

Canada. At the present time the Minister of Finance (Mr. Benson) has no intention of recommending amendments to the Bank Act, although I would point out that the regular decennial revision to the Bank Act will be a matter of urgent importance to the next Parliament. No doubt suggestions made by the hon. member and others in this regard will be considered when the government formulates the proposals it intends to put forward at that time, whatever government it might be.

Proceedings on Adjournment Motion

Motion agreed to and the House adjourned at 10.20 p.m.

---