Where Wolfe was Buried.

With the growth in national pride, says The Canada prominent Canadians have again and again during the last year or two expressed a hope that the memory of the hero of Quebec should be perpetuated in some more fitting and striking form than at present, when only a memorial window, privately subscribed for, marks the place where, after a hard fought life, he was scattered to his fathers. The matter has come into special prominence during the last few weeks owing to an offer made by a wealthy Canadian to bear a substantial portion of the cost of a permanent memorial.

Wolfe's Shrine.

A special representative of The Canada, in describing a visit paid to Wolfe's shrine, says that the Church of St. Alphonse, Greenwich, has within a few minutes' walk of the great-martyr's tomb, which is so often credited to Wolfe's name, a special window, which is a regular excursion to see famous white-tiled dinner and incidentally, to see the monument to the everlasting question. Structurally beautiful, both as regards interior and exterior, the church, which is two hundred years old, attracts many visitors, and its walls are filled with the names of the illustrious dead who lived and died in the vicinity.

British Canadian visitors to the building is of special interest, inasmuch as in the family vault, with those of his father and mother, lie the ashes of Major-General Wolfe, who, by his death on Abraham Plains in 1759, laid the foundation of the impregnable British power in Canada.

Perhaps it is in keeping with the great commander's desires that there is no monument over his tomb.

For years Canadian visitors have often remarked upon this apparent lack, and on their departure have suggested that the deficiency should be remedied, but years have passed and nothing has been done. There is, however, a report now current that a representative of Toronto is taking the matter up, and it is hoped that the long desired memorial to the hero of Abago will be further enhanced by a fitting monument to the illustrious warrior.

There has, however, within the last few years been erected a beautiful stained window in memory of the hero of Quebec. This consists of a figure of St. George, under which is a line which Wolfe is known to have recited under the heights of Abraham: "The gallantest dead look to the grave" (under this line small representations of the death scene, with the words: "I thank God and die contented").

An Old Church.
The present Church of St. Alphonse was completed in 1778 to take the place of the old one, the roof of which collapsed in 1770. The body of the church was designed by Nicholas Hesse, and the tower by John James, both architects who had been pupils of the celebrated St. Christopher West. The exterior is of the Portland stone, and the architecture is entirely Roman.

The interior is rich with dark oak fittings, highly carved and polished. The roof stands in an arched recess, ornamented with angle brackets. On the walls are painted the emblems of the Crucifixion and the Sacraments, as well as the oak leaf and acorn. These paintings are reputed to have been executed by Sir James Thornhill, and much of the carving is said to be the work of Gintling Gibbons.
Though Wolfe was born at Westerham, in Kent, a few miles from Greenwich, he lived most of his life in the town, where his family occupied a residence in the neighborhood, known as the Cherry House, which is still standing.

GOVERNMENT CRITICISED

St. John's, N. F., Sept. 22.—The reported determination of the imperial government to override the colonial authorities and concede to the American commission the more liberal construction of the herring fishery laws has evoked much criticism here.

Lane Back

This is an ailment for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has proven especially valuable. In almost every instance it affords prompt and permanent relief. Will Not Leave Church

Paris, Sept. 22.—The letter to the Catholics of France, which was adopted by the council of bishops, will be read tomorrow in all pulpits in France.

Cardinal Lecot, archbishop of Bordeaux, virtual leader of the church party, said the attitude the episcopate would take after the reading of the letter would be one of waiting. The priests would not leave churches unless required by the authorities to do so, after which mass would be said in places which already were being arranged.

Cardinal Lecot said the priests would observe all laws except that of separation of church and state.

Fisheries Dispute is About Settled.

London, September 22.—With the increasing interest in Canadian affairs, there has been a revival in England of the discussion of the negotiations that Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador at Washington, has been carrying on with the American government for the settlement of the various questions in dispute with the United States, concerning Canada and Newfoundland.

As far as the fisheries question with the latter colony is concerned, the points of difference, the foreign office informs the Associated Press, are about to be settled. In fact, it is said that the official agreement is so near that one might almost say the question is settled.

Of the outstanding questions affecting Canada, that of sealing is causing the greatest difficulty, but here again the British ambassador and the state department are making headway. Canada appears to be more favorably disposed toward the American proposal for the entire stopping of pelagic sealing, with compensation to the Canadians affected thereby.

Sir Mortimer has kept in close touch with the Canadian authorities during the negotiations, the foreign office considering this to have been better than the Canadian suggestion, made early in the year, for the appointment of a Canadian attaché to the British embassy at Washington to advise the ambassador on Canadian affairs. This Great Britain declined to agree to.

It was considered hardly likely that such an appointment would be acceptable to the United States, as no matter who was the appointee, he probably would have been considered the special advocate of Canada.

Deserting Fireman Hold Up The Prince Edward.

Boston, September 23.—Because of the desertion of six of her firemen the steamer Prince Edward, which was scheduled to leave at noon yesterday for Hull, England, where she is to be delivered to her new owners, was obliged to defer her departure.

Everything was in readiness for the steamer to leave yesterday. Captain Mackenzie had received instructions to proceed to Louisburg, C.B. for bunker coal, and from there to Hull. He expected to complete the passage in 12 days. Just before sailing time it was discovered that she was six firemen short of her full complement and the officials were securing the water front to find men to fill out the crew list.

The steamer handed out from her berth on the north side of Long Wharf to an anchorage in the harbor, where she will remain until the men are secured.

The Prince Edward was purchased from the Dominion Atlantic railway company to run between Protoborg, Sweden, and Sossitz, Germany, as a passenger and mail boat. Sossitz is the terminal of the German Imperial railway on the Baltic, and the distance from there to Protoborg is sixty miles. After delivering the vessel at Hull, Captain Mackenzie will return to Boston.

BABY NEARLY DEAD.

Mrs. John Cowdy, Killbuck Station, Ont., says: "My baby was so nearly dead that I had to place my ear close to his breast to know that he was breathing. He was in this condition when I first gave him Baby's Own Tablets and I hardly dared hope that they would save him. But they helped almost at once, and soon made him a well child. He is now two years old and weighs forty-five pounds and has never known a sick day since I first gave him the Tablets. Baby's Own Tablets cure constipation, indigestion, diarrhoea, teething troubles, break-up colic, expel worms and give little ones natural healthy sleep. And the mother has a guarantee that this medicine contains no opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 25c a box by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CLEMENTSVALE.

The crops through this section of country are light this season owing to the early rains during the early summer that washed away much of the seed, and later, the dry weather and excessive heat. The fruit crop is also below its average yield.

Clementsvalle has had a goodly number of summer boarders and visitors this season.

Rev. Ira M. Baird, of Montreal, spent a few weeks in August with his father and other relatives. Mrs. Baird came later for a few days.

Rev. C. W. and Mrs. Rose, of Yarmouth, were guests at the parsonage two weeks, before going to Convention.

Rev. D. H. and Mrs. Simpson spent a few days here on their return from Milton, Queens County.

Mrs. Anselm Sanford and daughter returned to their home in Mass., after a visit among relatives and numerous friends.

Mrs. P. M. B. Knappton recently spent a week with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clifford Potter.

Miss Berry, teacher, Clements-Port, is the guest of Miss Edie Potter.

Mrs. Elmer Potter is entertaining her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Coffin, adrosse, Mass.

A party of English tourists, boarding at the home of Aldon Chute, express their satisfaction in the facilities of this place for a summer's outing.

The teaming in the Baptist church at Virginia was largely attended by people from the surrounding country from Annapolis to Digby. After all expense was covered, the treasurer has $120 to spend on the completion of the building. Work was immediately resumed with a hope of holding the dedication services before the arrival of snow-birds.

The funeral of E. Bolan was conducted by Pastor Martell, who spoke from the text "And the books were opened." Rev. 20:12.

The Clementsvalle Baptist Sunday School has recently purchased the "New Century Library," also a primary library of fifty volumes—both affording good satisfaction.

The day school under the efficient management of Miss Kendall, and Miss Webster are doing excellent work.

Good reports of the Canadian North West come to us from harvesters who visit from this place, many of them will remain for an indefinite time.
