AMERICANS ACQUIRE 6 ENGLISH PAINTINGS

Lord Glenconner, Who Recently
Sold Two by Reynolds, Disposes of More Masterpieces

London, Sept. 6.—The list of paintings by English masters which are to cross the Atlantic has received another addition. Lord Glenconner, whose sale of two fine pictures by Reynolds was announced a few days ago, has now sold to Arthur Ruck, Hoppner's "Franklin's Daughter," two Turners, two Moorlands and Romney's "Lady Derby." All of them have found American purchasers, the identity of whom is not announced. Lord Glenconner, who succeeded to his title in 1920, has been induced to thin out his picture gallery, which still remains important, on account of heavy incidence of death duties.

John Hoppner, painter of "Franklin's Daughter," was a painter of royalty and the people of fashion of his day. He was a contemporary and rival of Sir Thomas Lawrence and a follower of Sir Joshua Reynolds, whose style he imitated to a certain extent, though he had individuality. In a revival of interest in the work of the English portrait painters at the end of the last century, it was Hoppner's work, which had not previously been so highly considered, which brought a

FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST FOR HEALTH CONTEST

Prize winning reports soon to be announced—number of contestants greatly exceeds expectations

Every mail brought entries by the thousand to the Fleischmann Health Contest Judges swamped with work ask postponement of announcement for two or three weeks

REPORTS on "What Fleischmann's Yeast has done for me" have been received from every state in the Union, thus assuring a nation-wide participation in the Contest.

And these reports have come from schoolgirls of fifteen and grandfathers of seventy—from farmers, lawyers, teachers, firemen, housewives, business girls—from people of almost every age and in almost every walk of life.

The Contest closed August 15. The judges have been steadily at work ever since—reading, comparing, deciding the merits of each report. But so immense has been the amount of work involved that it will be necessary to postpone for a short time the final announcement of the prize winners.

We are sorry for the judges! But we are much pleased over the results of the Fleischmann Health Contest, which have been astonishing, far exceeding our expectations.

We knew, of course, that the use of Fleischmann's Yeast for health was nation-wide. The report of our field force from every part of the country, as well as our sales figures, told us that, and many letters in the past have come to us to tell us the same story.

But it is a most gratifying and impressive experience to have thousands upon thousands of men and women send in personal reports to tell us how their lives have been brightened by the use of this simple fresh food, Fleischmann's Yeast; how they have been relieved from constipation and all of its attendant evils—from skin and stomach troubles, from depressing lack of strength and vitality.

"My friends actually stop me on the street and ask me what wonderful thing has happened!"

"It accomplished in six months what I had failed to overcome in six years!"

"I was skeptical when I first heard of it, but today I would not take ten thousand dollars for what Fleischmann's Yeast has done for me!"

Such phrases by the hundreds from people far and wide reflect the new importance of Fleischmann's Yeast in correcting many common disorders and in restoring many of their victims to buoyant health.

The 153 prize-winners will be announced in this publication the latter part of this month. Meantime we want to thank each of the thousands of participants in this great Contest, and to assure them that each report is receiving most careful consideration.

Delicious with Hot Milk for Children

You can make one of the most delightful drinks—one which the kiddies will thoroughly enjoy—with hot milk and Postum. Children like a hot drink as well as their parents. But it is natural to hesitate before giving them tea or coffee because they contain the poisons tannin and caffeine. Postum is a wholesome, invigorating, delightful beverage which may be given them at any time with perfect safety.

Postum is a pure, nutritious beverage absolutely free from harmful ingredients. So convenient, because made instantly in the cup with hot milk or boiling water. Economical—it costs 1/4-cent a cup.
