-----PRAIRIE FIRE DRILL

How the Western Cowboys Organize to Fight the Flames.

It was understood among the men at the various camps that when a smoke was discovered ascending from the prairie each and every cowboy must saddle his horse and gallop away toward the fire straight out in line from his camp. This had to be done at night, also the fire then being detected by its light, and the boys would come from every direction, striking the line of fire at many different points almost at the same time. If the fire had spread much, the men from the different camps would sometimes be many miles from each other, those from the same station going in a squad to-
