THE CITY'S GUESTS.

Capital is simply the savings of previous labour On Tuesday, after His Excellency the Governorand is useful in sustaining present and future General had formally opened the Mackay Deaf and Dumb Institute, he proceeded with Lody Dufferin to the convent of Villa Maria at Monklands, in the immediate vicinity, in response te a cordial invita-Capital, therefore, is produced by labour. The pupils were all dressed in black in memory of His holiness the Pope, and occupied may form trades-unions and organize strikes; but, seats which had been arranged in semi-circles around the vast apartment. Among the disting-uished persons present, besides their Excellencies and staff, were Hon. Chief Justice, Sir A.A. Dorion Hon. Shriff Chauveau, Mr. C.J. Brydges, Lord Ayl mer and Mrs. Young. An escort furnished by the Montreal cavalry, under Captain Tecs accompanied the Governor-General's vehicle, and a posse of city police kept guard at the main entrance to the convent.

Their Excellencies having taken the seats set apart for them at the end of the room farthest from the platform, the programme of the proceedings was inc platform, the programme of the proceedings was gone on with. The opening was a moceau for thir-ty-eight hands on theorgan, plano, harps, &c, and the way it was rendered manifested rare taste, cultivation, judgment and great proficiencey in manipulation. The following address of welcome was then read by Miss Bond, of this city, and Miss Myers, of Rouses'Point. The latter began: My it along Facility

May it please Your Excellencies :-With unrivalled joy and gladness,

Hail we, this thrice blissfull day, And oh ! would our lips could utter, All our youthful hearts would say.

Yes, welcome peer most honor'd Of our loved Sovereign's throne, Weldome, to our Alma Mater, To our harpy montain home.

Yet, why should we talk of gladness. Or for words of greeting seek ; See the glow each face o'er spreading. Let the smile of childhood speak.

In its innocence and beauty. 'Twill of inward gladness tell, Tis the soul's own chosen language. Which all others far excel.

'Twill speak our thanks true, heartfelt, For your honor'd presence here, And will prove our deep affection,

Fora Sovereign we revere. Ah! and when again you see her, When again on English soil, You can tell of the attachment,

Of the pupils of Mount Royal. And believe where'er we journey,

Or our lots through life be cast, This day shall live in memory, A loved treasure of the past.

The following lines were specially written to indicate that the convent was in mourning.

In mourning robes we may appear, Amid greetinhs, true, believe, Yet still we know your noble heart,

Can our feelings well conceive, And though as grateful children,

Our loy'd Poutiff's death we feel, Your cherished visit here to-day, Partly may our grief conceal.

Miss Bond here took up the reading. Though chilling storms assail us, And darkening clouds abound, Our Halls both blithe and gladsome, His-Excellency upon rising to reply, said he re-turned sincere thanks on behalf of Lady Dufferin and himself, for the very flattering addresses pre-sented to them by the pupils of Villa Maria. It would be impossible to drag himself away from the brilliant scene without endeavoring to express the gratitude of Dady Dufferin and himself for the kind velcome evtended to them: They would carry away a recollection of the bright scene. He was very glad to learn that the offorts of the good Sisters had not been futile, and that the gift of medals which he annually gave for compelition had been appreciated. He trusted their future efforts would be attended with success. It was impossible to list n to those clear voices rrenouncing the addresses without acknowledging that they were elocutionists. This was the home of innocence and every Chri.tian virtue, and happy was the country where such institutions existed. He told the pupils that the many ad rantage they derived were the fruits of the ladies who devoted their lives to them. His Lordship closed by asking the Sisters for a conge for the pupils.

The Countess of Dufferin shook hands with the young ladies who sat immediately before her and bowed gracefully to the others. "God Save the Queen," specially arranged for the occasion, was played by twenty couples. Their Excellencies having been shown through the principal portions of the building, took their leave of the Superioress and obliging Sisters and drove back to their hotel.-Star.

VISIT OF HIS EXCELLENCY AND THE COUNTESS OF DUF-FERIN TO SAULT AU RECOLLET CONVENT.

The Governor-General and Lady Dufferin left the Windsor Hotel about 11.45 on Thursday, accompanied by his suite, who occupied seven double leighs, and after an invigorating drive reached the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Sault au Recollet, shortly after noon. As the vice-regal party drove into the convent-grounds, the bell in the tower began to ring in token of a merry welcome The main entrance steps were carpeted. Their Excellencics were received by the Lady Superior and other sisters, and conducted to the reception room, where several gentlemen and ladies were already assembled, including Chief-Justice Mories, Chief Justice Sir A. A. Dorion, Sir Selby Smythe, Mgr. Fabre, Dr. Hingston, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Steven-son, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Smythe, &c. After lunch the guests repaired to the large hall where the pupils were seated in two rows on each side. They were dressed in white and decorated with blue ribbons around their necks. The room was resplendant with arches and garlands of gilt maple leaves, which shone brightly in the gas-light. Their Excellencies and party having been seated, Miss Begg, of New York, read an address of welcome in English; she was followed by Miss Trudeau, of Ottawa, in French. A pretty piece was next given, in which the several actors sang their parts very sweetly to piano and other instrumental accompaniments. Six young la lies then advanced singing and presented His Excellency with boquets of flowers. Lord Defierin replied in a neat speech, and concluded by asking the Lady Superior for two holidays on behalf of the pupils.

Their Excellencies und suite were shown through the building and afterwards entertained to an ele-gant repast. One of the main attractions was the chapel, which is beautiful in its simplicity. The vice-regal party, after complimenting the Sisters upon the neatness and comfort of the interior arrangements, took their leave of the Lady Superior, and other obliging Sisters and returned to town.

REQUIEM MASS.

On Sunday night a solemn service was held in St. Francis Xavier's Church, Brockville, for the repose of the soul of His Holiness the late Pope Pius IX. On Monday morning at nine o'clock a Grand Requiem Mass was offered to God, with the same intention. The pulpit and altars were heavily draped and the Sanctuary, with the Catafalque, maguificently decorated presented, especially at the evening services, a sight that was grand and sadly beautiful. Immense numbers attended the cercmonies. His reverence, Father MacCarthy spoke of His Holiness death-and life-at Mass on Sunday, and finished in the evening, and at the " Requiem' next morning. Since the sad news was con-firmed the fine bell of St. Francis Xavier's, tolled

The Wolfe Tone Glee Club, held their Annual Irish Ball in the Alhambra Hall on Wednesday evening last. It was one which will be long remembered by those who had the pleasure of being present, apart from the dances, of which there was a large number, there was several songs and recitations given. During the course of the evening the President gave a sketch of the life of Wolfe Tone, which was warmly received. The party broke up at an early hour.
