A New Mome Treatment for the Cute t Catarrh, Catarrhal Deniness, and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these discases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the upper air passages and custachian tubes. The eminent scientists—Tyndall, Huxley and Beale—endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases is to apply an irritant remedy weekly and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, accompanied by violent enecying, allowing it no chance to heal and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has ever been recorded. The same absolute fact that these disease as cannot be cured by an application made oft. nor than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before any application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his ramedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is speaken. Cures effected by him reven years ago are cures still, there having been no ratur, of the disease. So high are these remedies valued, and so great is the demand for them, that ignorant imitators have utarted up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parasite—of which they know nothing—by remedies the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Air. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases. N.B.—For catarrhal troubles peculiar to females this remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from enter the most aggravated cases. N.B.—For catarrhal troubles peculiar to females this remedy is a specific. Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his rew treatment on the recipit of on ceuts in a tamps. The address is A. H. Divon & Son, 300 king Street West, Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.
