—they're coming

There's a real thrill in the words when you see the ducks settling in to your decoys—a thrill that makes you know life in the open is the only life worth while.

Dominion Shotgun Shells

are necessary to insure the last degree of pleasure in the trip—the full bag. Dominion Shot Shells are made for the men who enjoy Canada's outdoor life that they may enjoy it more. Care and skill in manufacture insure success to the sportsman who uses Canuck, Sovereign, Imperial, Regal, Crown (Black) or any shell or cartridge that is guaranteed by the big "D" trademark. Look for it on the box.

Screenings

Mamma—"Now, Freddy, mind what I say. I don't want you to go over into the next garden to play with that Binks boy; he's very rude."

Freddy (heard a few moments after wards calling over the wall)—"Say, Binks, ma says I'm not to go in your garden because you're rude; but you come over here into my garden—I ain't rude."

The new girl in the counting room of a daily newspaper was from the country. An elderly gentleman walked up to her and said:

"I would like to get copies of your paper for a week back."

She replied: "Auntie has one, too; you had better try porous plasters. You can get them just across the street."

He was a professional conjurer. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a wave of the hand, "this is the magic cabinet. I invite any lady in the audience to enter this cabinet. I will then close the door, and when it shall be opened again the lady will have disappeared, leaving no trace."

There was an impressive silence until a little, under-sized man in the second row turned to an enormous woman, who sat by him, and breathed eagerly:

"Maria, dear, won't you oblige the gentleman?"

A Frenchman was waiting at a railway station in Ireland when a couple of natives sat down beside him.

Said one: "Sure, Pat, it's down to Kilmory I've been, and I'm on my way back to Kilpatrick."

"Ye don't say so," said the other. "It's myself that's just after being down to Kilkenny, and I stop here a bit before I go to Kilmory."

"What assassins!" exclaimed the Frenchman. "Would that I were safely back in France!"

Tommy and Timmy were bored stiff. They were smothered in mud, short of cigarettes, and hungry. They both sat silent for a time, then Tommy suddenly burst out:

"Fancy, Tim, a munition worker gets four quid a week for making shells!"

"Yus," growled Tommy, "and we get a bob a day for stopping 'em."

A Hunk O' Tin

A ballad dedicated to the ambulance corps and entitled "Another Hunk o' Tin" is printed in the Aesculapian Bulletin. Part of it is as follows:—

"You may talk of shifting gear
When you're riding far from here
An' you're sent to pick up wounded
and then beat it;

But when it comes to pluggin'
You can keep right on a-chuggin'
'Cause feet works and your hands is free to steer it,

When the roads ain't half the time
A-servin' o' their purpose.—Yes, it's grim!

But of all the amb'lance crew
The surest one I knew
Was our crashin', slammin', bashed-in hunk o' tin.

It was Din! Din! Din
You five and ten cent mouse-trap 'unk o' tin.

Though I've damned and cursed and prayed yer,
By the 'Enry Ford as made yer,
I takes my 'at off to yer!—Unk 'o tin."

George Washington Jones, late of Atlanta, was making his first trip forward on a supply wagon—with not much farther to go—when from the side of the road a camouflaged American battery broke forth thunderously, sending a few 300-pound tokens over the line to Fritz. The ground trembled from the salvo, but not any more than George, as he jumped from the high seat to the road. The American artillery officer in charge of the battery crossed over the road. "Scared?" he demanded. "Well," George said, "Ah was slightly agitated at first. Ah sat-tingly was. But keep right on. Dat's the only way to win this wah—fish dem guns."
