

KING OF FOX HUNTERS.

WM. BROWN NOW LOCATED ON WARD'S CREEK, KINGS COUNTY.

Tells the Telegraph Something About His Success as a Trapper—Sells His Pelts in St. John—The Price of Skins Has Advanced.

William Brown, a veteran Maine guide and trapper, who has been operating in Kings county with headquarters at Ward's Creek, since April last, makes occasional visits to St. John to dispose of his furs, although, he says, Essex dealers now pay as good as old prices. Now Brunswick or at least that part of the province where he now resides, is pronounced by Mr. Brown to be far ahead of the State of Maine for his business. Browns are extensively used in the Maine forests, despite the efforts of the game wardens to crush out this illegal practice, and these trappers play havoc with the trapper's day, Mr. Brown said he had no desire to figure in print any more. He had been repeatedly interviewed by Maine newspapers and had acquired more notoriety in that line than he ever expected. He was in New Brunswick first dollars and cents, and not for the purpose of talking. "Yes," said the veteran trapper, "I have had good fortune at home, like the prospects here very much. You see, a man gets tired hunting over the same ground year after year, and longs for a change. I have got to change this time, and I will push on into Nova Scotia where, I hear, there are some fine openings in my line. I have been 20 years a trapper, and I like the work now even better than when I first took it up. "What have I done since I came to Ward's Creek? Well, it was all new ground, and I had to study it out. But I have no cause to complain. I have already caught 50 foxes, 45 coons, 30 skunks, and some other things. I am satisfied. I intend to remain till next May. That was last year's catch. 'Was till you see next year,'" said Mr. Brown with a smile. "Where is your best ground around Ward's Creek?" "Excuse me, please. I am not giving away my business just now. How do I buy man can't make his salt trying to catch them. You may laugh, but any old woodman will tell you there is nothing like a fox scent, if you have the right kind. This scent, when sprinkled upon the line that is left in the trap will, by virtue of its peculiar odor, attract towards and almost invariably allure into the trap any unfortunate beast that may chance to pass that way. The preparation of scent I use is known to Canadian and frontier trappers in the west as the "Skofield scent." It is secreted by the originator or discoverer of the formula by which the liquid is made, was one Skofield, an old trapper, who years ago lived in Northern Vermont, and who sold the secret to my brother, who, years after, imparted it to me. I have used it with phenomenal success wherever I have been, and so great is its reputation here in Maine, Vermont and other New England states that I receive letters every week asking for the recipe. I will be glad to give it to any trapper who writes to me at Ward's Creek Post Office will receive a prompt answer about the secret and how to use it. Of course I don't give the recipe away, I sell it at a reasonable price teaching how to set traps, how to

FROM DEATH'S DOOR

THE TIMELY RESCUE OF A BRIGHT LITTLE GIRL.

Was on the Verge of Complete Nervous Prostration and Her Parents Thought Death Would Claim Her. When growing girls or boys are ailing, too many parents experiment with doubtful medicines, which only touch upon the symptoms of the trouble, leaving it to return later in a more aggravated form. When you use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, you are not experimenting—they go directly to the root of the trouble by making new, rich, red blood, and building up weak nerves—in this way they cure, and the trouble does not return. It is because these Pills always cure what is given a fair trial that they have the largest sale of any medicine in the world. They are not an experiment—most other medicines are. Mrs. William Johnson, Hemford (N. S.), writes the following strong corroborations: "My daughter, age of nine, our daughter, perhaps, began to decline in health. Her color left her cheeks; her appetite failed and she complained of headaches. I tried all sorts of medicine, but she grew sicker and sicker. We tried several remedies, but she did not help herself and she kept growing weaker all the time. She was very pale, had almost constant headaches and was on the verge of complete nervous prostration. In fact we feared that death would take her soon. One day I saw an account in a newspaper of a young girl who had been cured of a similar trouble through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We decided to try them, and before three boxes were used there was a decided improvement in her condition. We continued giving her the pills for probably two months, by which time she was as healthy as any girl of her age. Her appetite had returned, her headaches had disappeared, and her cheeks had regained their rosy color. It is now nearly two years since she took the pills and she has not had a sick day since. We are very grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for her, and would advise all parents whose daughters are ailing to give them a fair trial and not experiment with other medicines." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure all troubles that arise from poverty of the blood or weak nerves. Among such troubles may be classed anemia, headache, neuritis, erysipelas, rheumatism, heart ailments, dyspepsia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, and the ailments that render miserable the lives of so many women. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers, or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville (Ont.)

THE BARBER IS DEAD.

Colored Man Who Was Turning White. New York, Aug. 27.—William H. Weeks, the colored barber, who was until August 20 a patient in Bellevue Hospital, died last evening in the Manhattan State Hospital on Ward's Island. Weeks suffered from a rare disease, and his case attracted much attention. He was admitted to the hospital during the first part of August, and soon after his arrival began to turn white. At the time of his death he was almost as white as a man born to that color. Weeks lived with his sister, Mrs. Butler, at 215 East Fifty-ninth street. On July 28th he married and gave the clergyman who performed the ceremony two cents and a key as fee. This was the first indication of insanity, but he grew worse until he was finally removed to Bellevue Hospital. Soon after his arrival a white spot appeared on the back of his neck. These other spots appeared and spread over his entire body.

The New Maine.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Although the measured speed of the new battleship Maine, which had her trial trip over the Cape Ann course last Saturday was only 17.96 knots—18 knots being her contract speed—no doubt is entertained at the department that when her trial allowance is figured out it will be found that she has appreciably exceeded 18 knots. In any event the navy department would accept the ship. Under the terms of the contract with her builders she must be accepted if she makes over 17 knots, subject to a penalty at the rate of $25,000 for each quarter knot below 18.

The committee on the standing of the order recommended that the new ritual be adopted when possible; that one or all of the provincial officers visit each branch every half year; that each division should organize a ladies' auxiliary; that the county board should meet every six months.

These reports were adopted. This afternoon the delegates enjoyed a drive to the principal points of interest in the town and suburbs. The concluding session will be held tonight after which a banquet will be tendered to the delegates by the local branch.

Salts With Family God.

One of the most picturesque sights in connection with the coronation was witnessed Friday at Dover, when the Maharajah of Japan, the most important coronation guest from India, embarked on his return journey. The Maharajah is the most scrupulous observer of his faith. He never undertakes a journey until the stars and planets are propitious. Thursday was the day originally selected for his departure, and the planets ruled that Thursday was the right day for the Maharajah to start, but at the last moment his London engagements interfered, so that his departure had to be made by a deputy, Dhanraj Rai Bahadur, the Maharajah's director of transports, going to Dover. There the state astrologer decided that the journey from London to Dover had sufficiently propitiated the planets, and Bahadur awaited his lord's arrival punctually at 11.30 o'clock with 30 tons of personal luggage and 150 members of his suite, and immediately proceeded to the captain's bridge.

ONE MORE SENSATION.

ALLEGED POISONING CASE IN VICTORIA COUNTY.

Young Married Woman Under Arrest—Rough on Rats in Her Husband's Food Is the Story—Preliminary Examination Not Yet Concluded.

Victoria county has a poisoning case which is creating some excitement and no end of talk among the people of that section of the province. A few days ago a young married woman named Rogers, who lives near the American boundary line, was placed under arrest on a charge of attempting to poison her husband by putting rough on rats in his food. She was lodged in jail at Andover, and the preliminary examination was commenced at that place on Monday before Police Magistrate McQuerry. Titus J. Carter, late of this city, appeared for the prosecution having been engaged by relatives and friends of Rogers to initiate the proceedings against Mrs. Rogers.

From the beginning of the investigation which has reached here it appears that Rogers was taken ill several weeks ago, and a physician whom he called in pronounced it a case of "poisoning." Since that the man's condition has showed but little sign of improvement; his eyebrows and finger nails are dropping off and his general health seems to be considerably impaired. While he has a chance for recovery it is feared by his friends that it is a very slim one.

Mrs. Rogers' explanation of the affair is that she had been using rough on rats in the house and a rat after swallowing a quantity of the poison crawled into a jar of cream and died. Her husband afterwards drank some of the cream and her theory is that he got poisoned in this way.

Two Steamers Come Together and a Lot of Damage is Done.

No lives were lost on board the Liguria, although the steamer had on board a large number of Italian immigrants.
