but with the subject of investigation in the police court, and one (the present) in which has never been investigated, but with the subject of investigation in the police court, and one (the present) in which he subject of investigation in the police court, and one (the present) in which he subject of investigation in the police court, and one (the present) in which he subject of investigation in the police court, and one (the present) in which no proceed; one in which the crown was not yet ready to sproceed; one in which the crown was not yet ready to sproceed; one in which the crown was not yet ready to sproceed; one in which the crown was not yet ready to sproceed; one in which the crown was not yet ready to spot the proceed; one in which the crown was not yet ready to sproceed; one in which had been investigated, but which he said the crown was not yet ready to sproceed; one in which had that the lands and premises be sold "for the satisfaction of the debts and liabilities" of the defendant.

Mr. Arnoldi, counsel for Mr. Cockburn, said the property was bought with Mrs. Cockburn's money and placed in his name only as a matter of convenience.
