PTE. L. S. LINCOLN
AMONG THE WOUNDED

Word Came To His Uncle Samuel Clifford, Turnkey

Samuel Clifford, turnkey of the city jail, received word this morning from Ottawa that his nephew, Pte. Lawrence Samuel Lincoln, had been admitted to General Hospital, Canada, on June 4, wounded. The nature of the injuries were not referred to in the despatch.

Private Lincoln is twenty years of age. He made his home with his uncle in St. James street. He was a book-keeper prior to enlisting. He joined a well known New Brunswick regiment and on reaching England was drafted to another unit. He had been in the trenches for several months and in recent letters told he had just come out of the trenches after taking part in the late big engagements. He is a young man and many friends throughout the city will hope for good news in the immediate future.

A WORD WITH YOU

Mr. "Man-in-the-Street" have you noticed the "increased production" of serious crimes since prohibition was thrust upon a thirsty people?

Boys are "jiggling" from school; teamsters have become so demoralized that they forget to strap their horses when they stop for a minute to have a chat with the cook; owners of "tin Liasies" have been discovered who speed up to the six-mile limit; city commissioners leave their clubs at home and become unfit to associate with at committee caucuses; women there are who are so lost to decency that they actually resort to "telling fortunes"—"two for thirty!" It's just awful!

Wonder if the fortune-teller can tell who "the tall dark stranger" is who has "crossed the path" of so many Mecklenburgers lately?

Some of the women thought he was a "Jack the Pecker"; others thought it might be a German who has got the idea in his head that he would find some "kameras" in Mecklenburg; some have ventured the opinion that he was a detective who was shadowing Commissioner Fisher's new pavement test the less-favored Queen-streets below should steal it, or lest some "traffic cop" with his little Ford should get away with it and plant it on the Marsh road; some have even hinted that there was a deep dark plot to kidnap the commissioner and transfer his valuable services to Halifax or some other out of the way place.

By the way, has anybody noticed a "detective" guarding Prince William street pavement? Or have they ever heard any one foolish enough to speed his car over that wobbly boulevard?

There's another matter, Mr. Man-in-the-Street, that I would like to put up to you. Is there anything in the traffic laws of this burg to prevent any one from making a noise like a street car? I mean like a St. John street car, or, to be more exact, a noise like street car No. 106 has been making lately.

This car ought to be arrested for disorderly conduct "against the peace of His Majesty the King," etc., etc. Or for cruelty to aged and decrepit street cars. As an "eye opener" in the morning car 106 might have been useful if "daylight saving" had come in force this summer, but at present it serves no public purpose except that of a "nerve-racker." Can't you bring some influence to bear upon it and its brother street cars to prevent it and then from hitting the high spots so hard? "Nuff sed just now. ABNER.

KILLED IN ACTION

The Calgary News Telegram of Friday, May 25, prints the following regarding Lance Corporal Harold A. Gross, formerly of Moncton, who was recently killed in action.

"Although the late L. Corp. H. A. Gross was never in Calgary, his relatives all live here, and are well known to the majority of Calgarians. He, too, possessed many friends in the city. Word has been received by his sister, Mrs. L. H. Barnes, who lives at 1208 Fourth street, northwest, that he made the supreme sacrifice in the recent heavy fighting. Although he left with a Winnipeg battalion, he made it his business to be transferred to a Calgary battalion on reaching England, and he was among Calgarians when he was killed in action.

"He is well known throughout the west, having travelled for Mooney's Chocolate and Biscuit Company with his headquarters at Winnipeg. He was born twenty-eight years ago in Moncton, N. B., and educated in the east. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gross, are living at 1282 18th Avenue, west. He has also another sister living here, Miss Mildred Gross. L. Corp. Gross was the only son, well liked and extremely popular, having a lot of friends all over the west."

HOW LIEUTENANT CLARKSON DIED

Was Leacing Bombing Party Against the Germans

Striking Letter From One of His Men to Brother Here—Gallant Officer Was Popular Young Man of This City

That Lieutenant D. B. Clarkson, who made the supreme sacrifice recently on the battle fields of France, died while leading his men against the foe, is the statement of a soldier who shared the perils with him. The letter was written to a brother of the departed hero by Pte. Edgar H. Sands, and was as follows:

In the Field, France, May 8, '17

Dear Sir:—

I am writing to inform you of the circumstances of your brother's death, which took place on the night of the 4th inst. He was leading his men in an attack on a German position when the activities of a section of enemy grenadiers seriously threatened the advance. Calling for volunteers Mr. Clarkson started over the intrenching rising ground with the intention of bombing out the enemy post. As he reached the crest of the rise, however, he received a fatal wound and fell. His men quickly removed him and rendered first aid, but the wound was mortal and within fifteen minutes he breathed his last. With your brother the rest of the D Company officers fell during this attack, but their effort was not lost. We took and still hold the position and our officers fell like true British officers—at the head of their men. I am writing you because, just before starting out, your brother handed me a few letters, saying: "If anything should happen to me, Sands, will you look after these? He put the initials on the envelopes. You'll find the addresses inside." He said good-by and he was off to lead his men up. In conclusion, allow me to say on behalf of the men of D Company in the words of another:

"Blend with your grief our sympathy in one, and know that, for his stirring worth, we loved him, too."

Yours sincerely,
EDGAR H. SANDS, PTE.
No. 79908, D. Coy., 4th Batt., C. E. F.

Lieutenant Clarkson was twenty-eight years of age and was one of the best known and most popular young men in the city. He was a member of the Elk Club, Sons of Scotland, R. K. Y. C., and the Y. M. C. A. He is survived by his father, J. R. Clarkson, who was formerly manager of the Partington pulp and paper mill, a step-mother and two brothers, one is in a mounted rifles unit, but who was discharged owing to rheumatism and deafness, and is at present employed manufacturing munitions. A younger brother, George B., is manager of a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Montague, P. E. I.

WILL RAISE THE CAR TRACKS

The Union Street, West St. John, Matter is Arranged

Commissioner Fisher's efforts to arrange for the raising of the street car tracks in Union street, West St. John, preparatory to repaving the street, have proved successful. He was informed this morning by the New Brunswick Power Company that they would raise their tracks in that street to the new level to accord with the changes in grades which will take place when the street is rebuilt.

This matter has been in the process of negotiation for a considerable period. The commissioner of public works was anxious to proceed with the work, which is much needed, but was unwilling to do so unless the tracks were raised, as it would be necessary to make a crown in the middle of one side of the street, with the result that surface drainage would flow to the tracks. The company had asked that the work be deferred until after the war on account of the high cost of labor and materials at present, but they have finally decided to go ahead with the undertaking.

The street car company will commence the work of raising the tracks on Monday morning. The department will commence operations in preparation for the paving work on Monday morning. As the department has been busy with other work recently, Commissioner Fisher says that the delay in getting a start on this job has not been of serious consequence.
