

FOR WOMEN

A MUSEMENTS

Bright Trimming
On Street Dresses

Skirts Are Narrow and Long—
Low Girdles Popular—
Short Sleeves for Dancing.

The new winter models in street and afternoon dresses show the straight silhouette, which is so popular with many women with the low waistline. Skirts are still slightly narrow, but are a trifle longer and the sleeves are invariably short. Girdles worn around the hips are also in favor. Materials are mostly dull, with very bright trimmings. For the street, dull-colored materials are most popular, black being worn extensively in Paris.

The tailored street dress is straight, low-waisted and is made of crepe or drapery in dull material with bright trimming at the neck and hips. The afternoon frocks are almost invariably of some soft material such as chambray or tulle, and follow the straight, low-waisted lines. Sometimes the skirt is draped, or it may have panels or loose loops falling below the skirt. For practical wear the gown shows a bit of braid in the flow of the skirt or tulle. Evening gowns follow the same tendency of the low waistline, but show more drapery from the hips down, and often have a panel train. The waists are quite simple, sleeveless, and have bands of contrasting material forming the shoulder straps.

Black is being worn extensively in Paris, but on this side, browns, rust and other warm shades are favored. Copper, beige and brown are worn a great deal in hats, which frequently harmonize with the trimming on a dress. Black, turquoise, saffron, green and navy will be used in evening clothes. In materials, velvet is preferred to tulle for early fall, for both frocks and wraps. Duvelin and other dull surfaced materials will be used for both dresses and suits, especially for one-piece dresses, which as worn nowadays under a fur coat, make a very good-looking costume. Dresses and hats, too, are often made of the same material.

Still slightly narrow, skirts will be a trifle longer, although women here have never worn skirts quite as short as their French sisters. Sleeves will also be longer in general, but many short sleeved afternoon dresses will be worn for dancing. Large velvet hats worn with these frocks will be very smart, and have given way to the beloved small turban which has been so much in evidence during the past few years. These large hats are also made of duvelin and tulle, sometimes trimmed with feathers or with flowers of an unusual material. Although small hats are passing, small feather toques will be popular.

The high collar is making a strong bid for favor and it has been accepted by some of the smartly dressed women. It is no longer made each ear, as in former days, but lies softly around the throat.

Vacation is Over.

Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon; again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged.

The little girl that a short time ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red, you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already been coming back of the appearance of health.

Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may prevent much serious trouble. No other is so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation. It aids mental development by building up the whole system.

Equally good as a medicinal preparation are Hood's Pils, which are so well adapted for both children and adults. In small doses they are a gentle laxative, in larger doses an active cathartic.

And a Dangerous Operation by Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. M. J. GORSE.

3323 Union St., Vancouver, B. C.
"I suffered with all the symptoms of Female Trouble, with chronic Constipation and constant Headaches. I had pains low down in the back and sides of the body. I tried various remedies without relief, and then put myself under a doctor's care and he advised me to have an operation. I refused."

Then, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives', and from the outset, I felt better, and this medicine has completely relieved me of all my misery and suffering. My weight was only 145 pounds and now it is 165 pounds. I am free of pain and headaches and the terrible constipation and what saved me from misery is the splendid fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives'."

Canadian Women's Hostel Committee

Executive Took up Matters in Connection With the Annual Meeting.

An interesting meeting of the executive of the Canadian Women's Hostel Committee was held last evening at the Hotel, British street. The President, Mrs. H. A. Powell, presided and matters in connection with the annual meeting to be held shortly were discussed. At this meeting a report of the work accomplished in St. John was made. The account will be a very complete one as, on its being approved of by members at the annual meeting, it will be forwarded to Ottawa where it will be presented to the Canadian Council of Immigration of Women for Household Service. The annual meeting of this council is to take place in Ottawa on October 6th, when Mrs. H. Lawrence, provincial representative will attend.

It will be a surprise to many persons to learn how much splendid work has been accomplished by the Hostel at St. John, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of members. Officers and delegates at the annual meeting of the committee will be elected from the various organizations which form the Hostel Committee.

Montreal, Sept. 22.—Arthur Elmont, notary and former member of parliament, recently acquitted on a charge of conspiracy, but incarcerated on an indictment for obtaining money under false pretences, was granted bail yesterday afternoon by Judge Bazin. Bail in the form of mortgages to the amount of $20,000, was furnished by Dr. Georges Piche, 287 A St. Denis street. The case will be heard at the next session of the King's bench court, criminal division.

AS A WOMAN THINKETH

By HELEN ROWLAND

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

If the good fairies should grant the average girl just one wish, in all the world.
She would wish for a retrouse nose—a cute little turned-up bit of a baby nose!

At least, she would, if she were WISE.
Did you ever stop to think what a girl with that kind of a nose can get away with?

Whew! That philosopher, who says that a woman can be judged by her nose, doesn't know the half of it!

A horse-race isn't the only thing that is "won by a nose"—most husbands are won that way.

A woman's fate, figuratively speaking, hangs on her profile—and the girl with a "classic nose" starts with a terrible handicap.

Mine's "classic"—and I know what I'm talking about!
The dear little thing of forty summers with a turned-up nose, can wear girly girly skirts that stop just below her knees, and a bathing-suit that ends just as you thought it had started.

And everybody will say, "How cute!"

But if any other woman did that sort of thing, the angels, themselves would be moved to tears—or laughter.

SHE can fluff around in a baby-blue slip-over with shorty-short sleeves, and a big, baby-blue picture hat or a naughty little "tam"—

But the "stately, classic-nosed" girl must go in for clinging black or stiff tailor-mades, or mauve dresses and "mystery."

The retrouse-nosed woman can skip into a room—but the rest of us must "slink" in.

She can babble the stupidest inanities, and pass for "clever"—but we must say something brilliant or scintillating, in order to get any man to listen to us.

SHE can laugh at a man's sillies, jokes and giggle at his puns—but we must merely smile and look "intelligent."

She can chatter babytalk to every man she meets—but if a "classic-nosed" woman merely gazes up at a man and tries to "coo."

All the rest of the women hastily snatch him away and whisper "Vamp!"

In short, the only thing that a girl with anything but a tip-titled nose, CAN do, is to be "dignified!"

And "ladylike!"

Oh woe!

Those "classic beauties," that the poets rave about, and the sculptors have immortalized, MAY have been ravishing.

But they missed half the joy in life!

If Venus really resembled her statues, it's no wonder that she never got anything but a tame blacksmith for a husband.

And, no matter what History says, I'm willing to wager my last drop of scented talcum, that Helen of Troy and Delilah and Cleopatra were born with half-portion noses and a baby-sneer.

And as for ME.

I'd rather be snub-nosed and "cute"—than the prize-beauty at an artists' ball!

Because, every woman spends her whole life living up—or down—to her nose.

And it's SO much easier to live down to a "pug," than to live up to a "Greek!"

But then,

Did you ever know a woman who was perfectly satisfied with her NOSE?

I never did!

Definite Plans
For Winter's Work

Special Meeting of Directors of Y. W. C. A. Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Definite plans for the winter's work of the Physical Department of the Y. W. C. A. were brought before a special meeting of the board of directors held yesterday afternoon. Miss Littlefield, the Girls' Work Secretary, stated that the aim of the department is to provide exercise and recreation suitable for the needs of girls and women. Membership in the association is a requirement for all joining the classes which are to be formed.

These classes include formal and collective gymnastics, light apparatus work, games, folk dancing and rhythmic drills. A basketball league will be formed, memberships in which will not be limited to association members.

A physical and medical examination by the director and a physician are to be required of each pupil in order that her work may be properly directed.

The classes to be held will include senior school girls, business girls beginners, senior advanced, ladies' morning class, special C. G. I. T. classes, juniors from 8 to 10 years of age, babies 8 years and under.

Winter Activities.

The list of winter activities as given to the meeting yesterday contains the following entertainments: A fall rally in October; Halloween party in November; Christmas party in December; Valentine party in February; Irish frolic in March, and a gymnasium exhibition in May.

Miss Littlefield intends to invite girls to join the clubs formed and to tell them of the following advantages in which they may share—Parties, hikes, picnics, practical talks, Bible studies and educational classes. As outlined by the secretary the purpose of the organization is to promote use spiritual, social, intellectual and physical well-being of the girls and to make the Y. W. C. A. in co-operation with the churches a social factor in the extension of God's kingdom.

Arrangements in connection with the campaign for funds to be undertaken shortly by a committee were completed yesterday afternoon by the directors.

WHERE THEY ARE.

Annual Meeting
At Lower Millstream

United Baptist Women's Missionary Aid Societies of the New Brunswick Assn.

The annual meeting of the Women's M. A. Societies of the United Baptist church of the N. B. Association convened with the Lower Millstream, Kings County church, yesterday, September 16th. The morning session was devoted to reports from delegates, and the annual report of the corresponding secretary, Miss Agusta Slipp.

Mrs. D. J. MacPherson, Sussex, presided at the afternoon session in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. G. Clarke, Fredericton. Devotional exercises by Mrs. J. M. Johnston, Hampton, and Mrs. Eveleigh, Sussex, Miss Flora Clarke of Vianagram, India, returned missionary, in a very eloquent and thrilling address, outlined her work among the native preachers and teachers on the field. The great need was ten missionary families and twenty lady missionaries. An address on the Canadian Branch of the "World Wide Guild" was given by Mrs. Nesbitt, Sussex. A hearty welcome was extended to Rev. Mr. Glendenning, returned missionary of India.

Delegates from St. John, Mrs. T. N. Robinson, Miss Alice B. Esay, Miss Fullerton, Miss Hamilton. The officers of the association were re-elected.

SMASHES FURNITURE.

One of the most dramatic situations ever photographed for the screen is to be found in the film version of "Irish," Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's famous play, which Robertson-Cole will release shortly with Pauline Frederick as star. The scene comes late in the play when the villain ejects the heroine from the sumptuous apartment he has established for her in London. He then smashes all the costly furniture. Although the scene took place less than three minutes to photograph, William Louis, the villain, did his job so thoroughly that more than $5,000 worth of furniture was wrecked.

She'd Learned.
The puppy had been punished and was sulking in a corner. To him came the small daughter of the house to administer, not comfort, but advice.
"You may just as well be good first as last, Spot," she administered. "Everybody that belongs to mother has got to mind. I've been through it all and I know."

Pity the Poor Husband.
Widow (engaging man servant)—Yes, I want a person who will do any kind of labor in or about the house—run errands, work in the garden—in short, a man who will immediately and without objections do what I tell him to do.
"Ah, lady, it isn't a servant you need. Only by marrying again will you find what you want."
