

Grand Division S. of T. Meets at Dorchester

Semi-annual Session opened yesterday and will be continued today—Grand Worthy Patriarch's report tells of a successful half year's work.

Dorchester, May 28.—At the semi-annual session of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, of New Brunswick, which opened here today the Grand Worthy Patriarch submitted his report which was as follows:

In the Providence of God we are permitted to meet in this semi-annual session of our Grand Division, under favorable auspices, in this beautiful village of Dorchester. I extend kindly greetings to you all, and trust that our meeting together may be enjoyable and profitable, and that as we look into each other's faces, and grasp each other's hands, we may have our faith strengthened, our courage increased and our determination renewed, so that we may go back from this gathering resolved to battle as ever before for the great cause of temperance in which our order has been engaged for so many years.

Since our last annual meeting, a half year, freighted with its deeds of good or evil, with its joys and sorrows, with its heart-burnings, and with its hopes has slipped into the past and beyond recall. As we look over the months that have gone, are we satisfied with the retrospect? Have we done the best we could? It is, perhaps, well for us to ask ourselves this question, and here we can see we have done well in the past, may we do better still in the future. If we have failed, may our failure bring us to a true realization of conditions as they are, and prove an incentive to further effort, and "stepping stones" to higher things. May we not be discouraged as we look back.

"Nor deem the irrevocable past, As wholly wasted, wholly vain, If, rising on its wrecks, at last, To something nobler we attain."

As we look around us we see much to encourage. The whole civilized world is aroused to the importance of the temperance cause, and the evidence of the best and noblest men of the world today goes to prove the righteousness and truth of the stand taken by the founders of our order, nearly three quarters of a century ago. In Russia a strong stand is taken against the use of alcohol. In Hungary, many tell a similar story. In the United States great progress is being made in driving out legislation liquor, and in our Canadian provinces the crusade is being waged continuously. In our own Province of New Brunswick devoted men and women are waging war against the rum devil by educating the young in the principles of total abstinence, and so far the enemy seems to be too firmly entrenched and its influence too strong for the temperance people to obtain that for which they are striving, and still must strive—a provincial prohibitory law. We note with satisfaction the efforts being made in the city of St. John to drive out the rum traffic, and I trust the time will come when this stronghold of the rum interests will have a law on the statute books that shall say to the rum seller, "Thou shalt not."

In Moncton, Albert county and other sections of the province, the Scott Act has been well enforced. If in other sections not so good results have obtained, it is not the fault of the law, but the way it is managed. The law is a good one, and with conscientious officials, is a way to good. Although we hear from many sources that the Scott Act is a failure, it is significant that the rum people do not appear to want it.

I believe that excellent work has been done in Kent county by liquor license Inspector Geo. N. Clark, and I learned with much regret of Mr. Clark's summary removal from office by the local government. The dismissal was also made without Mr. Clark's being given a chance to defend himself or face his accusers in an investigation. I trust this Grand Division may, at this session, pass a strong resolution of protest against this action of the authorities.

In regard to my own work, I may say that on November 9 I addressed a meeting at Hopewell Hill on the subject of temperance. On January 17 at an invitation of Excelsior Division, I visited St. John in the interests of the order. On January 18 I had the pleasure of speaking to the Sunday school of Ludlow street Baptist church, an earnest and largely attended school. This is the church presided over by our Grand Scribe, Rev. W. R. Robinson, who is ever vigorous for temperance and good work. In the evening of the same day I was in company with Bro. Robinson and Bro. E. S. Hennigar, D. M. W. P., I addressed a meeting under the auspices of Excelsior Division in Carmarthen street Methodist church. On January 5, I attended a meeting of the proposition committee in St. John.

On January 23rd I visited Moncton in company with Brother Hennigar and Brother Robinson to attend the unveiling of the portrait of our late brother, Edward McCarthy, F. G. W. P. This act on the part of Moncton Division was a worthy tribute to a worthy man, who laid down his work after long years of faithful service. The old members are fast passing away, but we rejoice that their influence will be felt in future years.

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly, What He hath given; They live on earth in thought and deed, As truly as in His Heaven."

May their example be an incentive to us all. We also note with sorrow the death of our esteemed brother and Past Grand Scribe, Rev. C. W. Hamilton. I have to thank Brother Hennigar for his prompt thoughtfulness in forwarding

ITALY'S SPECIAL ENVOY TO PANAMA EXPOSITION

ERNEST NATHAN

Ernest Nathan, who was for seven years Mayor of Rome, is Italy's special commissioner to the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The accompanying photograph was taken upon his arrival in New York, where he received a cordial welcome by his fellow countrymen and high officials of the Masonic Order, in which he is a Past Grand Master. The pavilion which will contain the Italian exhibits, according to Mr. Nathan, will be so constructed that the decoration of each room and hall will present the arts and crafts of his country.

ing a message of sympathy to the relatives of Brother Hamilton. On February 9th I visited Petticoat where I addressed a public meeting and at the close organized a new division, which in a short time, I was pleased to learn, had a membership of fifty.

On March 24th I attended the 64th anniversary of Golden Rule, Division of Hopewell Hill, where there was an enthusiastic and interesting meeting. It is worthy of note that the D. G. W. P., of Golden Rule, Brother M. M. Fingley, one of our strong men in the work, was presented by the division with a D. G. W. P.'s jewel, in recognition of his fifty years of service in the order.

On May 13th I visited Kent County in the interests of the order and attended Richbuck Division on the evening, finding a vigorous division with a good membership. On the evening of May 14th I attended a public meeting at Reston, in company with Brother Hennigar, and am pleased to know that Reston Division which had been down for some months, was reactivated on the following Monday evening with bright prospects.

On December 1st I issued a circular letter to the divisions and trust that in that way they and myself became somewhat acquainted. I have to thank those divisions which so kindly responded to this letter with words of encouragement.

To all those members of the order with whom I have come in contact or with whom I have had correspondence I extend thanks for kind consideration. May we all do our duty. The past is gone. May we profit both by our successes and by our failures, and face the future strong in the hope of better things and with a determination

LONGSHOREMEN WILL MOVE FOR SHORTER HOURS

Organize safety first movement—Majority of accidents where the men work overtime.

The organization of a Safety First Movement, the adoption of resolutions favoring the idea of a shorter workday for longshoremen, and the principle of having different ports submit requests for improvements in conditions to shipping companies simultaneously, and plans for establishing closer co-operation with the International Transport Workers were the principal subjects dealt with at the convention of the Atlantic Coast District Conference of the Longshoremen's Union yesterday. A resolution was passed providing for the adoption of the stamp system in the district. Another matter dealt with was that of providing for the appointment of properly qualified organizers to work among the Italian and other foreign speaking longshoremen in different ports.

Arrangements were made for dealing with several important grievances affecting the longshoremen in various ports in the district. It was decided to send three delegates from the district to the general convention at Milwaukee, Wis., which opens on the 15th of June. These delegates will carry the vote of the workers in the district not directly represented, and will urge upon the major convention various matters for promoting the interests of the district.

Shorter Workday. The resolution favoring a shorter workday for marine transport workers becomes a plank in the platform of the union.

It was proposed that the union should wage an unceasing war against this great evil of run, while the days are long. The time is short; there is no time to rest in the shade while the battle is on. Our old order of the Sons of Temperance should be in the van, true to its record fighting for the faith and principals of its fathers and for the good of mankind.

Standing beneath the banner of love, purity and fidelity, may we who are gathered at this semi-annual session keep that banner aloft, and keep ourselves as Sons of Temperance, in the front rank of the great temperance army.

Let us value each day as it passes, for its deeds will reach far into the future.

"Today, an hour of passing smiles and tears? Today, I hold the destiny of years! Kingdoms must pass, Worlds fade as grass, Yet shall abide the fruitage of Today."

In closing, I wish you all well—in your work for our order, in your business relations, in your social life and in your own home surroundings; and as we separate may we all go back to our homes stronger, better and richer in resolve for our meeting together.

Respectfully submitted in Love, Purity and Fidelity, FRED. G. MOORE, Grand Worthy Patriarch, Dorchester, N. B., May 28th, 1914.

At the meeting the following officers were present: R. G. Moore, G. W. P.; E. W. Rowley, G. W. A.; Rev. W. R. Robinson, Grand Scribe; Rev. B. H. Thomas, Grand Chaplain; Miss Kirbin, Grand Patron; W. L. Nutter, Grand Secretary.

Three Sisters Cured of Weak Watery Blood

A Splendid Example of the Great Blood-forming Qualities of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is in the red corpuscles of the blood that the nutritive qualities lie. If on analyzing the blood it is found to be deficient in red corpuscles the doctor will say you are anemic, that your blood is weak and watery. But you can find out for yourself, for when the blood is weak you will be pale and your eyelids and lips will be bloodless in appearance.

Other symptoms of watery blood are indigestion, headache, feelings of weakness and fatigue and lack of energy and ambition. There is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to overcome this run-down condition. Here is a letter to tell you what this food-cure did in one family by curing three daughters. Miss Ella Bancroft, Longwood, Ont., writes: "A year or so ago I was very much run-down in health. The blood seemed to be weak and the nerves very much exhausted. Having heard of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and of its success in curing cases similar to mine, I began to use it, and was very greatly benefited by continuation of this medicine. Two of my sisters also used it, and precisely what I did, and they were cured. I am now a splendid means of building up the system.

"We have also used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with good results. One of my brothers had pneumonia twice, and we always used this medicine for him, as we find that it breaks up a cold the quickest and best of any medicine we can get."

PAINT FRONT DOORS OF OUR CITY

First impressions may be detrimental to city if approaches are not what they should be.

The front door of the city still wants painting. Think how it looks to the stranger who first catches a glimpse of it as he comes into the city by the Grand Trunk on the west or the C. P. R. on the east.

As he looks out of the car window to see what sort of a city Montreal may be, what does he see? The back yards—yards of garbage cans—unkept yards—the deshabille of a factory and commercial district. Naturally, he gets a poor impression of this great metropolitan city before he alights from the train.

Suppose him to be a capitalist seeking out a progressive and up-to-date city in which to invest his capital. What will he be thinking of the opportunities offered by Montreal as his train slows down to enter the station? Will he not practically decide in his inner mind against us before he puts on his hat to leave the car?

We shall say nothing for the present of the corroboratory evidence which will overwhelm him when he first sees our justly notorious streets. What we suggest now is that the city should stop to paint its front door. We can look after the hall-ways afterward.

Or suppose that our stranger is a family man looking for a home-city, in which to find work and bring up his children. If he is alert to learn what sort of government we have here—what our streets look like—whether we are progressive enough to paint our front door—he is almost certainly the precise variety of new citizen we want. And what will he learn as he watches the moving picture that slides by his car window?

At this season of the year especially, our people should not need any exhortation to realize what it may mean to the prospective investor or citizen to find our civic front door unpainted. This is the house-hunting season, when a great many of us know by personal experience precisely what the effect of an unpainted front door may be. If the house-hunter finds that the outside appearance of the house he is contemplating indicates a careless and "down-at-the-heels" management, he does not bother to ring the bell. He infers that the inside will be as badly kept.

Strangers coming to Montreal are frequently house-hunters in the broader sense. They are thinking of settling here. First impressions will be very vivid, very lasting, and may be decisive. Can we afford, as a city, to have them discouragingly bad? Shouldn't we paint our various front doors?—Montreal Star.

THIRD READING OF THE ANTI-TIPPING BILL

Ottawa, May 28.—In the senate today the Davis anti-tipping bill was given third reading and sent on to the House of Commons for consideration. The bill declares that the giving and receiving of tips is an illegal act punishable by fine or imprisonment. There was no dissent expressed on the third reading.

"Do you enjoy baseball?" "Very much. I think it's splendid fun to watch the pop corn man catch the nickels that are thrown to him."
