

THE TORONTO WORLD

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 15, 1928.

LOCAL NEWS PARAPHRASED.

Morse mottled up his won a very fine reputation among the judges at the different fairs held in the dominion this season. Not only have awards been made for the quality but the increase of their sales has been widely noted. Don't fail to ask for Morse's Mottled soap.

Appeals against the city assessment will not be received after to-day.

A waterworks sub-committee will revise the city water meter system this week.

The Riverside school trustees are going to build an addition to the Bolton street school.

A lot, 47,135 feet, on Sunnyside near Queen was sold for $505 by the sheriff on Saturday morning.

A colored man named Gorman was brutally assaulted on the Kingston road by parties unknown.

An acre of land was sold on the Brockton road, north of Dundas street, a day or two since for $1200.

The steamer Rupert left last night with freight for Port Huron and Niagara, returning with fruit.

Seventy births, three deaths and thirteen marriages were registered at the city hall the past week.

Burglars attempted the house of Mr. Randall, stationer, at Yonge and Bloor on Saturday morning.

The members of L.O.L. 71 visited their Parkdale brethren the other night and spent a very pleasant evening.

The schooner Arcadia cleared from this port on Saturday afternoon with $7000 worth of barley on board for Oswego.

The licensed victuallers leave this morning at 8.35 for Hamilton to play baseball with their fellow-victuallers of that city.

Klara Louise Kellogg with her concert company is announced for a one night's performance at the Hotel Windsor on Saturday.

Wm. Ewing, aged 16, stole a shell purse from a shop in St. Lawrence street Saturday and was arrested by policeman Blom.

The medical health officer declares that the absence of a fever on Ontario street, between Dundas and Queen, is causing disease.

Peter Norton, Jr., of Leslieville, charged with assaulting one John Mitchell, was discharged by the magistrate, Mr. W. H. Dool.

Richard Clayton, the dirty and naughty man who has been around the streets for sometime, was arrested as a vagrant Saturday.

The case of Andrews v. Hill, Campbell v. Wheeler and Wilson were heard by Judge Boyd on Saturday. Judgment was reserved.

In Barker v. Stoffer the case was ordered for new trial.

Mr. Alfred Piddington, the Yonge street bookster, intended spending the winter in Southern California for the benefit of his health. Mr. and Mrs. Piddington leave Toronto on the 19th inst.

Owing to the indefatigable exertions of Mr. H. R. Jacobs, the manager of the Adelaide street rink, the electric lights have been replaced in front of the rink, and are a boon to those who reside near, or pass up and down, the street at this point.

In the suit brought by Mr. Carnegie against the Federal bank the plaintiff obtained an order in chambers to examine Mr. Holland, the manager of the Ontario bank, as to the value of the shares of that bank held by the plaintiff.

The defendants are appealing from that order, and the appeal will be argued to-day.

Before Judge Galt at the assize Saturday the case of Landry v. Mayhew was heard. This is an action taken to recover $125, being the amount of a note given by Landry to Mayhew.

The case was heard by Judge Galt, who was put off till the next assize, in order to provide possession of the land.

Joseph P. McManus and Patrick Shand came from Markham to play a game of pool on Saturday at 7 o'clock. McManus got $5 from Shand to buy some liquor. Shand subsequently wanted the money back, and McManus refused to return it, and when brought face to face with a policeman denied having it. The bill was found in his pocket by the police stationer, where a charge of obtaining money by fraud was entered against him.

The following officers were elected by the Young People's League of St. Patrick's R.C. church for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Rev. H. M. Parsons; president, J. H. Fyfe; first vice president, J. S. Knower; second vice president, A. Davidson, M.D.; secretary, J. H. Duthie; assistant secretary, Miss Sinclair; treasurer, R. S. Baird; editor of magazine, Miss George; executive committee, Miss Scott, Miss Stewart, J. J. S. Gathore, A. McIntyre.

At Oliver, Cost & Co's. mart Saturday the following properties were sold: One two story roughcast dwelling house, Gerrard street west, to John A. Martin for $240, and two vacant lots on Arthur street, near Bellwoods avenue, 33 feet 6 inches, and 50 feet 6 inches, by a depth of 172 feet, sold to Alid. Crocker for $20 per foot.

Mr. McFarlane's auction room two three story brick houses on College avenue, Queen's park, and one on Bloor street, were put up for sale but withdrawn at $5000 each, the reserve bid not being reached.

Police Court Penalties.

An unusually long list of drunks was disposed of by Mr. Denison Saturday. Patrick Morley, trespass, was discharged. Edward McKeown was fined $2 and costs for threatening; he was bound over to keep the peace.

Michael Doherty, wife beating, was remanded until Oct. 16. Patrick Murphy, charged with having committed a burglary in the town of Dundas, was sent to the scene of his alleged crime for trial.

A woman named Elizabeth Johnson, charged with insanity by her husband, was dismissed as her husband showed more evidence of insanity than she did. John Poulter and Henry Myers, who came up for having traded uniforms with each other while drunk, were discharged. Bernard Samuels for purchasing goods on the Sabbath was fined $5 and costs. Hugh O'Reilly, charged with indecent assault, was committed for trial at the next assize. Charles Gibson was fined $1 and costs for obstructing the sidewalk on Yonge street with goods.

The Queen's Own at Church.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Queen's Own Rifles paraded at the drill shed for divine service, there being a fair muster.

Major Allen is in command. The route was along King and up Yonge streets to the Central Presbyterian church at the corner of Greenview street and St. Vincent street.

Notwithstanding the slippery condition of the block pavement, the boys marched well to the alternate music of the brass band and the Rev. P. McFarlane preached a practical and appropriate sermon from Acts 2: 39: "We ought to obey God rather than man."

The rev. gentleman, who was once a volunteer himself, drew his illustrations mainly from military life. The collection taken up was for charitable objects.

Business Troubles.

The organ firm of S. R. Warren & Co. are in difficulties. The main credit is the Federal bank, which stands fully secured.

The liabilities outside of the bank foot up to $5000. Samuel Le Page, butcher, Winnipeg, assigned in trust. Muckle & Johnston, hotel, Winnipeg, assigned in trust. A. J. Marion, grocer, Montreal, to be assigned by sheriff. C. O. Burt, artist, Montreal, assigned in trust. J. B. Sarraun, furrier, Montreal, assigned in trust. A. Maveau & Sons, grocers, Quebec, offering to compromise. Francois St. Jean, tailor, Montreal, assigned in trust. Alfred Lalond, general store, Vancouver, assigned in trust.

For Mr. Johnson's Benefit.

Mr. Irving has converted a Presbyterian churchman; that is, without any overtures, but merely by his acting, he brought a Rev. Mr. K. of Edinburgh to declare to his congregation that Mr. Irving was a "superb" and "divine," and give a graphic account of an evening at the theatre, "one of the most delightful, instructive and interesting of his life." His congregation was shocked. Many wept for his destruction.

Oak Hall.

Now that the cold weather is approaching fast, every one should provide himself with a first-class overcoat of fine and lasting quality and low prices. This well known establishment has now $100,000 worth of goods on hand and are determined to carry the day for good style, finish, goods and low prices. Every one should examine their stock.

Wholesale Jewellery.

Carrier, Marshall & Co. are now actively engaged in filling orders for the wholesale department, which has been fully re-stocked with a large stock of imported goods. Orders should be sent as quickly as possible, so as to avoid delay in delivery (under, when crowding orders for delivery is the order of the day. The display of goods is a very fine one, and these goods bid fair to create a large demand this season.

Old Frobs Old.

On Saturday Old Frobs predicted fair weather. It rained all day, prevented the lacrosse match and interfered with business generally.

Another Credit Valley Stone Front.

No. 53 and 55 King street east are to be rebuilt with a brown stone front of Credit Valley stone.

Latest Sporting News.

Conclusion of the Queen's Own Matches.

The Queen's Own finished their rifle matches on Garrison common Saturday. The volley firing and skirmishing match created considerable interest. The ranges in the volley firing were 150 and 300 yards, five rounds per range, the position being standing and kneeling respectively. In the skirmishing the ranges were from 100 to 450, the number of rounds being five, advancing and retiring. Five members constituted a team, but G and C companies were each a man short. Notwithstanding their deficiency G company won by a large majority, the following being the scores:

	Volley.	Skirmishing.	Total.
G company.....	132	120	252
F company.....	82	82	164
C company.....	82	74	156
B company.....	74	66	140
E company.....	74	66	140

The Victoria Rifle Club challenge cup and photograph. The judging distance match, open, was won by Lieut. Macdonald, of the Victoria Rifles. The cup was won by Lieut. Macdonald, of the Victoria Rifles. The cup was won by Lieut. Macdonald, of the Victoria Rifles.

Pressmen on the Lacrosse Field.

The Toronto Press athletic club played a match on the Shamrock grounds at Montreal Saturday. The grounds were wet and muddy and the players as a consequence had pretty hard work to keep their feet. It was a bad day for the Toronto players, luck being dead against them. They were beaten three straight games. There were only ten men able to play. The visitors were heartily welcomed by their conferees of Montreal, who showed them round the city and entertained them in a very handsome manner at the Grand Hotel at night.

To-day's Lacrosse Match.

The games and lacrosse match set down for Saturday at the new athletic grounds in Rosedale were postponed until to-day on account of the wet weather. The thousands of disappointed spectators will be glad to hear that arrangements have been made for the game to be played at 2.30. The Toronto team will play the same team that won the championship two weeks ago, and the Shamrock team will be selected from the following players: Healey, Butler, Healey, McGregor, Prior, McGuire, McKewen, Meenan, Creagan, Kennedy, McKay, Hart, Devine. The ball will be faced at 3.30.

The Honours.

About forty members of the Toronto Hunt club participated in the meet Saturday with Dr. Smith, the new master, at their head. The honours were cast off on the north side of Taylor's farm at Tordmore and ran across Ward's into Lees, and thence over the Newmarket race course to Bell's corner, where the honours were checked. On resuming the chase, the honours led the way across Port St. Charles and over the Kingston road, the fox being killed in the open at Victoria park. Mr. Thomas on Liberty was the first up, Mr. Dundas, lately from England, being second, and A. W. Gordon third. The run was about seven miles.

Piers at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 13.—First race, 2 mile, Bob Cooke won, Jennie Ten Brook 2; time 1:22. Second race, 2 heats, Callie won, Kilmory 2; time 1:19.1. Third race, 9 furlongs, Lat. Ragle won, Mammon 2; time 1:18. Fourth race, 12 mile, Mattie Rapture won, Boulevard 2; time 2:14.

The Pacer Johnson Sold.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The pacer Johnson has been sold to Commodore Kittson, St. Paul, for $25,000. His driver is confident that the animal can go faster than 2:10. He asserts that he has driven Johnson a quarter in 2:04.

—Last week a gold medal and diploma at the Hamilton fair was given to the light-running Wanner "C" and F machines, over all Canadian and American machines. Same week at Newmarket the first money prize "for best family sewing machine" was given to the Wanner "C" and F machines, over all Canadian and American machines. Same week at Newmarket the first money prize "for best family sewing machine" was given to the Wanner "C" and F machines, over all Canadian and American machines.

The Lights of London.

Our eastern exchanges speak in terms of the highest praise of Shook & Collier's "Lights of London" combination which opens for a week at the Grand to-night. The Ottawa Citizen says: The play itself is of a highly sensational character, and in the introduction and development of the thrilling incidents with which it abounds the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the echo the brave conduct of the unfortunate Harold and his noblehearted and devoted wife through their terrible plight of the authors of their misery. At intervals through the scenes the humorous sayings of the family and the solemn the company stamped themselves as worthy exponents of the histrionic art, and deserved the warmest applause that greeted them at frequent intervals. In all its bearings it is safe to say that without an exception it was the best play ever put on the boards on the Grand open house. Its beauty and realism were manifest from the outset; the vast audience sympathizing where sympathy was demanded, cheering to the