Those who like their dramas served with action bubbling over on every side and vivacity sparkling all about have but to go to Loew's theatre on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday to have their appetites in this direction fully and pleasingly satisfied. "The Crimson Runner," featuring Priscilla Dean, is a daring, vital story of a young Apache girl whom poverty and oppression turned into a female Robin Hood who, under a clever disguise and with the aid of her crafty henchmen, robbed the rich that the poor might eat.

The action of the story takes place in post-war Vienna at the time when this chaotic cosmopolitan city was being torn with the anguish born of a bitter struggle between a freedom crazed proletariat and a proud, cruel aristocracy. The story attains a realism which may be attributed not alone to the splendid portrayal of Miss Dean and her supporting cast, nor yet entirely to the fact that the author knew intimately the life which author knew intimately the fife which he portrays, but also to the unusual fidelity to detail for which credit goes to Count Maxime St. Hilaire, who acted as special technical direc-

But, in order to enable you to form an adequate idea of the thoroughness with which I intend to deal with the subject of cancer I am going to show here several questions which I have copied from various magazines and newspapers. These questions I honestly believe cover the whole subject of cancer, and it is these questions, every one of them, that my Master-Key answers with an unerring accuracy. The questions are sollows:
