The play is said to possess many unique features, and to be rich in wholesome, witty dialogue. A pleasing feature of this production will be the introduction of the old-time Folk-Songs and Dances.

GARDEN PERSIAN

This Excellent Vocal Gem Will be Presented by Sam. I. Slade On November 29th

At the beginning of the year, when Mrs. Manson Campbell was elected president of the Ladies' Assisting Society of the Public General Hospital, she determined that 1907 would be a banner year in the history of the Society, and realized that in order to effect such an outcome, a great effort would have to be made, as her predecessor had left no stone undurned to accomplish good results duting her tenure of office. One manoeuvre of the campaign was to have a member of the Society take one of each of the twelve months, and in that month have an entertainment, or sale of some kind, take one of each of the twelve months, and in that month have an entertainment, or sale of some kind, in order to raise the amount necessary to wipe off the balance due on the new Maternity wing. The "Ladies of the Month," so to speak, have all had splendid success attend their efforts so far.

The month of November promises to be as good as, if not better than, any previous month. Mrs. A. C. Woodward, who has the month of November, has, through the kindness of Mr. Samuel Slade, of Detroit, arranged with bim for the production of The Persian Garden Party on Friday evening, Nov. 29, in the Brisco Opera House.

The Persian Garden, the Robaiyat of Omar Khayyam set to music, is one of the vocal gems of the day, arranged as it is for solo, duet, quartet and recitative rendition of the beautiful words and sentiments of the renowned Persian philosopher and poet.

Mr. Slade will bring to Chatham a company of celebrated, selected singers to present The Persian Garden, which will, undoubtedly, be well received.

den. which will, undoubtedly, be well received.

Mr. Slade only recently returned from New York, where he sang the solo parts of The Persian Garden at John Wanamaker's concerts, which were made a special feature during the latter part of September and in October, and on Whach Mr. Wanamaker spent from $45,000 to $50,000 to secure the best voices in the land.

POPULAR FURNISHERS

On page eight of to-day's issue will be found some pointers in reference to the fall and winter styles for man's clothes, which should interest every well dressed man in the city. This firm is just opening up a fine line of men's furnishings, and those who are considering this season's purchases should not fail to call at this store, and inspect the stock before arriving at any decision.

morning was undoubtedly the largest this year. The capacity of Chatham's big market place was taxed to its utmost capacity. Hind and fore quarters of pork made their appearance on the market this morning, and there were hundreds of bags of potatoes and apples offered for sale. The outside spaces from King to Wellington streets were all taken up, and the busy scene on the market place this morning would be a revelation to anyone who did not know of the large amount of produce which is offered for sale here every Saturday.

There was not much change in the vegetable market, which was as large as ever. Butter was selling early in the morning at 28c., but gradually dropped to 26c., 25c. and 23c.

Eggs sold at 28c. and remained Mr. Aster Hind, Wood Street, coins in his possession,

The Chatham Lyceum Course

This excellent, course opens this year with a strong musical number, to be given by one of the most talented organizations on the concert platform. The Dunbars will entertain the numerous patrons in the Owber Houses on Thursday next Oct. Opera House, on Thursday next, Oct. 24. to a varied and artistic program of both vocal and instrumental music. The Cleveland Ladies' Orchestra is a pleasant reminiscence of last year's course. There is another treat in store next Thursday. Single tickets 50c. and 75c; subscribers' tickets half-price of single tickets at the Central Drug Store, and at W. W. Turner's.
