WOMAN'S RIGHT TO PROPOSE

British Girl Claims That Condition Following War Have Made Old

Among the last rights of women to be fought is the right to propose.

It is the inevitable consequence of the vote and of the war. The position of woman with regard to marriage has entirely changed, and the sooner it is recognized the better. Up till new nice women have properly not proposed, because it meant virtually:

Now that a weman can be as independent as a man she need have no scruples on that score. "A Girl From the War" writes in the continental edition of the London Mail.

In every other direction the position of men and women, with regard to marriage, is equal. It is quite ridicuous that it should be an honorable thing in a man to love a woman who es not return his affection, and yet be a disgrace to a woman to love unasked. A proposal from the man clears the air, and it would be the same with one from the woman.

In the present condition of things a woman often wastes the best years of her life on a hope. It would be much better if she could say in the begin-"I like you, and if you like me as much as I like you, let us spend our lives together." It would be quite simple for the man to reply, if he were of a different mind: "I am sorry. Of course, I like you, but I do not feel like coing into partnership.

The weman would then put him out of her mind and go about her busine Broken hearts heal in time, and it is possible that hearts would never get beyond the wounded stage if this plan were adopted.

There is a serious reason why it should be adopted. Some badly wounded men are feeling much as if they had changed places with the women. They de not have to say, "Will you keep me?" when they propose, but what to them is almost as bad, "Will you keep

It would be a great relief to many a crippfed man in love if proposals were taken out of men's hands. In the present circumstances no nice girl could bring herself to propose, however willing she is to keep herself, however much she loves the man. There is no need to fear that the new right would give added license to the other kind of girl. She prepose new, although not in so many words.

A new element has been added to the night life of Peking and Tien-tsin, strange and yet familiar to occasional sightseers from western countries. The "Chieu Shih Chun," or "Save-World Army," is conducting its open air meetings on the street corners of the Chinese cities, and the spectacle reproduces in China a scene that was equally strange in the great cities of England and America when the Salva-tion army first came into existence. For "Chiou Shih Chun" is Chinese for "Salvation army" in a land where the language has no exact verbal equiva-"salvation" and must do its best by the combination "save-world." Less than three years ago the Salva-tion army made its start in China, and a party of forty officers from the West tackled the job of mastering your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and cructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of the "Chlou Shih Chun" in Peking. two corps in Tien-tsin, and fourteen scattered throughout the country as ache, you can get relief in five minutes far north as the border of Mongolia.

by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to In organization the "Chiou Shih Chun" is identical with the Salvation army elsewhere and the Chinese salvation soldier lives under the same rules of discipline.-Christian Science Monitor.

Night Fly Fishing.

The question as to whether or not Geo.
Thou will rise to flies by moonlight is one that has long been discussed in the Adirondacks. A number of Adi-rondack guides have insisted that they have taken good catches of trout by ight fly fishing. Others of the brethren, however, have merely niled when one speaks of sparing the speckled ones under the light of the

Some fishermen claim to have taken them that way, while others say it is merely a fish story. Apparently about the only way one can prove it to his own satisfaction is to go some moonlight night to waters where they know rout are and try it for themselves.

There is, however, no doubt regarding brown trout taking flies at night, at least not in some waters. Arthur Munsil Malone recently secured seven ane brown trout from Salmon river, whose waters were bathed in moon-light at the time.—Saranac Lake Daily

Honor for the Cowbell Never again can the cowbell be ooked upon as something merely bucolic, commonplace and utilitarian, connoting at best for the city man memories of idling away a summer hol-iday in the country. What the cow-bell has meant to the country boy in early rising to do stable chores, and tedious hunting through swampy botom lands for the helfer who appears to have no homing instinct it is rather difficult to express politely. But new the despised cowbell has achieved its in, for thanks to the ingen

FOR almost fifty years Beaver Flour has been demonstrating to Canadian women that it is unrivalled as the best flour for general baking purposes.

The chief reason for this is that "Beaver" is a blended flour,—containing all the richness and goodness of the world-famed Ontario Winter Wheat combined with enough Western Hard Wheat to give it strength.

BEAVER FLOUR

enables any cook to produce bakings that are real

Bread made with Beaver Flour has that delicious, nutlike, homemade flavor so much sought after by all who appreciate good things to eat; while pies, cake and pastries are noted for their lightness, crisp flakiness and even texture.

Beaver Flour has earned its enviable reputation for superiority. If you are not using it now-try it! Sold by your grocer.
