THE JOURNEY TO WASHINGTON

soldiers and sailors awaiting their detail at the pier of the dead chief. Two narrow, overhanging viaducts under which the train passed as it drew slowly out of the station, beneath the weight of crowded humanity packed there by the pressure of the tide of people who filled all the adjoining streets, and the roofs of the houses and the roofs of the cars in the yards were black with people, all uncovered. When the train had cleared the city the people were still there standing at the cross roads and in the fields.

It ran literally between two lines of people. Farmers from the surrounding country had driven through the dark hours of the night to be at the side of the track, where they could pay their last tribute of respect.

THOUSANDS GATHER ALONG THE WAY.

At East Aurora, the first town through which the train passed, the inhabitants had been augmented by thousands from the surrounding country. The country schools along the way were let out and the children the president loved so well in life were there to see his dead body pass.

The train slowed down at every station to allow the people lined up on either side to get a better view of the flag-covered casket. The population of the little towns along the way, like Holland, Arcadia, Machung Junction, Franklinville and Hinsdale, had tripled and quadrupled. The towns seemed suddenly grown into cities. As the train slowed down, the mourners behind the curtained windows of the cars could hear the tolling bells.

At Washington.

THROUGH LIVING LINES.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—Through a living line of bereaved people, stretching from Buffalo up over the Alleghenies, down on to the broad valley of the Susquehanna and to the marble city on the banks of the shining Potomac, the nation's martyred president today made his last journey to the seat of the government over which he presided for four and one-half years. The whole country seemed to have drained its population at the sides of the track over which the funeral train passed. The thin lines through the mountains and the sparsely settled districts thickened at the little hamlets, covered acres in towns suddenly grown to the proportions of respectable cities, and were congested into the multitudes in the larger cities. Work was suspended in field and mine and city. The schools were dismissed, and everywhere appeared the trappings and tokens of woe.

A MILLION FLAGS.

A million flags at half-mast dotted hillside and valley and formed a thick carpet of color over the cities, and from almost every banner streamed a bit of blue. The stations were heavy with the black symbols of mourning. At all the larger towns and cities after the

CANCER CURED

No knife, no plaster, no pain. Send 5 cents in stamps for new booklet, "Cancer Its Cause and Cure, Stott & Co., 1072, Bayview Ave., Toronto."

MORE BOXES OF GOLD.

And Many Greenbacks.

To secure additional information directly from the people, it is proposed to send little boxes of gold and greenbacks to persons who write the most interesting, detailed and truthful descriptions of their experience on the following topics:

1. How have you been affected by coffee drinking and by changing from coffee to Postum?

2. Do you know anyone who has been driven away from Postum because it came to the table weak and characterless at the first trial?

3. Did you see such a person right regarding the easy way to make Postum clear, black, and with a crisp, rich taste?

4. Have you ever found a better way to make it than to use four heaping teaspoons to the pint of water, let stand on stove until real boiling begins, then note the clock and allow it to continue easy boiling full fifteen minutes from that time, stirring down occasionally? (A piece of butter about the size of a walnut, placed in the pot will prevent boiling over.)

5. Give names and account of those you know to have been cured or helped by the daily use of Postum Food Coffee in its place.

6. Write names and address of 20 friends whom you believe would be benefited by leaving off coffee. (Your name will not be divulged to them.)

Address your letter to the Postum Coffee Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., writing your own name and address clearly.

Be honest and truthful, don't write poetry or fanciful letters; just plain, true statements of fact. The contest will be held between October 30th and November 10th, 1901, by three judges, not members of the Postum Food Coffee Co., and a neat little box containing a $10 gold piece, sent to each of the five best writers, a box containing a $5 gold piece to each of twenty next best writers, a $2 greenback to each of the two hundred next best writers, making cash prizes distributed to 325 persons.

Almost everyone interested in pure food and drink is willing to have his name and letter appear in the papers, for such help as it may offer to the human race. However, a request to omit name with your letter.

Every friend of Postum is urged to write, and each letter will be held in high esteem by the company, as an evidence of friendship, while the little boxes of gold and envelopes in money will reach many modest writers whose plain and sensible letters contain the facts desired, although the sender may have but small faith of winning at the time of writing.

Talk this subject over with your friends and see how many among you can win prizes in a good city contest, and in the best kind of a cause. Cut this statement out for it will not appear again.

The procession swept from Sixth street station in Pennsylvania avenue a deeply impressive sight was presented. The historic and venerable building hung in black. Emblems of the nation's mourning were displayed on either building. The Stars and Stripes, with their stars and stripes, floated from hundreds of windows. Banked on both sides of the avenue, from Sixth street to the Executive Mansion, were tens of thousands of people. With bare heads there was no murmur of sound, and people watched with tear-stained eyes the dead chief being borne to his last home. Kinley. There was no music. Amid the hush of the great crowds only the clatter of the horse's hoofs, ringing sharply upon the pavement, was heard. A platoon of mounted police led the way. Next came a delegation of G. A. R. men, and the department of the Potomac, members of the Veteran's Union, and the Spanish war veterans, and Troops I and L of the 11th Cavalry. The funeral cortege followed was the hearse, flanked on either side by the body-bearers, with a detachment of Signal Corps men bringing up the rear. The carriage of distinguished officials were next in line, that of President Roosevelt being immediately behind the Signal Corps. Scattered along at different parts of the procession were groups of army and navy officers, who had informally received the body at the railway station.

THE END OF THE JOURNEY.

It was about half-past two when the head of the procession reached the White House grounds and turned into the driveway. The carriage containing Mr. McKinley, Dr. Rixey and Mr. Abner McKinley had preceded the funeral cortege to the White House by some little time. Dr. Rixey and Mr. McKinley then tenderly assisted Mr. McKinley to the steps. With her right arm resting heavily and wearily upon the shoulder of the doctor, his band's brother, and supported on the other side by Dr. Rixey, she walked slowly along the stone flagging into the house. She was closely veiled, but her feeble steps told the story of her great suffering. She was assisted at the door to the elevator, and to her old room, and soon retired. Dr. Rixey and Mr. Cortelyou later said that she had stood the trying journey very well. Those who had been with her and with her at Buffalo said that she had fully realized the calamity that had befallen her, and it was with some apprehension that they looked forward to the first days alone in Canton. "The major," as she always lovingly called her husband, is still with her, but when she finds herself really alone, the awakening may try her strength. The result cannot be foretold.

When the sad cortege arrived at the White House, the hearse stopped under the porte cochere. The body bearers took the coffin upon their broad shoulders, and passing up the three or four steps awaited until President Roosevelt and the members of the cabinet had alighted from their carriages, and then followed them through the wide open door into the east room, and deposited their precious burden upon a black base and stood at salute, while the executive and cabinet members, with bowed heads, passed by. Two marines, a sailor and a soldier stood guard at each end of the casket, while seated at either end were two members of the Grand Army and two of the Loyal Legion. These will be relieving every two hours during the night.

MR. MCKINLEY'S WILL.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—President McKinley has left a will. The instrument was executed some time before the shooting, and at no time during his final suffering. It is a very simple and direct one, and is in accordance with the wishes of the late president's family. It is believed to be a goodly sum, although not amounting to a large fortune.

Words of Sympathy.

THE LONDON PAPERS.

London, Sept. 16.—The morning papers again appear with heavily leaden borders, and are almost entirely devoted to Mr. McKinley's death. No such extended tributes of sympathy and respect ever marked the death of a British sovereign.

They certainly would not have been called out by the death of any continental ruler.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—The service of mourning for the death of President McKinley, held yesterday morning in the American church in Berlin, was a most impressive one. The church was heavily hung with crepe, and crowded with Germans, British and Americans.

Copenhagen, Sept. 16.—King Alexander of Denmark and other royal personages attended a memorial service for President McKinley, held yesterday in the English Church, The Dowager Empress of Russia, who is visiting the King of Denmark at Fredensborg, sent the Russian minister in Copenhagen to the United States legation, and the American government.

A MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—The Provincial Synod of the Church of England, now in session in a good city, held a memorial service for the late President McKinley on Thursday, in Christ Church Cathedral, in which all the leading bishops of the church in Canada will take part, and as the Duke of Cornwall and York is scheduled to be in the city on that day, it is hoped that the service will be arranged to secure his presence.

Pleasant Work For the Long Autumn Evenings.

Now that the long evenings have come, shortening the hours of outdoor labor, and especially in the country, our young girls and women will apply themselves to a great variety of work for the evening hours.

The beautifulizing of the home is a most pleasant and profitable occupation. The work of making new creations out of old and faded garments and materials by the magic powers of Diamond Dyes, and the making of stylish and artistic costumes, is a most profitable and pleasant occupation. The various home rooms, will claim a large portion of time.

PROPHETRY COMES TRUE.

"You are going to lose something and you will never get it back," was the Egyptian princess as she finished reading the nervous woman's hand.

"I wonder what it can be?" the woman asked. "The greatest importance of the direction of the Loop-de-Loop. A hour later she missed her umbrella and after a minute's hard thinking recalled that she had laid it on a camp stool in the palmist's tent."

Strong Evidence

Convincing letter from Mr. Ferry, of Montreal. He felt the effect of the Oxygen in Powley's Liquefied Ozone.

In adapting oxygen for medicinal use, we have, in Powley's Liquefied Ozone, obtained a preparation which acts most potently on the blood. Nourishing and healthgiving power is added; natural and not artificial or false stimulation is supplied to the system. This is the evidence:

HISTORIC BIER

McKinley Will Rest on the Same Used for Lincoln and Garfield.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The historic bier which was used at the same place in connection with the funerals of Presidents Lincoln and Garfield, was brought from its resting place in the Capitol crypt early yesterday, and half a dozen expert drapers were soon engaged in shrouding it in crepe. The bier rests on a platform about six inches above the level of the floor, and is surmounted by a canopy covered with black cloth. The top of the bier is three feet above the surface of the floor, and when the casket is placed on it the top will be slightly below the level of the average person's face.

MCKINLEY'S FAVORITE FLOWER.

In Cleveland and other cities, preparations are being made for the citizens to wear a red carnation on Thursday, the day of President McKinley's funeral. The red carnation was the late president's favorite flower, which he almost invariably wore.

Nothing Like Malt Breakfast Food For Nourishing and Making the Little Ones Happy.

The proper feeding and nourishing of the child just after weaning should engage the most serious attention of the mother. The great majority of prepared foods produce irritation of the stomach and bowels, and are of improper and unscientific manufacture. This irritation of the digestive organs develop into serious complications that often prove fatal. Malt Breakfast Food is the ideal health food for children of all ages. It is free from starchy substances, easily digested, and assimilated, is richer in flesh and bone producing elements than other foods, and has a deliciousness that captivates the taste of any child. If you would like to see your child grow strong, try Malt Breakfast Food for one week and note well the grand results. Your grocer can supply you.

COST OF COLONIZATION ROADS IN ONTARIO.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—A provincial return has just been printed relating to the expenditures in Ontario on colonization roads during the past seven years, 1894 to 1900, inclusive. The total expenditures amounted to $701,228, which includes expenditures on 4,064 miles of roads required. The number of roads built was 1,242, costing $388.42 per mile. The total cost paid for the roads was $507,288, while $85,560 was paid to overseers. Details of the sums paid to each overseer are also given.

A MEDICINE FOR THE MINER'S PAIN.—Prospectors and others going into the mining regions where doctors are few and drug stores not at all, should provide themselves with a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It will offset the effects of exposure, reduce sprains, and when taken internally will prevent and cure colds and sore throat, and as a lubricant will keep the muscles in good condition.

Phlebotomy, Blind or Bleeding Symptoms: Moisture, intense itching and burning, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Bayard's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulcers, and in most cases removes the tumors.
