The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"Don't send my boy where your girl can't go. And say, there's no danger for boys, you know. Because they all have their wild oats to sow!" There's no more excuse for my boy to be low. Than your girl. Then please don't tell him so.

"Don't send my boy where your girl can't go. For a boy's sin or a girl's sin is sin, you know. And my baby's hands are as clean and white. And his heart is as pure as your girl's to-night."

—Anonymous.

There is one great moral reform that I hope to see in the twentieth century will be at least started, and that is the abolishment of a dual standard of morality for the two sexes.

Not long ago I wrote an article on the old-fashioned mother and the wisdom of listening to some of her old-fashioned advice.

Shortly afterward, one of this sisterhood of mothers wrote to me to say that she thought that some of the things in the article applied to her son, but that it had rolled from his shoulders like water off a duck's back, because he was sure it was meant only for girls.

It wasn't meant only for girls by any means. On the whole, I think that most young men need a conservative mother's advice much more than their sisters.

But you'd need Diogenes' lantern to find the man who would admit that. A woman can't possibly understand the peculiar temptations a man has.

or the peculiar standards he lives by, think most boys. Of course, they expect their sisters to be refined and careful and straight. The very thought of anything else makes their blood boil. But as for themselves—that's different. They're men.

I am an ardent suffragist, but I would rather see women get their rights in this matter than at the polls. I would rather see the time when a man's sin and a woman's sin would be regarded in just the same light, than the time when women will have free access to the ballot box.

I realize, of course, that women are their own worst enemies in this thing. It is a sad fact that a man will forgive an erring woman far more quickly than her sisters will. It is they who harshly condemn the woman who "loved not wisely, but too well," even while they forgive the man who has deliberately led a fast life.

She has lost caste forever. He has merely been "sowing his wild oats." And yet it is the same sin. Isn't it abominable? Isn't it absurd? Isn't it shortsighted?

For we are doing ourselves far more harm than we realize. A prominent woman physician recently made the prophecy to me that the woman of the next decade was going to begin to demand of her lover the same clean record she brings to him.

I am not so hopeful of that. It seems to me the next century will be nearer the mark. The most I hope for is a gradual tendency in that direction.

But I do hope for that. And I do think the woman who is working for complete justice for her sex can do nothing better than try to abolish this dual standard of morality, and put in its place one standard of rights and wrongs for both sexes, one attitude towards the same weaknesses whether they be found in man or woman.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

A packed pint of chopped meat is a pound.

The last spoonful of jelly can be added to pies or cooked prunes.

A slice of lemon stewed with prunes gives a most delicious flavor.

Don't add the flavoring to soft custard until the custard is cold.

If meat for soup is cut into small pieces more nutriment will be obtained.

When frying mush dip the slices first in white of egg. This makes them crisp.

For the roast of cold lamb course, serve an egg salad, sprinkled with minced mint leaves.

To peel tomatoes without scalding, rub them backwards with the blunt edge of a knife.

Clean the glass of pictures with whiting, as water is apt in time to mar the painting beneath.

When leather armchairs look shabby, they should be wiped off with a soft cloth, dipped in olive oil.

When the eyelashes are thin or inclined to stand out, rub them at night with vaseline or cocoa butter.

Wooden breadboards are kept in better condition by rubbing them with sand than by simply using soap.

In selecting beef, the pieces which are well mottled with fat will be found the richest and juiciest.

In making bread, do not fill the pans over half full. Bread should rise to twice its size before baking.

Wring a cloth in vinegar and wring it several thicknesses around cheese to keep it from molding or drying.

Odd pieces of fruit, such as an orange, an apple or an orange, are mixed with lemon gelatine to advantage.

A little vinegar put into the water in which eggs are poached will keep them white and prevent them from spreading.

In baking cake it is well to remember that a sponge cake requires a lower temperature than a cake made with butter.

White kid gloves should be rubbed gently with bread crumbs after each wearing, and they will keep clean a long time.

A scented bag that will keep moths away is made as follows: One half ounce each of cloves, nutmeg and caraway seeds.

Old bread just now takes a new form in breadcrumb cakes. Soak the bread in buttermilk and use flour to thicken the batter.

Add a teaspoonful of sugar of lead to the water in which fine silk hosiery is washed to prevent the delicate color from fading.

Palatable as Cream.—"The D. & L." Emulsion, for those suffering from severe coughs and hemorrhages, is used with the greatest benefit.

Your Nerves

Your nerves must be fed with pure, rich blood, or there will be trouble. Poorly fed nerves are weak nerves; and weak nerves mean nervousness, neuralgia, headaches, debility. Weak nerves need good food, fresh air, and Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla.

Liver and Stomach Wrong,

Indigestion, Bad Color, Pale, Fatigued.

Those oppressed by Palpitation and Heart Pains will find interesting facts in this Article.

The following letter is printed with the hope that it will show a clear road to health to those who suffer the pangs of indigestion and weak stomach.

"I am anxious to send the message of hope far and wide to all who are in poor health, as I was a year ago," writes Mrs. Ernest P. Gomez, from Meriden. "For years I have had a weak stomach and have experienced all the distress caused by indigestion. I may say that the heart pains, watery risings, pressure of gas from fermentation at times almost drove me wild. For a time I could scarcely eat a mouthful without causing myself endless misery; I could not sleep well, my color was fearful, dark circles under my eyes, bad dreams, etc.

"As a last hope I was persuaded to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. As I persevered with this treatment my appetite gradually returned, and I began to relish my meals. My strength slowly returned, the headache and chest pains grew less severe, and at last I began to look my old self again. Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me, and I use them occasionally still because I find as a system regulator and health-supporter no medicine is equal to them."

The same medicine that so wonderfully restored Mrs. Gomez will also cure you, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. Beware of substitutes. By mail from the Catarrhzone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Three Children Burned to Death.

Parry Sound, Ont., Feb. 12.—News has reached here that three children have been burned to death in a fire at Shawanaga, at the home of Freeman Carpenter, about eighteen miles north of here, on the C.P.R. The house was totally destroyed by the fire, which occurred Friday night about twelve o'clock. The father and mother, the five children and a young lady who was visiting at the home, retired to rest about 10.30, leaving a good fire in the stove. Mrs. Carpenter was awakened by the glare of light and aroused her husband and a young woman, who slept in an adjoining room. All the children were asleep upstairs. The father rushed up the stairs and succeeded in getting three of them, but one of them died four hours later. The other two boys were burnt to a crisp. Nothing whatever of the furniture was saved, and the woman escaped with but little clothing.

Doctor's Strange Story

"I used to write for a medical periodical. On returning home one day after a very heavy day's work at the hospital, and feeling completely exhausted, I found a note from the editor. 'Please let me have an article on such-and-such a subject to-night.' I sat down with pen and paper before me, but not a word could I write. Then I lay back lazily, and began to speculate as to the cause of my want of ideas. I thought, 'The brain is the same as it was yesterday, but yesterday I was not tired; perhaps it is the feeble circulation that prevents the brain from acting. If the blood does not go up to the brain, I may bring the brain down to the feet.' I therefore placed my head flat on the table, looking sideways at the paper, and began to write easily. On raising my head again every idea fled, so I placed my head again down on the table, and finished the article with my head in that position."—Sir T. Lauder Brunton, in The Practitioner.

A FRIEND TO WOMEN.

What most women require to make them strong and healthy, and to restore good complexion and a well rounded form is more blood, more rich, red blood, such as is added to the system by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Headache, indigestion and the weakness and irregularities which accompany exhausted nerves soon disappear when this great restorative treatment is used.

The monkeys of Gibraltar are familiar objects of interest to visitors to the Rock, and hold official recognition in connection with the garrison. How they first got into occupation of the stronghold is unknown, though they are undoubtedly descended from an ancestor brought by man from the Barbary coast opposite. They are a great and protected community.

The guards on the highest point—the signal-station—have strict orders to chronicle the monkeys' movements, and to register their births and deaths. When their numbers have so greatly increased as to need thinning special warrants from high home authorities are received ere an official may have it in command to give the quietus to a small percentage of the community.
