having crossed from Canada with $2,000 worth of Indian goods in his possesion. By law in their migrations on the northern border to and teturn from Canada at will, Indians are allowed to carry their effects with them and enter this country with them duty free. The Indian, it is asserted by a special agent reporting the case, has evidently learned some "tricks" from his pale-face neighbor, and is bringing into this country as his personal effects, goods subject to duty. In this case the Indian swore that the goods were his, but it is learned that he is a runner for a Canadian manufacturer, and that /they are sold to Indians in the United States without paying the duty the law requires. An
