Miss Annie Harvey, one of our Nova Scotia teachers, left August 17th on the C. P. R. for Honolulu, via Vancouver. Miss Harvey is accomis principal of the Normal col-tionalulu. Mrs. Wood has visione her friends in Guysboro and Miss Hurvey goes with her set her affianced husband, Doc-Wood, who is holding a government position in Heela, eight miles from Honolulu. We understand that Doctor Wood has won honors in hospital work, and now holds a most excellent position. He is to be congratulated upon his choice of a young lady who is esteemed very highly both as an efficient and cultured teacher.—

Mrs. Wood and Miss Harvey passed through St. John Wednesday on their way to Hawaii. Edgar Wood is or was recently the It is interesting that the high school where he teaches is located in the palace formerly occupied by Queen Liliuokalani. He is a native of River Hebert, Cumberland county, and a graduate in arts of Mt. Allison, and in science of Cornell university. Mr. Wood went to Honolulu about three years ago. His brother, Dr. Herbert Wood, was also a Mt. Allison student, and who practiced medicine for a year or so at River Hebert. United States for Purposes of Navigation Regulations—Cuba to be Treated in a Different Manner.

To the Editor of The Sun:
Sir,—If you will kinfly publish the following corrections over my name I shall be greatly obliged.

In preparing the published report of the matriculation and junior leaving examinations, I regret to say that some errors were made. J. Amedee Legere should have been reported from Richibucto instead of Moneton; Percy Pedolla, Katle L. Troy and Lt. C. W. Weyman, R. L...

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—An important treasury circular was issued by the navigation bureau today defining the attitude of the executive department of the government toward Porto Rico. The policy adopted is the treatment of Porto Rico as a part of the United States, so far as laviga-tion laws are concerned. The fext of the instructions sent to collectors of and regulations in force re clearances, except that vessels of the United States only will be cleared for transportation of merchandise in the rade between the United States and Porto Rico.

This order conforms to the rule domestic law within the United States—that the coasting trade is ilmited to vessels built in the United States and having American regisers. Foreign vessels are permitted to touch at one American port, and afterward proceed to another American port, with foreign goods, but not permitted to take on American goods for transportation between American

The enforcement of this rule in Porto Rico will mean that goods from the United States can only be brought to Porto Rico in American vessels, but foreign goods may be brought in foreign vessels, even though they touch at an American port before going to Porto Rico. This action is of high significance, as an indication of the administration's policy, and was not reach without consultation betweeen President McKinley, Attorney General Griggs and Secretary Gage. It indicates that the president regards Porto Rico as an integral part of the United States for the purposes of navigation egulations, if not for the purpose of in applying the rule of the coasting trade in Porto Rico is technically only a military act, and not an adoption of the rule of the coasting trade as an obligatory rule of law.

The tariff of the United States will not be extended at present to Porto Rico, in spite of the mandate of the constitution that "all duties, imports and excises, shall be uniform throughout the United States." A special tariff—practically the minimum of fiscal tariff levied by the Spanish government upon goods from Spain— will be enforced by the military governor. The question whether the American tariff should be extended to the island will be left for the action of
