Falling Off in Receipts of New Corn Affects the Market.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Active buying that was chiefly associated with strength in the New York stock market gave a lift today to prices of corn. The close was strong, 1 cent to 1% cents net higher, with Dec. 119 and May 114 to 114%. Oats advanced 4c

May 114 to 114%. Oats advanced 46 to 1%c. In provisions there was a setback of 10c to 35c.

Prominent houses took the lead in purchasing corn as soon as the market opened. Demand was persistent thruout the session and there were no important reactions from the upward movement of values. The fact that movement of values. The fact that receipts of new corn were smaller than of late added somewhat to the buildsh sentiment engendered by Wall street rallies, and so too did unconfirmed gossip of export buying. Foggy weather over most of the corn belt, a condition adverse to the drying out of grain, tended likewise to make prices harden, notwithstanding that clear skies and low temperatures were predicted for tomorrow.

Liberal sales of oats to the United States Government carried the oats market up to the highest figures in several weeks. Besides, signs pointed to a falling off in deliveries from first Absence of support weakened provisions. Higher quotations on hogs and grain had only a little transient contrary effect.

Montreal, Nov. 11.—Prices for all grades of oats on the local market Saturday were marked up another cent in sympathy with the very strong feeling prevailing in the Winripeg option market. This was a net advance of 3 cents in a week on the local market. There was a good demand for American corn. Finest September and October creamery butter sold at and to 46½, while current receipts offered at 43c to 46c. The receipts of butter for the week were 7395 packages, a decrease of 1433 packages as compared with the week before. Cheese was unchanged in quotations. Egg prices remained steady all last week without any important change in the quotations. The week's receipts of cheese were more than 2000 cases in excess of those of the previous week, this being attributed to increased arrivals from the United States for export account.
