ANGELICAN LAYMEN HEAR OF WORK OF FORWARD MOVE

In the interests of the Anglican forward movement, a meeting, especially for wardens and vestrymen of the Anglican churches of the city, was held in the school room of St. John's (Stone) church yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large gathering representative of all the churches. The object of the meeting was to explain to the wardens and vestrymen what organization already had been made for carrying on the movement systematically and to give them a full realization of their own responsibility in their own parishes. The chairman of the meeting was Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hasen. Many impressive addresses were heard from the speakers among the clergy and laity.

Following the singing of the hymn, "Fight the Good Fight," prayer was offered by Canon G. A. Kubring. Canon R. A. Armstrong was the first speaker and, taking as his theme the inception of the movement, he told of its origin at the meeting of the general synod in the fall of 1918. He laid emphasis on the spiritual side of the movement, pointing out how, with no apparent co-operation, all denominations had been simultaneously planning a forward movement campaign. The movement, he declared, was essentially a spiritual one.

Venerable Archdeacon H. A. Crowfoot, the second speaker, dwelt on the need of the realization of the duties of stewardship, which is one of the main features of the campaign. He spoke of stewardship, not of money alone, but of talents also and urged all to take advantage of the present opportunity time for making the best use of talents and wealth.

Horace A. Porter dealt with the needs of the diocese of Fredericton, specially urging laymen to take a more active part and a better interest in the movement. Rowland Frith spoke of the beneficiaries in the diocese, saying that funds for superannuation and for provision for the widows and orphans of clergy were pitifully small and that they came entirely from endowment, the churchmen contributing nothing. He considered the churchmen of the diocese in this particular were not fulfilling their duty. H. Usher Miller spoke of the mission work in the northwest and in foreign fields and of the great need for more men and more money to do the work systematically. W. S. Fisher, speaking of the results which were obtained in war and in business through efficiency, urged that the same efficiency of organization be brought to the forward movement. W. H. Harrison gave an outline of the meetings of the central council and of the authority given the committees of which are to make the systematic canvass. He dwelt upon the need of supplementing the present small salaries of the clergy.

The meeting closed with the benediction, pronounced by Rev. J. V. Young.

CELEBRATED THE ANNIVERSARY BY PAYING MORTGAGE

Yesterday being the twenty-first anniversary of the opening of St. Matthew's Presbyterian church, Douglas avenue, the occasion was duly celebrated. Rev. Thos. Stewart, D.D. of Halifax, preached at both the morning and evening services. At the evening service Dr. Stewart spoke on the missionary aspect of the all the western civilization, so highly prized today, was traceable to the gospel church was that, after 1900 years, most of the people of the world had heard nothing of it. The fact that mission work costs least of any and has the greatest results was another view of the matter. Several examples were given of the work of missionaries in different parts of the world and the speaker told the congregation not to judge any religion by its particular beliefs, but rather by its work in the spreading of Christianity throughout the world, which was the main business of the church.

Rev. H. L. Eisner, in a short address, urged the congregation to greater efforts, than had been made in the past for the aid of mission work. He announced that the mortgage on the church had been paid and would be burned at a public service which will be held for the purpose.

SHIPOWNERS MADE FABULOUS PROFITS

$750,000 on One Voyage, Ex-Official of Board Testifies at Washington.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Profits made by shipowners during the war were "fabulous" and "unbelievable," John H. Rosseter, former director of operations of the Shipping Board, told the senate commerce committee in testimony made public by Chairman Jones. The board realized enormous profits on some ships, he said, but the earnings of privately-owned vessels were even greater.

One ship owned by a company with which he had been connected, he said, operating under the board as a cargo carrier between San Francisco and Calcutta, earned in one voyage of 110 days, more than $800,000. This netted the board, he said, approximately $150,000 over the compensation allowed to owners and other expenses.

The Quistoneck, the first ship built at Hog Island, on a voyage of ninety-two days, under arrangements with the Italian government earned $59,622, Mr. Rosseter said. Net profits were $461,151 after taking care of $81,800 in depreciation, and $18,000 in interest. These earnings, however, were exceptional, and every ship did not yield such a profit. Mr. Rosseter said, but vessels under private management exceeded even these returns.

The board had fixed a rate during the war period of $66 a ton to Europe, he added, while the British rate was $88. Then they had certain so-called exceptions or licenses," he said, referring to the British rate, "where the rate went as high as $130 a ton, and in trades like cotton there was practically no control at all."

Losses due to sinkings and other causes amounted to about $27,000,000, the witness said, which was charged against the board's insurance division.

THREW HIMSELF IN FRONT OF TRAIN

Charged at Marylebone, London, with attempting to commit suicide, Frank Howard, aged forty-two, a porter, was said to have thrown himself in front of a train at Fiddling Street Station. George Heasley said that he saw the defendant take off his hat and coat and jump in front of an engine which was backing out of a platform. He shouted to the driver, who was able to pull up his engine.

Station Sergeant Sims said that two years ago the defendant threw himself into the wash at Hendon, and on that occasion he was handed over to the care of his wife. The man, whose wife said he was suffering from grief and the effects of war service, was remanded for medical examination.

Says 90 Per cent. of Auto Fatalities Are Due to Pedestrians

New York, Dec. 15.—More lives were ended as a result of automobile accidents in New York state this year than in the last seven years of war and banditry in Mexico, according to a statement made by Secretary of State Hugo, on the eve of a "safety first" movement to educate the children of the city's streets as to the dangers of the automobile.

In connection with the movement a new analysis of the state mortality figures was given out at the secretary of state's office. The classification of 10,500 motor accident fatalities showed 700 deaths were due to reckless driving, 850 to defective mechanism and 9,000 to carelessness on the part of the pedestrian. Of these 8,000 were among persons crossing the streets from the middle of
