We have hitherto neglected to notice the praiseworthy offer by the Proprietors of L'Ami du Peuple, of a Gold Medal to the person who shall, between this date and the first of May, furnish them with the best Treatise on the Feudal Tenure, and the most useful suggestions for its abolition. The Treatise may be written in French or English. The Ami deserves credit for this. But this is not all; it has taken another step to gratify, as it states, a number of its English-origin readers in town and country, and has commenced publishing its Editorial remarks in English as well as French. This arrangement will probably assist in the spread of our vernacular among the Gallo-Canadians; and
