

The secretary of the Vancouver Island Fish and Game Club has interview ed the officials of both the E. & N. and V. & S. railways, and both companies have agreed to discontinue the charge on dogs carried over their lines during the shooting season. Grouse and pheasants are reported to be very plentiful in the districts served by both railways.

The following appointments appeared in last week's Gazette: Charles Nelson Haney, of Vancouver, barrister at law, to be acting official administrator for the county of Vancouver, from the 15th day of August, 1905; Michael Pembroke Empey, of Harrison river, to be a deputy game warden for the Dewdney electoral

On Thursday the fourth annual exhibition of the Victoria Horticultural So ciety was brought to a conclusion. There was a large attendance and an excellent musical programme was rendered by the Fifth Regiment orchestra. From all reports the show will prove a financial success. This will be gratifying to the officials of the association, who labored so hard in the arranging of the display.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR

Slain While Intending to Intervene on Behalf of Woman Assassin Had Threatened.

(From Monday's Daily.) A crime of unusual ferocity startled he well known mining camp of Mt. Sicker yesterday morning. Its awful ence is that Joseph Bebeau, popular hotelkeeper, lies cold in death with several ugiy bullet holes in him, while somewhere in the wilds, hunted by a determined posse, roams his slayer, Fred Beach, with his death dealing weapon in his hand. So atrocious was the occurrence that has stricken the inhabitants of the district dumb, and so diabolically cruel the action of the as sassin, that it would not be surprising if his liberty were terminated only at the price of more blood, if not his own, that of some of his pursuers. Fully armed and desperate, knowing that he can expect but little mercy from justice if the facts are as set forth, the outlaw has at his command the elements that made the adventures of Tracey in Washington unique in the annals of crime.

As far as can be learned the murder was entirely unprovoked. The murderer had been threatening the life of a lady ecause of some matter that will not be made clear until an investigation is held. The victim hearing of the trouble started for the scene to intervene and was shot twice by his cowardly assailant who was ambushed behind a clump of bushes. Like a beast of the jungle, that once taking blood craves for more, the murderer attempted to kill some women and reply: a man who witnessed the deed from the steps of the hotel, but fortunately his aim was false and his lurid record for the time was ended. He is now in the woods and after him are several parties who have been ordered to omit no effort to capture him.

The particulars of the murder as learned by the Times this morning are these: About 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning while Mr. Thomas was in the back part of the Mt. Sicker hotel, a little girl named Mamie Campbell rushed into the room and exclaimed "Oh, come quick, Mr. Beach is trying to kill my mamma." Mr. Thomas ran out of the hotel through the front door, stopping a moment to listen. Hearing no sound of strife he hurried over to Mrs. Camp-bell's house a short distance away. He had gone about fifty yards when he heard several shots, the bullets singing past him and close to his head. Alarmed, he turned back towards the hotel. This was all there was to that particular phase of the tragedy.

Mrs, Campbell, the lady who had been threatened, had fled towards Mr. Bibeau's hotel in the meantime. The pro prietor, on hearing the shots started for hastened to his hotel. He reached the house and opened the door. Nobody was within, and turning around he saw Mr. Thomas running up the steps of the Mt. early in the afternoon, intending to troll | Campbell was. The other motioned to-

The latter and the women, thinking the murderer would follow them with a fusilade, hastily sought shelter inside. Beach then turned towards the Lenora mine and quickly walked along the trail, over the Tyee dump, to his cabin. There he sat down and wrote three letters, which have been found, out the contents of which have not yet een divulged. In the meantime the miners got together, took charge of Mr. Bibeau's body, while the provincial police at Duncans were communicated with. Officer Lomas at once hurried to the scene, notifying first the headquar-ters at Victoria, and Provincial Constable Halhed of Chemainus. Arriving there the officers placed armed guards at all the roads and trails, and surround ed Beach's cabin near the Richard III. mine. Reconnoitering they found the place deserted. Beach had left the cabin, sappeared into the bush, and up to the ime the Times went to press had not een heard of or seen.

So far the root of the deplorable affair not definitely known in this city. It said that Beach was infatuated with Mrs. Campbell, who is the widow of a miner, and who conducts a laundry. That he was threatening her is quite evident from the terrified exclamatio her lttle daughter who had run to the tide rips. To-day they are receiving the congratulations of their friends on their toppear that he had determined upon the destruction of the lady, for he had his weapon with him and it was loaded. Frobably the sight of Mr. Thomas has-tening towards Mrs. Campbell's house deterred him and the lady seeing her op-and is highly spoken of by the miners. Latterly he had occupied himself in the conduct of a hotel at the camp. His slayer, Frederick Charles Beach, was born in England and is thirty-three years of age. He lived for a time in the he States and then came to Nanaimo subsequently securing employment at Mount Sicker. He is a strong, well built fellow, about five feet ten inches in height. He is of fair complexion, KILLED BY MINER has a red face and a heavy moustache. He also is well known in Mount Sicket imp. In some quarters it is believed deranged and in such a condition the efforts of the police will be more diffi-cult than were he sane. Surrounded, he s likely to sell his life dearly, and with weapon and plenty of ammunition he will make his pursuers exercse the ut ture. An inquest over the body of the murdered man is being held to-day.

Clerk Gives Particulars of Operation of Large Amusement Place There - Controlled by Corporation.

The Crystal Palace-Winter Garden propect has certainly become a red-hot subject for controversy. For the nonce it seems to have dwarfed the water question, judging by the numerous letters that have been contributed to the newspaper columns by writers representing affirmative and negative sides. The first contest will be fought out in the council, perhaps to night, and it is quite evident that the councillors are not unanimous. Just precisely how they the measure reaches the ratepayers. Rich Ore Discovered at Depth Upon the Stemwinder.

A strike or ore, apparently of high grade, has been made on the Stemwinder property near Kimberley, says a Cran brook dispatch to the Nelson Daily News. This comes to the people of East Kootenay as a piece of good news in-deed. The Stemwinder is situated in the gorge of Mark creek, about one mile up the stream from Kimberley, which is 20 miles from Cranbrook. On each side of this gorge the mountain rises up sharply and on the north side is the famous Sullivan mine and on the south the North Star, equally well known. It was always thought that there might be something good found some day on this property as there is a showing of iron sulphide ore on the creek level of a width of 200 feet, and some years ago an 80-foot drift was made on this ore body, and it was also crosscut but nothing of any value was found, the remarkable fact being that no country rock was found in this drifting. The locality of this property, situated as it is between the North Star and Sullivan mines, made it an extremely hopeful proposition. The property is owned by Mann & Mackenzie, who have been prospecting on it for the past two nths and word was brought down from Kimberley the other day that a strike of high grade galena had been made at the end of a drift 100 feet in length, which had been driven along the south side of the iron body already men tioned. So far the extent of the strike has not been in any measure determined but being in contact with sach a large body of iron and at a depth of at least 1,000 feet below the ore bodies of the North Star and Sullivan, it is expected

RAPID PROGRESS

CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF ADVANCES MADE

Mr. Dinwiddie, of New York World, Was Passenger on Shawmut, Arriving To-Day.

Mr. Dinwiddie, a correspondent of the

New York World, who has been in the Orient for the last six or seven months and is now on his way to the great Amrican metropolis, arrived here Monday rom Japan on the steamsnip Shawmut. He travelled across the Pacific in company with Major Seaman, author of "From Tokio to Manchuria," and Frank Mathews, the latter's private secretary. All three are authors, among other books which Mr. Dinwiddie has written being "Industrial Porte Rico." "Industrial Cuba" was written by Mr. ....athews. Mr. Dinwiddie was one of the corres ondents in Japan who was able to get to the front early in the war. He was with Kuroki's division and had seen all the engagements up to the battle at Liao Yang. He kept moving from one command to another, and in this way was always able to see what was taking place. With the Japanese officers there was always a fear that the correspon ents accompanying them would get kill stand it is too early to say, but there is ed or that as foreigners they might in some correspondence divulge some important information concerning the novements of the army. But the correspondent was well treated throughout and Mr. Dinwiddie is one of the few who have come from the Orient with no complaint to make. He was extended every reasonable courtesy and is s proud of the country that he calls him self a strong pro-Japanese. The great secret of the Japanese successes, Mr. regard to an institution similar to the one proposed for Victoria, which is oper- Dinwiddle remarked in conversation this morning, is their organization. They had prepared for everything during the war save perhaps the correspondent, and the newspaper men worried them. They came in such strong numbers that the problem of what to do with them became a serious one. There was a commo bond of sympathy between officers and men in the Japanese army which was entirely absent among the Russian forces. The Russians made the fiercest laid out extensive public gardens and drives, and established at the winter gardens a die, but they lacked organization. Their pavilion in which concerts are given twice officers drank and caroused and they always held aloof from the men. On the other hand the Japanese officer was per-2. It is impossible to say how much has been expended in developing the town for He would converse with them and even visitors as distinct from residents. While they are gaining their experience they waste a great deal, but the nation reckons that this loss is more than offset by the progress being made by the nation as a whole. All through Japan at the present time iron factories are producing projectiles just as fast as they can turn them out, continued Mr. Dinwiddie. And this is but one instance of the high degree of preparedness which the country is making in every direction. The government has mapped out a railway policy which will extend over the coming twenty years. In a similar manner it has calculated on every phase of industrial expansion-not that in Japan there is a h lief in the government ownership of all public utilities. The government simply inaugurate an industry and having proven to its own satisfaction the success of any business then induce private enterprise to step in.

Mr. Dinwiddie tells of a smart piece of diplomacy on the part of Japan exemplified in the Bourgoyne case. Bourgoyne was a Frenchman who became a litary attache. He was arrested the charge of sending out news of the movements of the army from Hiroshina and also of the Japanese transports. Just before an important engagement he was accused of using the French minister's letter box. On trial he was con-victed of the offence and was sentenced the spirit of their law and at the same diplomacy in avoiding any international
