The sending of Government locomo-Business Stagnation. Business has revived very little since the almanac announced the coming of spring. The coal trade is the only one that is really lively, the denand being as bisk as ever. Merchants who have kept their heads above water by stren-nous exertions, waiting and hoping for trade to revive and money to become easier, are forced to struggle as ener-getically as ever. They stand behind their counters and ruefully contemplate lists of notes maturing within the month. They have become so access.
