PHOSPHOROLE.

PHOSPHORUS and COD-LIVER OIL

have now an established position throughout the civilized world as important therapeutical agents. A perfect combination of the two has long been a desideratum, since they are both of value in the same disorders, while the cases in which one is demanded and the other contra-indicated are exceedingly rare.

The combination in PHOSPHOROLE has the twofold advantage of furnishing the best possible form for the administration of phosphorus, and a more effective form for the administration of cod-liver oil.

With regard to the former, it has been decided by the highest chemical and medical authorities that Phosphorus should be administered in a free state, and in a vehicle which ensures its perfect diffusion, its absolute unalterability, and, as far as possible, its prompt assimilation without the gastric irritation to which the ordinary methods of exhibiting the agent give rise. It is well known that pills, emulsions, solutions in ether, chloroform, vegetable oils and resin, etc., have all failed to fulfil one or more of these conditions. Even an ordinary solution of phosphorus in cod-liver oil would not answer the purpose in all respects.

We claim, however, that Phosphorole completely satisfies all the conditions.

The value of cod-liver oil in phthisis is so familiar to the physician that it is needless to dwell upon it. But the value of phosphorus is also universally recognized in this disease, especially when complicated with nervous derangements. The combination of the two therefore Furnishes a more effective form for the administration of Cod-Liver Oil in the great majority of cases in which that remedy is indicated, and one which will at once commend itself to the profession.

PHOSPHOROLE is handsomely put up in pint bottles only, and may be obtained at all First-Class Druggists throughout the United States.
