revolver in hand and shot both of them.
He then ran to the castle and committed suicide. Count Blucher died of his wounds, and the Countess is seriously wounded. The gardener had been discharged for carrying on a lisson with a girl in the castle, and committed the crime for revenge.

Mr. Van Horne in England. LONDON, Oct. 17.—Mr. W. C. Van Horne arrived in London Saturday, after spending Smaday at Lord Mt. Stephen's place, Sanday at Lord Mt. Stephen's place, Rasket Court, Hertfordshire. A cable hat week said that Mr. VanHorne was in England in connection with establishing a fast Atlantic service for Canada. He says, however, that he really comes on no special mission but to consult friends on many railway questions and relaxation am ong the art stulios. Still Mr. VanHorne says the success of the Australia line has emphasized the necessity for an improved Atlantic link.

the grip, which he suffered from in May, and from which he never fully recovered. Marie Edme Patrick Maurice de Mac-Mahon, Duc de Magenta, and marshal of France, was born at Sully on the River Loire July 13, 1808. His ancestors were Itish. They removed to France in 1691, and united their fortunes by marriage with the French nobility. At the age of 17, Patrick Maurice MacMahon entered the military school of St. Cyr. He was sent to French nobility. At the age of 11, Patrick Maurice MacMahon entered the military school of St. Cyr. He was sent to the Algerian wars in 1830, and rapidly rose, becoming general of brigade, in 1848. For brilliant service in the assault on Sebastopol he was made a grand cross of the Legion of Honor, and received the baton of a marshal for conspicuous work in the Italian campaign of 1859. In 1864 he was made Governor-General of Algeria. He will be best remembered, however, by his services in the Franco-German war in 1870-71. He was chief in command at the battle of Sedan, but received a severe wound in the thigh at the beginning of the engagement, and it was Gen. Wimpflen who signed the capitulation. MacMahon was made a prisoner of war and taken to Germany. After his recovery from his wound he returned to France and successfully conducted the siege of Paris against the Commune. On May 24, 1873, he was elected to the presidence of the resulting the prompting May 24, 1873, he was elected to the presidency of the republic. He formed a Conservative Administration which carried Conservative Administration which carried the young Republic safely through a period of prolonged crisis. The National Assembly in November, 1873, voted to extend the presidency to seven years. He resigned June 30, 1879, retired to private life, and had not engaged in politics in the last fourteen years.

fourteen years Gounod Dying. Paris, Oct. 17 .- M . Gounod was reported to have died this afternoon.

Shortly before evening it was announced that the report of M. Gounod's death was premature. He was still breathing, although every moment was expected to be his last. At 9:30 o'clock he was still alive. Charles François Gouned was born in Paris, June 17, 1818. He entered Comservatorie at the age of 26, and the following year carried off the great "Rome" prize, entitling him to residence in lially, where he studied early church music. On his return to France he soon became known as a lyric composer for the stage. Few composers who have risen to eminence have had more failures at the outset of their career than the author of one of the most successful of modern operas "Faust." which, although not actually the first successful work of Gound, took all the lovers of operatio music by surprise.

Gounod, took all the lovers of operation music by surprise.

He was elected a member of the French Institute in the section of music in May, 1866, and was promoted to the rank of commander of the Legion of Honor in August, 1877. He was the author of many successful works.

In 1885 his new oratorio, "Mors et Vita," was produced at the Alberta Hall, and a second performance by special command of the Queen (who was present) took place in February, 1886. M. Gounod's latest opera is "Charlotte Corday."

Movements of Queen Victoria-Wales Horse Sales-A Clever Journalist -De Lesseps in Poor Cir-cumstances.

New York, Oct. 17.—Edmund Yates cables from London to the Tribune as follows: The Queen is to leave Balmoral either on Nov. 16 or 17 and will then reside at Windsor Castls until about Dec. 20, when the court is to proceed to Osborne for two months. Her Majesty will go abroad just after Easter. The Queen's private apartment in Victoria tower, Windsor Castle, have been redecorated during the last few weeks from designs by her Majesty and Princess Beatrice. The Queen has always occupied this suite of rooms, and the next set was appropriated to the use of Prince Albert, since whose death they have been reserved by the Queen, and everything in them remains precisely as he left them.

The Prince of Wales has just sold several Hackney stallions to the Indian Government. They were bred in the royal stud at Wolferton, near Sandringham. The Queen is considerably enlarging a fine herd of Aberdeen-Angus cattle on the royal farm at Abergeldie Mains, near Balmoral, a number of choice animals having been purchased for her Majesty in the recent sales in Scotland.

The first prime minister of Natal under the new constitutional arrangements is Sir John Robinson, a journalist of much tability and proprietor of the leading Natal newspaper. Sir John is well known in colonial circles in London, for his official visits have been numerous, concluding with his mission to Knutsford in May, 1892, to put forward the claims of his colony for a responsible government.

M. De Losseps, though partially recovered from the suddon illness by which he was attacked a week ago, is still very weak, and as soon as he is strong enough to bear the journey it is the intention of his family to bring him up from La Chesnage, where he has resided for the last year or more, to Paris, where he will be in reach of better medical attention. I am sorry to hear that the liquidators of the Panama Canal Company have laid an embargo upon his salary as president of the Suez Canal, and that so far from being wealthy, his family is in very straightened circumstances. This seems the best answer to the accusations made against him of having feathered his neet, etc. The first prime minister of Natal under

A Curious Case.

London, Oct. 17.—The revising officer in the Stepney Division of London has had a curious franchise case to decide. A candidate for the suffrage in Stepney was opposed by the Liberals as being in the Limehouse division. The Conservatives found that part of his house was in Stepney, and that part of his house was in Stepney, and that part of his house was in Stepney, and that be actually slept in two divisions. It was ascertained that at night the claimant's head was in Stepney, although the lower part of his body rested in Limehouse. The barrister, deciding the head to be the most important part of the body, electorally, sllowed his claim to vote in Stepney.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—In the Supreme Court to-day Hon. Edward Blake appeared and moved that the pardoning power case come on after the Manitoba school case. This was agreed to.

Argument was then proceeded with in the Manitoba school case. There were present on the bench, Chief Justice Strong and Justices Taschereau, Gwynne, Fornier and King. Solicitor-General Curran appeared for the Dominion Government and Mr. Robinson appeared under the statute by instruction of the court. Ho did not pretend to represent Manitoba. Mr. Ewart, who appeared for the minority then went on with the, case contending that the right of appeal given to the minority by the British North America Act must mean an appeal from an intra vires or constitutional local act. If an act was found ultra vires there would be nothing to appeal from, and no grounds for remedial legislation, for there would be nothing to appeal from, and no grounds for remedial legislation, for there would be nothing to remedy; consequently the right of appeal (to the Federal executive must refer to intra vires act. The Province had established a system of separate schools after it entered Confederation, and the Catholic minority had a right to appeal at the Dominion from any act taking away privileges thus obtained. He proceeded at length, arguing in favor of the appeal.

Mr. Robinson, who followed, said act taking away privileges thus obtained. He proceeded at length, arguing in favor of the appeal.

Mr. Robinson, who followed, said he appeared by appointment of the court, and it was his duty to suggest reasons why the court should take the opposite view to that presented by Mr. Ewart. No doubt the object of the statute was to give the court an advantage of what might be said on both sides in cases like this. He had no inclination to represent Manitoba's interests, but this appeal assailed an act of the Manitoba Legislature which had been in force for three years. He argued in favor of giving a negative answer to the question required to be answered.

After a few further remarks from Mr. Ewart, the chief justice asked Mr. Wade if he would like to say anything, and the latter replied he had nothing to say.

The case is still in progress.

The McCarthyites Win the Day, But the the McCarington to Recognize the Election — Sunfed Lists — All Feace and Harmony Among the Young Liberais.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—The annual elections of both the Young Men's Liberal and the Young Men's Conservative clubs were held yesterday. That of the Young Liberals was marked by the keenest interest, but was wholly harmonious. Mr. Frank Pedley was elected president by a vote of 247 to 147 cast for Mr. Charles N. Smith, of the Globe, his opponent. Mr. Pedley's entire ticket was also elected.

In the Young Conservative camp things were different. Owing to the open requirer between the McCarthy and the Thompson factions, and the charge that it he voters' list had been tampered with and studied by the latter, President Armstrong a day or two since declared the election postponed. This decree the McCarthy faction, whose nominee for the presidency was John A. Ferguson, B.A., refused to acknowledge, pointing out that under the bylaws no such power was given Mr. Armstrong.

The supporters of John Kane, leader of the Thompson wing, refused to take any part in the balloting, but the McCarthy and the more than the McCarthy.

Finally the result of the day's voting was announced. John A. Ferguson, the Mc-Carthyite, polled 194 votes to three cast for John Kane (Thompsonite). The Mc-Carthyite ticket led in the same proportion. The president declined to recognize this as a valid election, and the charges were referred to a committee of investigation.
