

TRINITY MEDS.

Now, it was the custom in the city of Toronto for the young men of the colleges to congregate together in a field or waste place and kick with their feet upon a sphere of leather which is called in the language of the colleges a football. And they placed two sticks in the ground at either end of the field, and the interspace thereof was called the goal. And they divided themselves into two parties, and then did either party endeavor to kick the ball through the goal of the other.

So it came to pass that in the tenth month and the twenty-first day of the month that the young men of Trinity did go forth to play football with the young men of Toronto School of Medicine.

And the young men of Trinity were these: He that stood between the stakes was called Harris, and they that stood in front of the stakes were Morrison and Lugen, who was clad in stripes of black and yellow. And they that stood in the van their names were Pearson, Hutton, McKee, who was clad in a shirt of green, and Irwin and Durbin. And they that stood in the midst of the field were Munro, McCaulay, and Tredgold. These were the men of Trinity.

But before they began to play, lo! the captain of the men of Trinity, even Hutton, a beardless man, but a mighty kicker, did lift up his voice unto the governor of the game, saying: Behold now, the men of Toronto have a man upon the field whose name is Kerr that is not of their college, but is a mercenary, and knowest thou not that is against the law? Howbeit, the men of Toronto kept Kerr upon the field, but the men of Trinity did treasure this up against the day of reckoning.

And it came to pass that while they strove upon the field, lo! one of the men of Toronto, who stood over against Hutton, did commune this with himself: Lo! this man troubleth me. See, now, I will slay him with mine hand, that he trouble me no more. So he made as though he would cast him upon the ground, and Hutton did fall upon his hand. Nevertheless, he struggled valiantly, and regained his feet, and called with a loud voice: Behold, a Philistine is upon me. Whereupon his friends came and rescued him, and the governor of the game said unto them: Go ye, both of ye, and cool thy blood upon the grass. So they were both ruled out of the game for a season.

And it came to pass that the ball passed through the goal of Trinity even twice, but through the goal of Toronto it passed not.

Many of Trinity's students were interested spectators of the scrap between the Toronto Meds and the S.P.S. It was a good scrap, even if it was somewhat one-sided. The opinion of many of us was that it would be a good idea if the Toronto Meds. would use a little of the scrapping powers they undoubtedly possess in elevating their freshmen.

The elections of the Banquet Committee and representatives were held on Friday evening. The Banquet Committee are as follows:

President—Mr. Archie Anderson. First Vice-President—Mr. E. C. Bell. Second Vice-President—Mr. M. Lyon. Third Vice-President—Mr. Irwin. Fourth year committee—Messrs. Carter and Smith.

Third year committee—Messrs. Milburn and Kennedy. Second year committee—Messrs. Tredgold and Sisson. First year committee—Messrs. Backus and Field.

Toaster—M. L. Pritchard. The representatives are: McGill, Mr. C. McDougal, Bishops, H. Hutton, Queen's, W. Harris, London, C. Latta, Varsity, W. Clancy, Toronto Meds, M. Blake, Dental, Dr. Adams, Victoria, Ed. Allen, Knox, Mr. Waters, Oswego, R. Thomas, Pharmacy, Mr. Waugh, Trinity convocation, Mr. Burns, Trinity conversat, G. O'N. Ireland.

Trinity Medical students go to the Princess on Halloween and occupy the balcony with Pharmacy. Every student will turn out with cane, colors, horns, etc. We believe S.P.S., the Dentals, and Varsity occupy the gods that night. Funny how Varsity always manages to get above us.

THE PICKWICK CLUB.

The first regular meeting of the Pickwick Club was held in the club room at 47 St. Paul street last Monday evening. The meeting was full of enthusiasm throughout, and augured well for the ultimate success of the organization, though this first meeting was hampered by many somewhat embarrassing difficulties. The meeting was frequently interrupted by the landlady, who wished to remind the members of the club that she expected to have further use for most of the furniture when they were through with it; and as it is never too late to mend, she requested them to save all the pieces in as good condition as possible. The meeting was also hampered somewhat by the kids in the street, who persisted in bombarding the proceedings with peep and interrupting the proceedings with bugle-calls, which necessitated brief intermissions for raids among the said kids, which were made with great spirit and with varying success.

President Pickwick Eagleham occupied the chair and announced that this was a musical and general improvement society; and by the way of improving the general moral tone of the neighborhood, led off on the fiddle with "The Dell Among the Tailors," the orchestra seconding him so well that at the end of the selection a sentry at the window reported that every window in the streets was full of necks. Dr. Philosphat Tuller then rose to read some resolutions. The first was to the effect that Messrs. Francisco Dodd and Arthur Westmoreland Hicks be admitted to full membership at next meeting. The proceedings at this juncture were interrupted by the entrance of the landlady, who declared that there were far too many members now for the good of her furniture, and if any more came she wouldn't let them in. As she turned to go, Brother Warwick led off singing "Good-night, Ladies," when all joined in, and forgot all about his resolutions.

At this juncture a request came from the window of the house next door to the effect that Dr. Smith was downstairs in the parlor with the young ladies, and would they please keep quiet.

The request did not receive the amount of consideration it should have, for the next number had commenced and Dr. Jonas Kowentree was dancing the cake-walk on his hands and feet. It was watched in breathless excitement, but he finished it without mishap to the furniture. The doctor received the warm congratulations of the brethren with becoming modesty.

Encouraged by the success of the doctor's effort, and without waiting to be called on, Mr. Billelmus Gemmell started in to dance the "Tipperry two-step" with both feet, but when his hair became entangled in the chandelier and his arms began to disarrange the ornaments on the mantel, it was suggested that he desist. He desisted. The suggestion was made by one of the brethren with a handful of grapeskin.

Rev. Westfield Milburn was called to order at this stage for making love to a girl in the window across the street. The reverend gentleman at once retreated with a request to know who was running this meeting, anyhow. High words might have passed, but at this moment who should pop in but Dr. Tommy Allison. The matter was referred to the doctor, and he declared he would settle both the gentlemen and any other difficulties that troubled them as soon as he had a dance. He began, therefore, to dance. It made a great impression on the spectators, and perhaps even a greater impression elsewhere, for a gentle tap was heard at the door, and the landlady's daughter peeped in to say that her mother below was suffering from an acute attack of nervous prostration.

The last item was conducted by Theophilus Augustus McKee, who taught the club to sing "Tim Toolan," and when the club got well under way with it, all the neighbors in the street who had gone to bed came back to the windows again.

The club will meet again as soon as the landlady can get the room ready.

DENTAL COLLEGE.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL — HALLOWEEN AFFAIRS — RUGBY NOTES — ODE TO O.C.P.

On Saturday, the 19th, the Dents played their first Association football match with McMaster team, upon McMaster grounds, Chicora avenue. Taken all in all, the game was close. In the first half, with our boys kicking with the wind, neither one scored. In the second half McMaster pressed more strongly, and scored on a rush about 10 minutes before full time. After this neither team could score. The only trouble with our boys was owing to the fact that the forwards had never been together before, as the back division put up a strong game. The Dentals lined up as follows: Goal, Pettigrew; backs, Clarkson and Dillane; halfbacks, Long, Fife, Nethercott; forwards, Robertson, Dunlop, Cameron, Brown, and Kenny.

Last week the freshmen elections were unavoidably omitted. They resulted as follows: President, R. Stewart; vice-president, Husband, secretary, Coupland; vice-president at home committee, Noble; at home committee, How and Dunlop; decorating committee, Kenny and Brace; musical committee, Fulton, Thomas, and Gibson.

On Wednesday, at 5 p.m., Mr. Cunningham of Varsity addressed a mass-meeting in the large lecture hall in regard to the students' annual Halloween demonstration. The object of the meeting was to determine what the boys wanted to do on that auspicious occasion. After hearing the remarks of the speaker, it was decided by a unanimous vote to join in with the Arts and the School of Science and go down and take possession of the "gods" in the Princess to see E. S. Willard play "The Cardinal." Mr. O. K. Gibson was appointed representative in addition to the regular representative, Mr. A. G. Fraser, to assist in making final arrangements. All the Dents should turn out and, as usual, do their share in making a good time for themselves and everybody else. Everybody turn out. Here is a chance for the new Musical Committee to make a name for themselves, and they will probably do it.

On Thursday last the Dents again met defeat in the Association series, this time at the hands of the Varsity boys. By means of pretty fair conbination and assisted by a strong wind, Varsity scored three in the first period to the Dentals' nothing. In the second half Varsity added another, almost on the first rush, but after that our boys kept the play at Varsity end, but, on account of Varsity's splendid defence, did not succeed in scoring. The Dental team this time was: Goal, Pettigrew; backs, Clarkson and Dillane; halfbacks, Long, Fife, and Large; forwards, Dunlop, Cameron, Brown, Gilfillan, and Nethercott. The freshmen class is to be congratulated on the number of men it turned out to represent them.

Rugby football this season has taken a greater hold on the interests of the boys than ever before. A number of men turned out to practice last week, and there is some splendid material among them for a pretty fair team. We are still looking for signs of De Renzy and his "corsets." Possibly, like last year, he has been unable to find a pair to fit him with sufficient accuracy.

A number of the boys—in fact, the greater part of them—were up to see the great scrap last Tuesday between School of Science and the "Varsity Medicals." It was indeed a notable conflict, and one from which a number of interesting and profitable pointers could be drawn if, perchance, on any future occasion they are needed "in our business."

Mr. Fred Williamson of last year's junior class was over at the college last week to give us a call. Of course, he subscribed for College Topics. We understand he has a splendid position with Dr. Lougheed.

For a day or two it has been the general opinion of the seniors that something ought to be done for Jack Leacy, as his condition is, to all appearances, extremely critical.

After due consideration it has been thought best to perform an operation for "hair-lip." As some specialists will have to be secured, time and money would be saved if Jimmy Brett and, as a bare possibility, Harold Campbell would be prepared at the same time.

Mr. Fred Knight was around to see us last week for an hour or so. It looked familiar to see him out indulging in a game of handball.

For Kaster Pharmacy, R.C.D.S. O. K. Gibson played Rugby with Varsity II. against Trinity a week ago. He is evidently trying to keep in shape for the Mulock Cup games.

Peterson and Ellis, two of the men picked for the Varsity track team, went down to Montreal on Friday, to compete in the games there with McGill. Dr. Walter Wilmott, president of the Track Club of the University, and Mr. W. G. Wood, the secretary, also went down. So the boys will be well looked after. At time of writing nothing has been heard of the results.

PHARMACY.

The red, yellow, and black were again very much in evidence at the Varsity games this year, both in the bleachers and on the track. Though only a one-year class, Pharmacy proved that they can go up against the four-year schools and quite readily hold their own, or a little more.

Messrs. Hault, Ferguson, Greenway, and Jamieson were the O.C.P. representatives in the contests, and they more than fulfilled the expectations of their classmates. As to the representatives in the stand, verily their name was legion. With a larger percentage of students in line than any of the other colleges, Pharmacy led the van in the procession, and occupied the best seats in the reserved portion of the school. From there they gave their war-cry (Got always the Salvation Army variety), and urged their athletes on to victory. A good deal of good-natured chaff was exchanged with nearby colleges, and the superfluous steam was allowed to escape in this way when the games lagged. Pharmacy was always at full pressure, and demonstrated their staying powers in all kinds of ways.

The dean was one of the most active and energetic of the field officers. Secretary J. M. Tamblin seemed to be very much engaged during the afternoon, and says he wishes there were games every Friday afternoon. Jamieson surprised the boys by hustling round his quarter in the team race at break-neck speed. Guess his toe is all right again.

Pharmacy was quite satisfied to have Ferguson representing them and carrying their colors in the 100 and 220 yards' entries in the McGill sports at Montreal. The boys' well-wishes went with him on his journey east.

The first league football match for O.C.P. to participate in was played on Varsity Lawn on Saturday, the 19th inst., with Toronto Junction as opponents. During the first half Pharmacy held the Junctionites down to one goal, in spite of a head-on wind that made their work doubly difficult; and in the second half they managed to notch up two to their own credit, taking the game by 2 to 1.

The Pharmacists also lost the help of the breeze, which died down shortly after half-time, or possibly the score would have been still more in their favor. Still, the game made a very auspicious opening for the season.

Pharmacy's second game of the series was played off last Wednesday afternoon against Jameson Avenue Collegiate on Varsity grounds. This also was an easy one for the Pill-tiles, who played their opponents to a standstill. The score of 2 to 0 in Pharmacy's favor is only a fair indication of how O.C.P. made the ball roll. The Jamesonians were at no stage of the game particularly dangerous.

Hachnel, playing center on the Drug-gists' forward line, deserves special mention for his neat playing and puts on goal; but all the players creditably upheld the already distinguished position occupied by Pharmacy in football realms. Rooters were also in evidence along the throw-in line, and they kept business lively from start to finish.

Would the gentleman who pulled the cat's tail during a botany seance kindly remember that the study of anatomy is not included in Pharmacy's curriculum. "He who pulls a cat's tail will also whip a horse," etc.

We are very much indebted to the Primary Meds. for stating that Pharmacy's subscription list for College Topics is up near the century-mark, but for truth's sake we are sorrowfully forced to admit that the O.C.P. has not yet quite reached that high-water mark. Perhaps they may though when the boys receive their next instalment from "the man behind the student who pays the shot."

We are sorry to have to note the absence of Mr. Arthur Reeves, who is away owing to the death of his father, Mr. James Reeves of Eganville, of heart disease. The class one and all extend their sympathy to him, and hope he will soon be able to return to work at the college.

Hallowe'en is drawing nigh, for which let all fervent worshippers at the shrine of "A Hot Time" prepare. Till after that auspicious occasion we advise the boys to steer clear of the cup that cheers, but — for a lot of energy is required to evade Toronto's nobliguardians of the law.

Pharmacy that night expects every man to do his duty. Beware of strangers; they may be female detectives in disguise.

Anyone desiring the yell given at any particular moment, kindly drop a brick on the "leaders' head."

The Toronto Daily Star of Wednesday last gave Pharmacy Y.M.C.A. a very touching mention, for which Pharmacy is devoutly thankful. We also do hereby extend to the Star editor, and the rest of his flock who have wandered from the fold, a cordial invitation to our Y.M.C.A. meetings, held in the college hall each Thursday, from 5.29 to 6 p.m., when they will hear of something to their advantage. J. A. McPherson, '01, is taking a year out, and is spending it on behalf of Varsity in the capacity of general secretary of Y.M.C.A.

Knox boys are bemoaning the loss of their football grounds and football team. For the first time in her history she has no team to fight for the championship. But what is our loss is proving University College's gain. But look out next year.

T. Graham, '03, our representative at the sports, made a brave effort. We hope to see him and other Knoxonians in the fore next year.

Lectures are now under full swing. Rev. A. Halliday Douglas, our new professor in apologetics, is growing in the favor and the appreciation of his students. Quite a large number from Varsity are taking his subject as a theological option. Some, no doubt, will find it no longer a covenant of grace from now till next spring. They will find a "hard nut to crack."

The Missionary and the Literary societies have both held their first meetings. They both passed off successfully, and prospects are bright for a successful winter's work.

Sandy McL—d, '09, still continues his witty ways. Among his puns of late, the following is one of the best: "According to the rules of order of the Knox College 'I.A.L.' no entertainer is supposed to respond to an encore."

At our first meeting last Tuesday one of the gentlemen pianists present cited this rule in vain to escape an encore. After he completed his second selection, Sandy arose and delivered himself as follows: "Mr. President, the objection of Mr. A—, on the ground that he was violating a 'clause' of the constitution, is not valid, because, in playing, Mr. A— suspended (his) claws."

He has been in danger of the tap ever since. Reason, he neglected to remember his seniors. J. A. James, second year theologian, had an interesting experience in Manitoba this summer. A tornado struck his boarding-place, killed the man of the house, wounded all the rest save our friend. The house was demolished, the piano landed in a creek a mile away. One horse got so badly mixed that he has been turning around ever since. Mr. James himself was left in a forlorn state, and had to depend on his neighbors for shelter in more ways than one. He bemoans the loss of all his Royal Georges, a serious thing in these latter days. He can truly say: "Full was I when I went away; but I returned empty."

Trinity will likely trot out another freshman for pitcher, but we can see their finish if they do. Willie and Murphy have commenced housekeeping at 270 Gerrard E. From their elaborate preparations we judge there will likely either be "something doing" or they'll "get busy" before the season is far advanced.
