Yacht Manchester Goes South. New York, Dec. 25.—The Manchester, the yacht that won the Savannah Challenge Cup for small boats from the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club in 1905, has been sold by Dr. John L. Bremer to E. H. Keep of the Southern Yacht Club, and the yacht will sail from New Orleans after this date.

The yacht is of the racing machine type, and will race against such boats as Wakita of the Southern Yacht Club, and the Kibosh, the Gulfport Yacht Club champion. She is about 38 feet long, 7 1/2 feet beam, and is fitted with double rudders and bilge keels for extra stability.

The boat was built by A. Higginson, and she is very superiorly constructed, and should last for a number of years, which is the case with some of the western-built boats, which were not constructed to last.

The boat was sold to the name of the yacht that will represent his home town, Manchester, in the Southern races next year. The boat was sold to the name of the yacht that will represent his home town, Manchester, in the Southern races next year.

Peterboros Beat Mariboros

First O. H. A. Match of Season Results in Victory for Listowel Juniors—Professionals Play at Barrie—Berlin and Port Hope Win.

Peterboro beat the Mariboros in an exhibition game of hockey that opened the season last night on good ice in the Mutual-street rink. The score was 13 to 12. At half time Peterboro was ahead 6 to 4.

The visitors, who are intermediate champions of the Ontario Hockey Association, came up with their combination in fine working order, and early in the second half it looked as if the home team would be swamped. Then the Mariboros pulled themselves together and notched up goals by the seconds, until it was time for Peterboro to do things, and three goals right at the finish in short order gave the visitors a victory by the smallest possible margin.

There was a good crowd present, most of the seats, excepting the reserved portion, being occupied. Referee Thompson handled the game satisfactorily, the crowd, the crowd was not always side with his interpretation of offside. Teams and summary:

Montreal, Dec. 25.—The hockey season was started under most auspicious circumstances at the Arena. A friendly match between the Victoria and a team representing the St. Nicholas Club of New York provided the first of the preliminary struggles, which always precede the regular season. It was a purely amateur match, and the interest centered in the appearance of the Victoria team, the first which will have to meet the Stanley Cup holders when matches are played for keeps. This was the reason, no doubt, for the comparatively large crowd that attended. The only really new man on the Victoria team was Hall, a former Boston player, who was able to run down four troops of the Eleventh Cavalry and two companies of the Twenty-seventh Infantry.

General Manager W. A. Fox said tonight that it was impossible to estimate definitely the amount of damage. The reading of a paper by the Hon. G. A. Parsons and R. J. Walker on the application of the steam turbine to the propulsion of ships had been a good deal of general attention. It was not until 1894 that the Magazine of Commerce, that the idea of propelling a vessel by means of the steam turbine was put into practical form. The Turbina was the first vessel to be fitted with a turbine engine, and the results were far from satisfactory. A speed of only 18 knots being obtained. After several alterations, however, and the replacement of the original turbine by three others in series, the Turbina proved a success. Following her came the torpedo boat destroyer, Viper, and Cobia, which were built and fitted with turbines for the royal navy. They achieved remarkable speed, the Viper making 36 knots, which is about 24 miles per hour. The triumph of these two vessels was short-lived, however, for the Viper ran on the rocks off the Channel Islands in a fog, and ultimately broke a wreck, while the Cobia foundered in a storm. Thus the Turbina again was the only vessel equipped with turbine engines.

The marine turbine was first used for commercial purposes in the Clyde steamer King Edward, during the summer of 1901. This vessel was so successful that railway companies and owners of mercantile vessels, who had been reluctant to bear the risk of the first experiment, quickly placed orders for steamers of the turbine type. The commercial advantages of this system over the reciprocating engine were soon clearly demonstrated, and at the present time no less than 31 vessels are in service, representing a total of about 105,000 gross tonnage, and 236,000 h.p.

The development of the marine steam turbine has been slow outside Great Britain, but in Germany and France the reason for this is probably due to the fact that in both France and Germany several rival systems have been energetically exploited, causing those responsible for the ordering of new vessels to wait until the results of one system were clearly proved, to them which system was the best. On the other hand, in Great Britain the turbine has now been adopted as the latest existing warship, the Dreadnaught. As to the advantages of the turbine over the reciprocating engine, the results are as follows: Considerable saving in coal, reduced weight of machinery, steadiness and smoothness of running, reduction in oil stores, and absence of racing in a sea-way.

What is Kleptomania? From The Boston Transcript. Kleptomania is occasionally induced by continued and close application to the study of a particular subject. A singular case was recently reported from Germany. A well-known professor was found to have transferred to his private collection many of the valuable butterflies of which he had charge in his official capacity.

The existence of mental derangement was clear from the facts that came out in the course of the investigation afterward made by the museum authorities. It was found that the professor had often sent his wife out all day to buy butterflies, and on returning he would find her with a butterfly in her hand. On one occasion the professor while hunting a butterfly was nearly run over by an express train; at another time he fell into a river, and once both he and his wife fell into a pond.

BATTLESHIP A SMUGGLER.

U. S. Customs Officers Search "Ohio" and Take Possession.

New York, Dec. 25.—Customs officials in charge of Special Agent Clayton are guarding the United States battleship Ohio, in drydock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and every one leaving the ship is closely watched for smuggled goods. The big warship, in from the far east, was found to have aboard costly ornaments from China and Japan, together with fine silks, cigars and wines of rare vintage.

A partial list of goods seized follows: Nearly 50,000 cigars. Three thousand brushes and other toilet articles. Hundreds of pieces of Chinese and Japanese Bani-a-bras. Many queer Chinese ornaments. Numerous cases of champagne and other wines. Dozens of beautiful kimonos. A large collection of art objects and curios from Chinese workshops. Many solid silver vases, engraved with typical Chinese scenes. Boxes of the finest silks from the looms of China and Japan.

Most of these goods were thrown in magazine lockers and put under guard. Officers and men were given no chance to pay duty and reclaim them, except in certain instances. It is understood that most of the officers paid the duty demanded and regained possession of their goods.

The Ohio arrived on Dec. 2. Word already had come that she was a treasure ship. It is customary for the customs officers to make a perfunctory inspection, giving the officers an opportunity to declare dutiable goods. Usually, officers who have much that is dutiable, and not exempt, declare the goods at once, and pay the duty. It is a rare case where the customs officers are compelled to take such strong measures as are involved in a thorough search of a ship.

It was declared that the kit and bunk of every one of the 74 men and 100 crew were searched, and the cabins and effects of the 24 officers. The agents went far enough to discover the biggest lot of smuggled goods that ever came over on a government ship, so far as the public has been informed.

200 CARPENTERS LOSE TOOLS. Disasters Fire in Virginia Ship Yards on Xmas Day. Newport News, Va., Dec. 25.—A large frame and sheet-iron building, containing carpenter, sheet-iron and pipe-fitting shops and riggers' and molders' shops, was destroyed at the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Company's plant by fire today.

The Old Dominion liner Jefferson, which is being repaired in the drydock, was damaged to the extent of $10,000. It is estimated that the total loss will amount to $200,000, and will be fully covered by insurance. Eddie Eddins, a fireman, was struck by a falling telegraph pole and fatally wounded.

In the carpenter shops were tools belonging to 200 ship carpenters. It is estimated that these men will lose in the neighborhood of $10,000, and their loss is not covered by insurance. General Manager W. A. Fox said tonight that it was impossible to estimate definitely the amount of damage.

DISORDERS IN CUBA. Havana, Dec. 25.—In consequence of complaints of many depredations by armed bands of ex-insurgent negroes in the province of Santa Clara, which the rural guards have not been able to run down, four troops of the Eleventh Cavalry and two companies of the Twenty-seventh Infantry will leave Camp Columbia tomorrow morning for Santa Clara to reinforce the Fifteenth Cavalry stationed there and to protect the district against disorder. The orders are to continue operations until there is a complete restoration of order and confidence in the province.

Rumors were recently in circulation of an impending uprising in Santa Clara province, and it is not yet known whether the bands are revolutionists or merely bandits.
