

NEW PAYMENT PLAN FOR LAYING MAINS

Suggest Basis of Frontage Tax Applicable to All Land Affected.

The city council will be asked on Monday to support a move from the board of control to adopt a new method of financing the laying of water mains in front of vacant lots.

Other matters that will engage the attention of council will be a recommendation from the board that a new housing commission be appointed, that the city treasurer be instructed to make an advance of $100,000 to the Toronto Transportation Commission.

The bylaw to authorize the extension of Teraplay street will also be before council. A bill which will probably meet some opposition will be presented to authorize the extension of Swanwick avenue to Lawlor avenue.

There is likely also to be a battle over the recommendation that a fence and bleachers be erected on the Rosedale athletic field.

Council will meet at 2.30 Monday afternoon.

The Great Readjustment.

Henry Ford didn't go out to upset the automobile business, but he did suddenly call the business world back to pre-war prices.

He and all the others in the motor business are readjusting to new conditions. So are all producers, even the farmers.

The textile mills, the shoe manufacturers, the sugar refiners, the furniture men, the hotels and restaurants, even the paper mills, have started on the way to lower prices.

The coal miners of England and their associated unions have heard the call. The farmers' drop in prices seems to come quicker than the packers' and the sugar barons'. But these latter are coming.

The Women and Sugar.

Canadian women can cut the price of sugar in two by refraining from buying it for one clear week and using no sugar. The speculators in sugar are the worst profiteers in the cost of living.

HERE'S A PROMISING CROP OF MACHINISTS

The youths, fifty or thereabouts in number, shown in the picture, have been learning the machinists' trade in the Grand Trunk shops at the foot of Spadina avenue, and have just about completed the four years' course. It will be agreed that they are a well set-up lot of young Canadians.

DR. M'PHEDRAN HIGHLY HONORED

Many Former Students, Now Eminent in Profession, Join in Presentation.

Fully a hundred former students of Dr. Alexander McPhedran, professor emeritus in medicine, Toronto University, gathered together at Hart House last night, and in happy, reminiscent vein honored their beloved and respected chief of former days in song, in speech and in both the presentation of a handsome Gladstone bag and the unveiling of a fine portrait of their guest of honor.

The occasion last night was very informal in nature, and it was one of felicitations, with Dr. McPhedran the pivot around which all others revolved in expression of sentiment and ideal.

Especially notable was the address of Dr. Barker, who pointed to the eminent place Dr. McPhedran had held in the hearts of both the profession and its students for at least twenty-five years, a place in the science of medicine eminent not only in scholarship, but also in humane ideal, an ideal strongly evidenced in his great and well-sustained interest in the welfare of inebriates.

Fitting response was made by the recipient of the honors of the evening, who was much affected by the stirring eulogies paid to his work and character. Addresses were also given by Dr. C. K. Clarke, whose memories took him back many years to his early student days; by Dr. F. N. G. Starr, who delighted all with his personal reminiscences, and by Irving H. Cameron, D.S., who dwelt in happy and kindly vein upon his reminiscences of Dr. McPhedran as a

VERDICT ON DEATH OF WOMAN MOTORIST

That Mary Meredith of Hudson, Michigan, met her death as a result of driving in High Park on September 5, was the verdict returned by Coroner Dr. W. G. Russell's jury at the morgue last night.

Mrs. Meredith was smothered when she was pinned under a car she was driving after it got beyond her control and backed down a steep hill into a swamp.

THE TIMBER INQUIRY.

The Riddell-Letchford timber commission, which resumes its sittings in Toronto on Sept. 30 to hear Hon. G. Howard Ferguson's evidence, expects to be in session for three days, and then proceeds to Fort Frances, where a sitting is scheduled for Oct. 11.

WHOLE WORLD IN NEED OF A CHANGE

Rev. Dr. Stone of Chicago Discusses Spiritual and Economic Upheaval.

'The whole world today needs adjustment,' said Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of Fourth Church, Chicago, speaking last night in Knox Church, Spadina avenue, in connection with the centennial celebration.

'We are always saying that things will adjust themselves,' Dr. Stone's lecture was based on the Scriptural quotation, 'Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God.'

'Upon this truth he built His Church,' he said. 'Confidence in a great truth stabilizes man's attitude to truth. When you speak I feel that you believe what you say, and my confidence is stabilized in you, the speaker repeated.'

'There is no religion in a man who does not serve,' the speaker continued. 'We are in danger nowadays of thinking of service as religion. If the church does not build to meet economic and social needs, other churches will. But there has been many a church built not to the glory of God. It is co-operation of service with Jesus Christ we need. Seeking to duplicate for the sake of activity is not service.'

'You cannot get a man's love by getting his pocketbook, but you will get his pocketbook by getting his love,' Dr. Stone explained. 'It is a soul that knows Christ who says, I am my brother's keeper.'

'These times are difficult times,' the speaker concluded; 'we would not be worth anything if they were not. What we need in the storm and the chaos is to get a look at His face that I may know Him and the power of His resurrection.'

At the beginning of the service Rev. Mr. Winchell read the last statement of the late Dr. Parsons, taken the day before his death, regarding the simplicity of his own burial and some vital principles of church doctrine, including that of the Lord's coming.
