

every shade and color, and abounding in all sorts of wild berries, pleasing both to the eye and the taste. The banks of the rivers also at this time are fringed with wild strawberries, raspberries, currants, blueberries, and adorned with many kinds of ferns and wild flowers; while foaming torrents and tumbling cascades complete a picture delightful to the eye of the artist and salmon fisher. The scenery of the South Coast is of the grandest description; deep gorges in the coast line lead through narrow entrances, with precipitous cliffs on either hand to magnificent harbors where the navies of Europe may float secure from every gale." "As regards salubrity of climate, Newfoundland has no equal."

Attractions of Newfoundland

It would be like painting the lily or gilding refined gold to exaggerate the sporting attractions of Newfoundland and Labrador. This new playground of America, the Norway of the New World, requires no such meretricious efforts. To the genuine sportsman, the real interest in the country will lie in the fact that it is virgin ground, that there are hundreds of square miles, wholly unexplored, where the foot of the white man has never trod, lakes and streams where no angler's fly has ever been cast. To most readers, the eloquent testimony of such a mighty hunter as F. C. Selous, the glowing eulogiums of such a world-renowned painter, naturalist and sportsman as
