

from generation to generation—but I have won Mary Simpson. She is still at my side, and hand in hand we shall walk together till the end of our allotted time, when we will sleep as well in a humbler tomb; and we shall be together.

THE END