

them to grant us better terms for the security of our future happiness?

In a word ; as we have had a successful war, can there be any excuse for making a bad peace? Has it appeared that there is a want of either money or spirit to carry on the war? And, is not a peace at this time (when we have reason to expect many conquests) repugnant to the general sense of the people of England? --- Remember the peace of Utrecht!

F I N I S.