Women in Civic Affairs.

FRANCHISE LEAGUE HOLDS SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

The meeting held last night in the C.C.C. Hall by the Women's Franchise League in connection with civic affairs and the new Municipal Vote was very largely attended by both men and women. Mrs. W. G. Gosling presided, and in her opening remarks said that she was pleased to see so many present, showing as it did, that the importance of the occasion was properly appreciated. The occasion was, in fact, an unique one for it was the first gathering ever held in Newfoundland for the consideration of women's rights. On the following day, women would for the first time in the history of the country be permitted to exercise that right which had been so long denied them, the right to vote. It was only in a Municipal Election, it was true, but that was the stepping stone to greater things. It was a very definite forward step. Over 1000 women would be permitted to vote in the election, and they had come there this evening to receive some advice from men who had had a wide experience in civic affairs. She urged women to study the questions of the day, both social and political so that they may be well fitted to exercise the privilege of franchise. Mrs. Gosling then called upon Mr. C. P. Ayre, who was for many years a city councillor, to address the meeting.

WOMEN'S PART IN HISTORY.

Mr. Ayre referred to the great part that women had played in history throughout the ages, and declared that in every case they had showed themselves possessed of marked ability. He asked them to consider well the qualifications of the candidates between whom they had to choose on the morrow, and he briefly told what the duties of a councillor should be. He hoped that all who were qualified to vote would take advantage of their newly acquired right, and that before very long he would see women as members of the Municipal Council. The next speaker was Dr. V. P. Burke, Deputy Minister of Education, who made an excellent and witty address. He believed that women should have a say in the management of the city. Government by half the people for the people was not democracy, and it was well time that women were enfranchised. He compared the city to a large house which required cleaning up, and who were better fitted to perform this work than the women? He referred to the high rate of infant mortality existing in St. John's, and said it was anything but creditable to the city, and he trusted that women would now try to stop the appalling crime which was being committed in our midst. We could have a brighter, better, more hygienic city if all did their duty, and he appealed to all who possessed a vote to make use of it. If the women polled a good vote in the coming election it would signify that they were determined to do their best for the community.

EX-MAYOR EXPLAINS PROBLEMS.

Mr. W. G. Gosling, who was mayor at the time that the city charter was prepared and who was responsible for the enfranchisement of women, followed Dr. Burke, and explained fully the many problems with which the City Fathers have been and will be faced. He told of the responsibilities of the Council, and offered suggestions whereby civic conditions might be improved. He laid great stress on the necessity for the early payment of taxes, and he hoped the women would set a good example in this direction. Mr. Frank Bradshaw also offered several useful suggestions which if adopted, would go far towards improving conditions in the city. In the course of an exceedingly witty address, he pointed out the great need for improvement, and he stated that his motto in this connection was "Cleanliness is next to Godliness."

APPRECIATION OF SPEAKERS.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening, the management of the hall, the C.C.C. Band, and Mr. A. Butler, Mrs. Alan Fraser expressed the hope that women would appreciate their responsibility and govern themselves accordingly. Mrs. Hector McNeil seconded the motion, and spoke of the necessity for the advancement of education. Upon being put to the meeting, the motion was carried by acclamation. The National Anthem played by the C.C.C. Band brought the meeting to a close. Several prospective councillors were present during the evening.

The Charm of Bagdad.

I have always collected shoes in the shops of the East and in Bagdad I spent much time in the shoemakers' quarter, talking with the cobblers and bargaining for the red shoes that the Arab wears in the city, the sandals that he uses in the desert, and other specimens of the footwear of Asia, says a writer in the magazine, "Asia." But I found almost as much pleasure in watching the shuttles fly back and forth on an old-fashioned hand silk-loom or standing by while a coopersmith hammered out for me a true Arab coffee-pot, or a wood-worker turned a delicate pipe-
