

GinPills

FOR THE KIDNEYS

Recommended

My case was very serious and I was so weak that everybody expected my death any day. I had no suffering could ever be worse than I had to endure. I started at first the gravel passing in my bladder but now I am as strong as ever. I weigh about 150 lbs. more than I did when I started to take Gin Pills. I beg you to publish my letter so that you may know what Gin Pills had done for me. The first box relieved me a good deal, the second box was sufficient to cure me and bring me back to perfect health.

in Ottawa That B. C. Premier
Join the Borden Government to the Morning Chronicle.

On October 30—While nothing has been decided, pending further negotiations, it is understood in government circles here that the Union Government may be rounded out, as far as British Columbia is concerned, and also in regard to the numerical balance of Liberals in the Cabinet, by the inclusion of Premier Brewster. The British Columbia Premier was a party to the union negotiations at the Capital three weeks ago, and it was reported then that he had been offered a portfolio as the representative of his Province in the Government.

At the time Mr. Brewster did not see his way clear to leaving his post at the head of the Provincial Administration, although he intimated that he would support the new Government. Hon. Martin Burrell, the present representative of British Columbia, is said to be anxious to retire from politics to accept a permanent Government position.

Mr. Brewster was in Ottawa a few days ago conferring with Sir Robert Borden. He left for British Columbia to confer with his friends there in regard to the proposal that he should give his services to the new Government here. As far as can be learned no definite word has since been received from him, but the impression here is that as soon as he can complete arrangements in his own Province, he will announce his acceptance of the Prime Minister's offer.

GOVERNMENT ACTS TO BRINGS VETERANS HOME

But 3,000 of First Contingent Left and, If Necessary Arrangements Can be Made, They May Be Home Before Christmas—Survivors of British First Army Now to Be Given Aest

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—If arrangement can be carried out without unduly interfering with military organization and efficiency at the front the 3,000 or so Canadians who have survived the dangers and withstood the hardships of three years of the war will be given a long furlough this winter with permission to return back to Canada.

The survivors of the first Canadian division have won the right to a long rest and a chance to revisit their families at home. The government fully recognizes this and is sympathetically considering the proposal.

It is understood that the imperial authorities and Sir Arthur Currie have been communicated with in regard to it. A similar long furlough at home is to be given this winter to the heroic remnant of Britain's first army which fought from Mons to Marne.

According to private advices received by The Telegraph some time ago but withheld from publication pending receipt of news from Ottawa, it is considered very probable that the boys who went overseas with the first contingent may be allowed to return to Canada on leave in time to eat their Christmas dinner at home.

While no official word has come to Canada to that effect so far as is known, letters received from the boys by their friends would indicate that the military authorities are preparing to send them home. It is said that the members of the first contingent who survive are being given honor stripes at the rate of one for every six months which they have served overseas with a view to getting them together for the return.

It is estimated that, allowing for those who have already returned, whose remains rest forever beneath the fields of France and Flanders, and those who are prisoners in German camps, that about 3,000 men will be the number of the first contingent who survive are being

GROW ROOT SEED

(Experimental Farm Note)

If you set aside a few choice roots at harvest time this autumn and then make up your mind to grow a supply of mangel, turnip and carrot seed, at least sufficient for your needs, you will save yourself a number of disappointments in 1919 and future years. All signs point to a serious root seed shortage, a shortage, that can only be remedied by the growing of these seeds on the home farm. Select two dozen smooth well shaped mangels, turnips or carrots of your own favorite variety. Put these carefully away in cellar or pit to await the coming of spring. In April when the soil is in condition to plow, bring the stock seed roots out of storage and set them in position that they may produce a seed crop. In soil well prepared by ploughing or cultivating, plow a deep furrow or dig holes sufficiently deep to plant the seed root, so that the crown will be the only part exposed at the level of the ground surface. Cultivate the soil about these plants as you would cultivate potatoes. The seed bearing stalks will appear very soon after the roots are set; these will continue to develop during the season and in July will blossom and set seed. The ripening process will continue through August and in September the seed will be ripened and ready to harvest. With mangels, beets or turnips bring down some crocheting and began playing with the hook. Child-like she had to put it in her mouth. When it became fast in her gum she ran crying to her mother. The idea that came to the mother was that the hook must be removed at once. Had she wiggled it around carefully and pushed the other way just a little, it might have come out easily. Instead she became alarmed. The first thought that occurred to her was to jerk it out and jerk it she did.

If we were to write out a list of remedies and place it where we knew we could find it quickly we might do much toward making the sufferer more comfortable. In case of burns, soda, vasoline or lard is good. Never attempt to tear clothing from burned flesh, but rather cut around it and then bathe. We can do little at home to help broken bones but we can get the sufferer into a comfortable position to await the doctor's visit. For sprains a comfortable position and ice is essential. The application of very hot cloths will help reduce the pain. For bruises apply either arnica or witch hazel. In cases of poison a list of antidotes will be found in a physiology. Wine of ipecac is good to produce vomiting. Grapes care should be taken to keep bottles containing poison away from children. When a foreign particle lodges in the eye tears will often wash it out. Some are quite skillful in laying the eyelid back and with the aid of a match or toothpick removing the speck. In case of fainting the person can be revived by sprinkling the face and neck with cold water. Wounds demand the greatest of care for they may become very serious. Apply iodine and keep the patient quiet. Wounds which break the skin may result in blood poisoning unless care is taken to keep them from becoming infected. Nothing should touch the wound excepting that which has been sterilized.

HAIG PRAISES GALLANTRY OF THE CANADIANS

Persistent Fighting

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via London, October 27.—(By W. A. Willison, special correspondent of the Canadian Press)—For the last twenty-four hours persistent fighting has been going on on the Canadian front. To the left of our advance the splendid success gained yesterday morning in the capture of Bellevue spur has been followed by the final defeat of the enemy forces at Laanbeek. Very heavy resistance was encountered at both of these points, the enemy machine gun and artillery fire being particularly severe, but the Germans were finally driven out, after hand-to-hand fighting, in which our infantry stormed their positions and captured their formidable "Pill Box" stronghold defences.

BELIEVE ITALY WILL YET WIN

London, Oct. 29.

That Great Britain and France must go promptly to Italy's help is the view expressed by several morning newspapers. While all the newspapers recognize the gravity of Italy's army, with the conviction that they ultimately will emerge victorious. Italian perseverance and successes of the past are called with warm admiration and the weakness of some links in the defensive chain is condoned.

FIRST AIDS IN THE FARM HOME

A farmer cannot make a trip to the druggist every day, therefore it is essential that in the farm home the medicine chest should be well stocked. Before the last of anything is used a new supply should be purchased. In case of serious illness or accident, a doctor should of course be called, yet very often it is almost impossible to get a doctor and often for those living far from a city it takes some little time for a doctor to arrive.

To remain calm in the face of the unusual or the unexpected is a test of character, et in case of an accident it is most important that we remain calm. We will do harm if we do not keep our nerves steady. A mother once jerked a crochet hook which had caught in the flesh of a child's mouth. The flesh was torn and bled profusely. It might have resulted seriously had it become infected. The child (unknown to the mother) had got down some crocheting and began playing with the hook. Child-like she had to put it in her mouth. When it became fast in her gum she ran crying to her mother. The idea that came to the mother was that the hook must be removed at once. Had she wiggled it around carefully and pushed the other way just a little, it might have come out easily. Instead she became alarmed. The first thought that occurred to her was to jerk it out and jerk it she did.

WHO CAUSED THE ELECTION

Some political writers allege that a winter election was decided upon by the Government with the object of making it impossible for Sir Wilfrid to take an active part in it or perhaps killing him if he does. A silly enough story but deserving of some attention.

There would have been no election at all were it not for Sir Wilfrid. Yielding to his Quebec followers who wanted an election on the conscription issue he refused an extension of the parliamentary term. That meant certain legislation with respect to a wartime election, which had to be put through with the aid of closure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier never attempted to facilitate business in the House. Indeed many of his friends believe he is lonely when the House is not sitting, and consequently does not mind how long the session lasts.

If he had foreseen present conditions there would have been no election. He forced an election because he thought he could win with a solid French and alien vote. The props have been knocked from under him, and he would gladly agree to an extension of the term were it not now to late.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT NEAR BRIDGETOWN

BRIDGETOWN, N. S., October 29.—What might yet prove a serious shooting accident took place about ten o'clock this morning in Beaufield, a small village near the North Mountain. Gordon, Delois and Kenneth, three sons of Kenneth Hebb, of Upper Grandville, were returning from a porcupine trap when in some way a 22 rifle carried by one of the boys, who was about twelve years of age, was accidentally discharged the bullet lodging in the left leg of Gordon, aged 21. Medical aid was immediately summoned from Bridgetown and although the bullet has not yet been removed it is thought that the wounded man will recover.

SILVER WEDDING

Wednesday's Fredericton Gleaner contains an interesting account of the 25th wedding anniversary of the Rev. F. Clark Hartley and Mrs. Hartley, of Truro, N. S. After the young people's meeting of the Baptist church, a reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, and a presentation made to them of two cases of solid silver initialed tea spoons and a silver plate containing one hundred and forty-two new twenty-five cent pieces. Although they were taken by surprise the gifts were suitably responded to by the happy pastor and his wife.

HELPFUL HINTS

Washing in cold water when overheated is a frequent cause of pimples. It is said a wart can be removed by touching it several times a day with castor oil.

Cover raisins with water when stinging them. This prevents stickiness, and cleanses the raisins.

It is good economy to take time to keep the hands in good condition. Use small mops, brushes and paddles for every possible kind of work.

Cut the old table linen into small pieces and keep it in some handy place in the kitchen to use in greasing cake and bread pans, then burn. This saves time and greasy fingers. Lemon juice is good to remove stains, and pumice stone for scouring grime off the hands. It is always the part of wisdom to take the very best care of these, our bodies.

People troubled with chronic sick headache will be glad to know that sleep, if taken at the psychological moment, will prevent the attack. If the subject of sick headaches will watch the symptoms they will note that it begins with a feeling of weariness and heaviness. This is the time to sleep an hour, or even two, and it will eventually prevent the headache. When the attack is fairly under way, sleep will not prevent it.

HUNS EVACUATE

PETROGRAD, Oct. 29.—The Germans have evacuated the Warer Peninsula on the Gulf of Riga, where they made a landing recently, the War Office announces. The announcement says Warer Manor has been harried and that provisions there have been stolen. No fighting has taken place in the Gulf of Finland, but trawlers are active there.

A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a Toronto house at a very low price, and have it labeled his own product. This greasy imitation is the poorest one we have yet seen of the many that every Tom, Dick and Harry has tried to introduce. Ask for MINARD'S and you will get it.
